

Southern Methodist Now Heads List but May Miss Bowl Bid

Princeton Put Off Top Spot

'Pony Express' Worried at Hints It's Westerly Location Barrier

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Southern Methodist, having removed any doubt about its own class as well as the ruggedness of southwest football generally, goes to the head of the collegiate class in this week's ranking list.

Based upon the performances inclusive of the last weekend, here's our revised "top ten" today:

1. Southern Methodist; 2. Princeton; 3. Minnesota; 4. California; 5. North Carolina; 6. Texas Christian; 7. Rice; 8. Louisiana State; 9. Alabama; 10. Notre Dame.

Southwest Strong in General Rating

Having survived the barrage that followed our ranking of Princeton at the top last week, over Notre Dame, we have no hesitancy in "plunging" this week on the southwest, which has three entries in the "top flight" and a sectional record unmatched by any other area of gridiron activity in the country. Taken as a whole the Big Ten is the only conference that can offer the southwest a real argument.

Southern Methodist's "pony express" turned in the season's most convincing intersectional performance by trouncing the strong U. C. L. A. segregation at Los Angeles 21-0 yesterday. This was the eighth straight victory for the Mustangs. S. M. U. is the only team to defeat Rice, last year's southwest conference titleholder. The ponies turned the trick 10 to 0 and handed Texas its worst beating, 20 to 0.

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 12.—(AP)—The cry was "on to the Rose Bowl!" tonight among followers of Southern Methodist university's unbeaten football team.

But while the team, fresh from its 21-0 conquest of University of California at Los Angeles, sped homeward by train, disturbing reports came from the Pacific slope.

The reports said a team west of the Mississippi never has been invited to play in the Tournament of Roses classic on New Year's day.

Backers of Coach Matty Bell's "aerial circus" sarcastically confessed, however, that they did not recall a Mississippi river ever being listed as a natural barrier to a Rose Bowl in California.

Missions Boss is Seeking Manager

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Joe Bearwald, president of the San Francisco Missions baseball club, tonight was looking for a new manager for the Reds to succeed Charles E. "Gabby" Street, who resigned today to manage the St. Paul club of the American association.

Bearwald said he had offered the post to Willie Kamm of the Cleveland Indians, but that Kamm declined to give a definite answer until after the Major League owners hold their December meeting.

"I can't wait that long," Bearwald said. "We've got to have a manager who can go ahead with 1936 plans."

