Boy Scouts Meet—Thirty Boy Scouts, candidates, and visitors at troop 13, Jason Lee church, were given an hour's lecture and demonstration of the latest life saving methods by Bob Smith, swimming instructor at the local Y. He showed the group many different carries for towing drowned persons and with the help of Scout Jack Barris, demonstrated the different strangle holds and how to break them. After each scout had been given a chance to work on a patient with artificial respiration, plans were made for the Armistice day parade and Scout Art Flays given charge of the troop boys for that day. ### U. S. National Has Gain in Deposits

In its statement of condition as of November 1, published in this paper today, the United States National Bank, which has one of its prominent branches in Salem, shows a continuation of its rapid growth in deposits, which now reach a total of $98,780,789.67. This compares with deposits of $84,376,484.75, as of October 17, 1934, or a gain of over 14 million dollars, and a gain of over 4 million since its statement as of June 29 this year. The total assets now approximate $99 million, now exceed $106,000,000.

In commenting upon the bank's statement, D. W. Eyre, manager of the Salem branch, called attention to the bank's increase in loans of two and three-quarter millions since last June. "This," said Mr. Eyre, "represents additional money put to work for agricultural development, for commercial uses, for home modernization, and to fulfill personal needs of individual borrowers. Our total loans now approximate $9 million, which marks a steady increase in funds being used in Oregon for employment in constructive ways."

The United States National Bank now has 16 units, 5 in Portland and 11 in other important centers in Oregon, as follows: Albany, Eugene, La Grande, McMinnville, Mount Angel, Ontario, Oregon City, Pendleton, St. Helens, Salem and The Dalles.

Silver Foxes Are Slaying Chickens

Wanted: One good hunter with a trusty shotgun.
To shoot some wild silver foxes.

That is the sentiment Karl Flubaker of the Sidney district in the south end of the county is beginning to voice right out loud after the foxes have made repeated raids on his chickens.

Flubaker has seen the foxes several times, as have other residents in the vicinity. A number of lambs lost last spring are believed to have gone the way of the foxes.
Presumably the animals are the same which escaped about five years ago from a silver fox ranch at Sunnyside.

Dart Case Will Be Set For Trial

If representative of A. F. Winter, proprietor of the now closed up dart game here, do not confer with Municipal Judge A. Warren Jones soon, the case against Winter will be arbitrarily set for trial and disposed of, Jones stated yesterday. Three hundred dollars bail is on deposit in the case.

Judge Jones agreed over a week ago to withhold setting a trial date until Winter's Portland attorney could come to Salem last week. The attorney, however, failed to communicate with Jones in the matter, the judge said.

Winter stands charged with permitting the operation of a lottery, the dart game, and of running the game without a license. The latter charge is expected to be dismissed since the city licensing ordinance has been replaced.

Par Hand Stumps Tourney Players

Backward Finesse is Key to Scoring Four on Three Spade Bid

A par contract bridge hand was slipped into the play at the tournament being conducted at the Elks temple by George Ketchum, and caught plenty of the players. The hand and its play is outlined by Director Ketchum as follows: East dealer; neither side vulnerable.

North ♠ Q 7 4
♥ 10 8 5
♦ K 9 7 3
♣ Q 6 5

East ♠ A J 2
♥ K 6 5
♦ A K 2
♣ 10 5

West ♠ A 8 6 4
♥ A S 6 4 2
♦ K J 3
♣ J

East and West par: 3 no-trump bid and 4 no-trump made. Proper bidding:

East ♠ South West North
1♠ Pass 1NT Pass
2NT Pass 3NT Pass
Pass Pass

With a spade opening, East must take the first spade trick and then make the backward club finesse by leading the king from the dummy, followed by the knave. This play in made with the intention of giving up a club trick to south but actually will result in east's taking all five club tricks.

Director Ketchum will present another par hand at the Elks tournament Friday night. The Elks series on Fridays is being held as a preliminary to the Monday night tournaments conducted by The Oregon Statesman and the Elks.

Hatcherymen Convene Here

Problem of Baby Chicks' Handlers Discussed at Session in Salem

More than 100 prominent hatcherymen and poultry breeders, including several from California and Washington, attended the semi-annual meeting of the Oregon Baby Chick association held here all day yesterday at the chamber of commerce. Lloyd A. Lee of Salem, state president, was in the chair.

