Hiking Club Describes Fine Trip

Nine members of the Jason Lee Hiking club climbed Monument peak, near Mill City, on Armistice day. The group left Jason Lee church early Monday morning and drove as far as the CCC veteran camp, just beyond Mill City, from where they took the trail.

Rain, which began to fall soon after the hike was started, turned first to hail, then to snow. A halt was made at the six mile mark and a fire built, then while the girls prepared lunch, the rest of the hikers climbed the remaining three miles to the peak. At the Monument peak cabin they were met by Bill Heseman, Harold Duncan and Kenneth Clark, the three having spent the weekend on the peak.

Heseman reported finding many cat tracks in the fresh snow on Sunday, as well as those of deer and rabbit. Over a foot of snow was found at the summit and made a beautiful picture of the scrub fir and huckleberry bushes.

Others who made the trip were Bob Keuscher, Don Dugan, Helen Mason, Floyd Walz, Gretchen Games, Dean Ellis, Milton Hartwell, Don Douris and Paul Deuber.