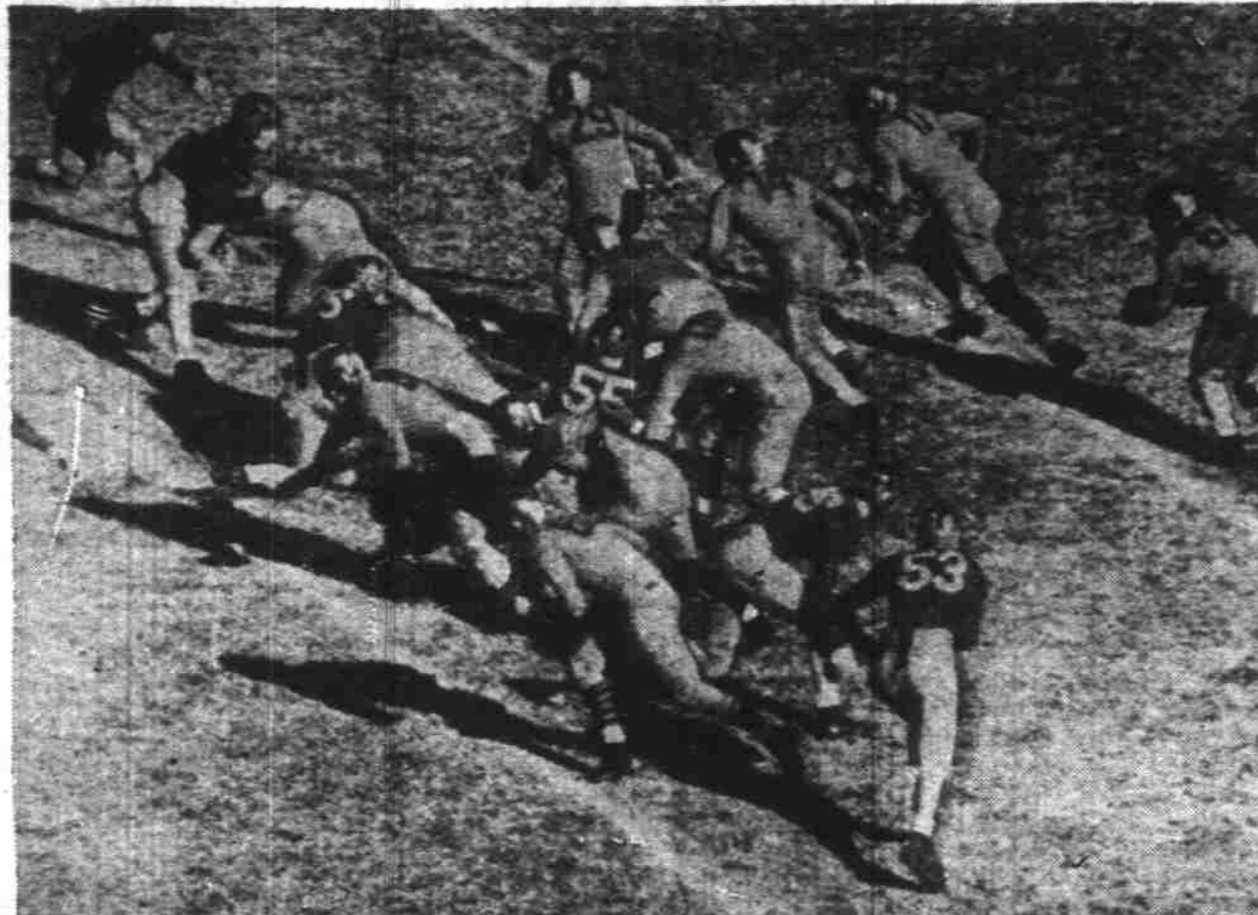

Injured Gridman Good Orator Too

Nothing if not versatile is Bill McAdam, Willamette football player who has been dogged by injury all season. Permanently out of football with an injured back, McAdam showed that his tongue is still in good shape by coming out on top in tryouts last week to select a Willamette representative for the state after dinner speaking contest.

The topic for the after dinner speaking contest which will be held at Linfield college December 13, is "American Filibusters."

This year is the first for McAdam, a junior, as a member of the forensic squad. He will also take part in debates.

Golden Bears Defeat Strong Washington Eleven

A colorful crowd of football fans numbering about 70,000 witnessed the defeat of the Washington Huskies at the hands of the California Bears Saturday, 14 to 0. Two minutes before the end of the first half the Bears broke through the Huskies line for their first touchdown. Photo shows Jim ("Hurry") Cain, Washington halfback, with the ball at the extreme right. Cain swung around left end but was brought down by Jack Brittingham, California wingman. This photo was rushed from the field by carrier pigeon. Final score California 14, Washington 0.—International Illustrated News photo.

California Champ Bests Blackwell

Wins Ten-Round Decision; Two Hubbard Youths Beat Opponents

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Cefeirino Garcia, San Francisco, California welterweight fight champion, won a ten-round decision tonight from Otto Blackwell, Portland. Garcia weighed in at 148, Blackwell at 147.

The battle was the main event on a card which featured a three-round exhibition between James J. Braddock, heavyweight fight champion, and his sparring partner, Jack McCarthy.

Braddock surprised the crowd of 4000 with a speed which recently had not been attributed to him. Boxing rather than fighting featured the exhibition.

Al Spina, 124, Portland, won the scheduled six-round semi-windup with a knockout over Joey Schwartz, 125, Cincinnati, in the first round.

Larry Caputo, 149, Portland, knocked out Marlene Peters, 147, Woodstock, Ore., in the first round of a scheduled six-rounder.

Kermit Stewart, 136, Portland, and Leo Darbeen, 135, Seattle, went of a four-round draw.

Fine Cooper, 180, Hubbard, Ore., won a technical knockout in the second round of a scheduled four-rounder from Art Meyers, 200, San Francisco.

Distance Runners Enter Hill Event

Coach Vern Gilmore's barriers will get a taste of the championship cross-country course at Hill military academy today when they meet the Hill runners on the famed two-mile course at Rocky Butte. They will compete with runners from nearly 50 other schools over the same course when the statewide meet is held there November 27.