The hatcherymen, in resolutions passed at close of the day, frowned on the legislative action attempting to have the state egg law repealed.

Other resolutions adopted included: Request for lower express rates on baby chicks shipment; urge for a higher tariff on eggs, poultry and turkey products to discourage the present heavy imports; appeal for elimination of prices in baby chick advertising; and suggestion that chick sexers be required to pass qualification examinations.

Members of the committee were Ambrose Brownell, Fred Cockell and Joe Russell.

Urges Cooperation
Speakers during the morning session were Ambrose Brownell, providing for administration and state advisory council; Fred Cockell of Milwaukie, who urged that prices be eliminated from advertising particularly because small poultry breeders, with little expense, advertise chicks frequently; and E. A. Nisson of Petaluma, Calif., who in the main morning address covered the ground relative to a fair trade price act as a substitute for the code and which act he held even more practical to the industry than the code.

Improvement Sought
At the luncheon meeting, Grover Keene of the Pacific coop Poultry Producers of Portland, pointed out how hatcherymen can cooperate with that association to bring about more interest for production of high quality eggs for shipment to the eastern market.

Prof. H. E. Cosby of the state college, director of the national breeding program and its relation to hatcherymen at the first afternoon address. William Mulligan of Everett, Wash., read the address of B. C. Young of Bellingham, Young being too ill to attend the meeting.

Baby chick prices for 1936 will be slightly higher than the past season, due to higher priced eggs for hatching and feed prices, the hatcherymen agreed in discussion following the address of Merle Moore of Corvallis on "Chick Prices for 1936". This address and that of Joe Russell of Corvallis on "How Much Premium Should Hatcherymen Pay for Hatching Eggs" brought forth animated discussion. No definite prices were set in the premium idea.

George L. Baker, former mayor of Portland, was a visitor at the session yesterday. That he still retains popularity was evidenced by the applause accorded him when the courtesies of the house were extended.

Representative Harrison of Linn county runs no danger of being misquoted. Practically every speech that he gives on the floor of the house is written out beforehand and read to the house.

A. S. Grant of Baker, newly appointed member succeeding Smurthwaite, entered the debate on Representative Olsen's pension bill yesterday. He spoke clearly and logically on the measure and held the attention of the members while he had the floor.

Senator Dunn of Ashland speaks but rarely. One of those occasions was Wednesday when as chairman of the game committee he opposed the bill to cut boys' fishing licenses from $1 to 50c. Dunn said he didn't think it would help boys' morals any to change the license cost; and that such frequent changes of laws lead to confusion. The senate agreed with him; so the fishing privilege remains a dollar for boys in teens.

Occurrences of Gossip at Oregon's State Government

James U. Smith of Chehalis valley watched the wheels go round yesterday. Smith drips of politics; and is a frequent "pro bono publico" contributor to The Oregonian and Newberg Scribe.

Senate visitors Wednesday included W. S. U'ren, father of the Oregon system of direct legislation, and Mark Woodruff, essential reading clerk, both of Portland.

Douglas McKay was called to preside while Senator Corbett took the floor against the bill to make military training optional. Corbett thought the training in discipline and control gave military merit for the youth of the state.

Albert Streiff frequently sits beside Senator Zimmerman. Streiff is a hardy perennial as a socialist candidate but last time supported Zimmerman.

Governor Martin was pleased when the house passed its capitol bill and congratulated members in the hotel lobby during the noon hour.

Young Democrats Hear State Chief

Young democrats of Oregon will make a concerted drive to place men from their ranks in the district attorney offices of the state at the coming election, and Marion county young democrats should fall in line, U. S. Burt of Corvallis, state president of the group, Tuesday night in effect told a rally of young party members at the county courthouse.

Burt said the goal for young democratic membership in the state before 1936 is 5000, with Marion county slated to raise several hundred of that group. A number of young members for this county were announced at the meeting last night.

Other rally speakers included ex-Rep. John J. Beckman, chairman of the Multnomah county central committee; Rep. Warren Erwin of Multnomah county and State Insurance Commissioner Hugh H. Barie.

Marvin Headrick, county president, announced an all-democratic luncheon meeting for Friday noon of this week at the Quella and the next young democratic meeting for December 9.