The meet will be the second of the season for Salem and will bring them up against the toughest competition they are likely to meet. Gilmore will take the following distance runners to Portland: Amos John, Darrell Shields, Joe Jeanette, Bill Benson, Leo Burright, George Wilkinson, Ed Teske, John Whitehead, A. Lee Peary and Allan Smith.

Bend, Klamath Tie

BEND, Ore., Nov. 12.—(AP)—A bitterly-fought Armistice day football game yesterday resulted in a 0 to 0 tie for the Bend and Klamath Falls grid teams.

Klein and Hines Ahead in Mid-South Best Ball Gold Meet; Turn in 65

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Willie Klein and Jimmie Hines set the pace for a strong field of pairs in the mid-south professional best-ball golf tournament today with a 65, which put them three strokes in the van at the halfway point of the 36-hole test.

Only three other pairs broke 70. Among them were Tommy Armour of Chicago and Bobby Cruikshank, Richmond, Va., defending titlists.

Cougars Head for Battle With Troy

PULLMAN, Wash., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Washington State's football team entrained tonight for Los Angeles to meet the Trojans of Southern California Saturday.

Just before boarding the train Coach O. E. Hollinger said his starting lineup probably would be:

Stanley Smith, center; Al Hopwood and Don Springer, guards; John Bley and Dwight Scheyer, tackles; Ed Brett and DeWayne Allen or Floyd Terry, ends; Ed Goddard, quarterback; Charles McBride and Ted Christoffersen, halfbacks and Roger Dougherty or Kelley Agee, fullback.

The team will stop in San Francisco for a light workout, and will also give a light drill at Los Angeles Friday.

City-Y. Hoop League Plans Will Be Talked At Meeting on Thursday

Plans for this season's City-Y. basketball league will be discussed at a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night to which all interested in forming teams are asked to be present by Gus Moore, physical director.

It is anticipated that a number of Salem businesses, industries and stores will be included in the league this year, as last, with new teams as well as those that participated last year taking part, Moore said. Plans for practice and regular tournament play will be made at the meeting.

Michigan State Squad On Way to California

PRATT, Kas., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Michigan State's football Spartans bound for the Pacific coast and an encounter with Loyola university of Los Angeles Saturday, stepped out of their special train and stretched their legs in a short signal drill here this afternoon, before more than 1000 spectators.

Tryouts for One-act Plays Slated; Invite All Who are Interested

Opportunity to try out for parts in one-act plays will be given Salem persons dramatically talented Wednesday night in the rehearsal hall at 545 Chemeketa street by Salem Civic Players. The plays are being prepared for production by Jerry Prescott Hoigelman. The session is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock.

It is expected that three or more one-act plays will be prepared during the next few weeks. Comedies will prevail with one or two of more serious character. One comedy, "The Third Man," is internationally known as a delightful bit of family life. It was first presented in Salem as a part of the first program of the Creative Theatre of the Salem Arts league.

Blame Deaths on Poor Supervision

Callison Thinks Laterals Bring High Tackling, More Injuries

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Lack of supervision and medical care, as well as use of faulty equipment, must be charged with responsibility for the majority of football deaths this season in the opinion of leading coaches and officials.

Although a few saw the so-called "slow whistle" as a contributing factor, a nationwide poll by the Associated Press disclosed an almost unanimous belief that the mounting death toll was due in the main to failure to safeguard high school and sandlot players.

Charles "Gus" Dorais of Detroit and Prink Callison of the University of Oregon believe lateral passing, with the resultant high tackling to prevent a runner from getting rid of the ball, has to some degree stimulated the number of injuries.

George Varnell of Seattle, an official of the Pacific coast conference, credited the low death rate in the far west to the conference rule which gives officials authority to remove from a game any player they believe "not physically able to continue."

Reply on Tariff Plea is Lacking

Senator McNary said Tuesday that he had not received a reply from President Roosevelt to his letter urging the president to delay commitment on a proposed lumber trade agreement between Canada and the United States.

McNary's letter was sent to President Roosevelt at the request of northwest lumbermen who said such a trade agreement would result disastrously to the lumber business in Oregon and adjoining states.

The senator told President Roosevelt that he would be willing to go to Washington to discuss the situation with him.

McNary said he expected a telegram from President Roosevelt within the next two or three days.

Propose Separate Highway Building

Proposal to erect a separate building to house the state highway department was advanced Tuesday by R. H. Baldock, state highway engineer. It will be considered at the next meeting of the highway commission.

Baldock said the building, if approved, would be paid for out of rentals now collected from the commission by the state board of control.

The building probably would be erected at the state highway shops, a short distance east of Salem.

Such a building would vacate one entire floor of the present state office building.

Vikings Await Yamhill Team

Look Much Better in Tilt at Eugene; McMinnville Threat is Serious

After three ill-fated Saturdays away from home the Salem high Vikings return to their own backyard Saturday to meet McMinnville's strong gridiron Grizzlies in a game that Salem hopes will put it back up among the winners.

The Vikings came through their hard fought mud battle with Eugene in good shape with the exception of a wrenched knee received by Curry, regular right end.

Against Eugene the red and black, according to observers, put up its best game of the year and showed a form that has been lacking all season. Coach Huntington believes that if the team keeps it up it will be able to go through the remaining three games on the schedule with no defeats. Salem has dates with The Dalles there and with Corvallis here after the McMinnville game.

The Grizzlies will be no easy pickings for the red and black, however. Coach "Red" Bailey, who went to McMinnville from Dallas this year, has developed a strong eleven with a high scoring, wide open offense.

Air Threat Strong

With a pair of basketball stars in the lineup, Mabee and Blenkinsop, the Grizzlies go heavily for aerial work. Blenkinsop, one of the outstanding ball handlers in last year's basketball tournament, as an end receives the passes that Mabee, another hoop star, heaves from his left half position.

McMinnville gave Salem one of its toughest games last year, the Vikings only noising out in a last quarter rally. The Grizzlies overwhelmingly defeated Hillsboro the week after Salem and Hillsboro played to a 13-13 tie.

Sixteen Elk Carcasses Brought in First Day; Few of Hunters Return

LA GRANDE, Ore., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Sixteen elk carcasses have been checked at the La Grande forestry station since the opening of the elk season Sunday. Pendleton reported eight others.

Only a few of the hunters have returned from the forests and no estimate of the probable kill is available, state game officials said.

The season closes November 19.

What Makes Grid Stars Click?

An acute perception which enables him to react quicker physically than the average individual partly accounts for the sensational gridiron feats of Oze Simmons, star University of Iowa halfback, according to Dr. Daniel Feder, head of Iowa psychology department, who has been making exhaustive tests with Simmons as subject.

Shooting of Siki Probed by Police

PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Pasadena police tonight were seeking a motive for the possible fatal shooting of Bernardo Aros, professional boxer known as "Batling Siki."

The authorities were holding T. B. Elliott, 58, a crippled night watchman, for assault with a deadly weapon.

Aros said he had been invited to Elliott's home for a drink when he was shot. Elliott said the boxer came to his house to "warn me about his wife." Mrs. Aros said she knew nothing about a possible motive for the shooting.

Aros was shot three times, and is in the Pasadena hospital in a critical condition.

Tommy Loughran Wins Over British Battler

LONDON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Tommy Loughran, of Philadelphia, former light heavyweight champion of the world, tonight outpointed Maurice Strickland of England in a 10 round main bout at Wembley stadium. Loughran weighed 186 and Strickland 188.

Beavers Face Vandals Next

Two More Sophs May Get Call; Oregon to Play Portland Pilots

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 12.—(AP)—The University of Idaho Vandals, who gave Washington State college such a close run, will play the Oregon State football team here Saturday.

A pair of sophomores, Elmer Kolberg, full, and Bill Duncan, were favored to start for the Beavers in their last home game this season. Both showed well in all departments against Oregon last week.

This would give Oregon State three sophomores and a junior in the backfield. Joe Gray, regular left half, is a sophomore, and Tom Swanson, blocking half, a junior.

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Coach Prink Callison, searching for new talent, sent the University of Oregon reserves through a stiff scrimmage today against the Frosh football squad.

The Oregon varsity will be scrimmaged tomorrow.

Oregon is pointing toward next week's game against University of Washington, but is not making light of this Saturday's game against University of Portland.

Hill Reports on Convention Trip

More money was spent and attendance larger at the annual meeting of the American Dental association, just closed in New Orleans, than at any convention he has attended in some years, Dr. David Bennett Hill, Salem dentist, reported yesterday upon return from a 13-day trip to attend the convention.

Traveling men whom he met on the trains declared to Dr. Hill that their business is good this fall, and the wide-spread gambling in New Orleans and flourishing night clubs also bore out that view, Hill indicated.

Dr. Hill said he questioned a number of New Orleans folks about the late Huey P. Long, and that so far as he could learn, the people there held and hold only one criticism, namely that Long was not tactful enough. People there seem unconcerned over the graft during the Long administration, but all administrations indulged in graft and that at least Long used the monies for public roads, bridges and other benefits.

Dr. Hill said he was glad that the weather for the convention was so good. The weather prevailed in the southern state.

Work of Capitol Board Winding Up

Work of the state capitol committee here is being concluded this week with the closing of the committee's offices in the Marion hotel. Temporary quarters will be used in the chamber of commerce where records of the committee will be filed. Harriet C. Long, state librarian, has secured for a file of the committee's minutes and publications, with the intention of making these a portion of the historical records kept in connection with the destruction by fire of the old capitol and the erection of a new one.

C. A. Ayre, executive secretary of the committee, concludes his work today. A financial report of the committee will be made before the week closes. T. M. Hicks, treasurer, reported.

The committee was formed from Salem business men in an effort to secure for the capitol of the future the same quality that had the full endorsement of Governor Charles H. Martin and worked with him before and during the special session of the legislature. N. H. Williams is president of the organization.

credit that should be allowed to teachers for travel during vacations. This credit would go toward the improvement of their standing on the salary schedule adopted by the board in 1934. No action was taken on the report.

A statement of policy regarding the auto mechanics shop was read to the board by Galtier. It was decided by the board not to allow bus transportation to students within the district who are beyond grade school classification. Certain exceptions may be made in this ruling, it was stated.

Miss Mabel Robertson, dean of women at the high school, gave a report to the board on the history of dancing in the high school gymnasium and the policies that have been followed by the staff relative to the school dances.

The board adjourned to meet Saturday morning at 10 o'clock to open bids on the contracts for the Leslie junior high school auditorium and gymnasium construction.

Pierpont Downs Dado

OAKLAND, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Tuffy Pierpont, 117, Oakland, proved himself a real contender for Small Montana's flyweight crown here tonight when he won an eight-round decision over Speedy Dado, 114, Manila, in a slambang fight.

Grand Old Men of the Grid

Alonzo STAGG
DEAN OF FOOTBALL COACHES WHO SCARES THE COAST TEAMS WITH HIS COLLEGE OF THE PACIFIC ELEVEN

WARNER

DAVE SHUKLER TEMPLE FULLBACK IS TOUTED BY WARNER AS GREATER THAN NEVENS OR THORPE.

BURNLEY 11-13 -- OLD POPPUS HAS BROUGHT TEMPLE TO THE TOP!

LIKE baseball's perennial Connie Mack, football boasts a couple of ancient sages who seem to go on and on like Old Man River and Tennyson's babbling brook.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, a pigskin patriarch of more than seventy summers, and old Poppus Warner, grizzled originator of the double wing-back system that bears his illustrious name, are a couple of greybeards who are still doing all right for themselves as football coaches, more than holding their own with the young upstarts of the coaching profession.

Old Man Stagg, who has two sons who are also coaching grid teams, has been astounding Coast football men with daring innovations in aerial attacks, while the younger coaches stick to more conservative offensives. He is able to cause the big shots of the Coast Conference plenty of trouble with his little College of the Pacific eleven.

Warner, the gray fox of the gridiron, has built Temple University into one of the East's greatest gridiron powers since taking over the coaching reins at the Philadelphia school a couple of years ago.

Dave Smukler, the Owl's' crashing fullback, has been touted by Old Poppus as the greatest line plunger of all time, better than Warner's famous Thorpe and Nevens. This is undoubtedly an exaggeration, but nevertheless this Smukler lad is a whole lot of a football player.

The Old Fox has one of the leading teams of the nation under his wing this year, and his avowed ambition is to land the Rose Bowl shot sooner or later.

Pop would like nothing better than to send his eleven against his old team, Stanford, but the Indians' defeat at the hands of U. C. L. A. will probably eliminate them from Rose Bowl consideration this year.
