

Fathers and Sons Of W. U. to Dine

Banquet is at 6:30 With Norman F. Coleman as Principal Speaker

Fathers—the ones who pay the bills—and their Willamette university sons will gather together tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the chamber of commerce auditorium for the second annual Willamette university fathers and sons banquet jointly sponsored by the Willamette Blue Key society and the Salem Breakfast club.

Many of the Willamette students have invited their own fathers to attend the affair and numerous "dads" from out of town will attend the banquet. Others, whose fathers live at too great a distance to easily make the trip here, will be provided temporary fathers by the Breakfast club.

Dr. Norman F. Coleman, president of Reed college for many years, will give the address of the evening after an introduction by Dr. Bruce Baxter, Dr. Coleman, an authority on European affairs will speak on "The Price of Peace."

Dean Toastmaster
Galen Dean, assistant of Blue Key, as toastmaster, will call upon prominent students and their fathers for brief talks. Musical entertainment will be provided by the Willamette Songmen, directed by Dean Cameron Marshall of the school of music. Soloists with the Glee-men are Hume Downs, violin, and Maurice Dean, vocalist.

An attendance of over 300 has been indicated by the sale of tickets which may still be obtained either at the university or at the Breakfast club committee headed by Curtis Cross.

Early Christmas Mailing Advised

Foreign mail and money orders for Christmas delivery are being received daily at the local post-office, Henry E. Crawford, postmaster, said yesterday. Packages and letters for Australia, East Indies, the orient and all European countries should be in at a very early date, he said. The mails for the foreign Christmas delivery will soon be closed.

Arthur Gibbard pointed out that all Christmas packages should be carefully packed. This is especially true of the foreign shipments which are handled many times.

It is not too early to start in sending the domestic Christmas mail officials said. Early mailing will insure delivery of the mail quicker and in better condition. The plea of the postal officials is "mail early."

The supper will start at 6:30 o'clock and the usual meeting in the main hall at 8. H. R. "Rufe" White, arranging for the entertainment.

Dart Game Proprietor Up For Trial Here Next Wednesday, Court House

Disposal of the city's charges against A. F. Winter, dart game proprietor, next Wednesday was ordered by Municipal Judge A. Warren Jones yesterday. He set the much postponed action for trial at 10 a. m. that day and so notified Winter's attorney.

Winter was released on $300 bail, of which $200 was on a lottery charge and $100 each on two charges of running a dart game without a city license. Since the licensing ordinance has been repealed, it is expected Winter will move for dismissal of the two latter charges.

Salem and Albany Shy on Projects

Salem and Albany are the only two cities in the third WPA district, comprising eight counties, that do not have enough projects applied for to care for their unemployed, declared J. E. Smith, district director, yesterday. His statement as it regarded Salem was expanded by S. W. Richardson, district project supervisor.

"We'd like to have projects enough to employ 800 people right here," Richardson, whose duty it is to promote formulation of projects and see that they get started, said. "There are too many projects in the northern end of the county and we could put more men to work on the Buena Vista road job if we could get them there."

Richardson said he hoped some of the improvement work planned by the water commission would be done under WPA projects.

Salem is one sizeable project, removal of the center parking from Marion street and preparing the grade for paving, has not yet been allocated working funds.

Glee Clubs Take Part, Events of Education Week

The musical organizations at Salem high school directed by Lena Belle Tartar presented a varied program at the 12:50 p. m. education week hour in the auditorium yesterday. There were numbers by the 70-voice girls' glee club, 53-voice advance chorus, 40-voice boys' glee club, and solos.

The program included three selections by the girls' glee group, accompanied by Maxine Case, a piano solo by Patricia Niemeyer, pupil of Mrs. Edward Tillson; three numbers by the girls' double trio, which consists of Harriett Coons, Willetta Sneed, Dorothy Williams, Paphne Underwood, Dorothy Jayes and Verice Griffin; two numbers by the boys glee, accompanied by Phil Barrett; piano solo by Doris Schunke, pupil of Lena Dotson; and three selections by the advanced chorus, accompanied by Miss Case.

Paper Company's Flax Deal Pends

Champagne Co. Official to Visit Soon. Crop
Mostly Stunted

The future of the Champagne Paper corporation's growing of flax in the Willamette valley will not be determined until a visit of a high official of the corporation late this month, William Einzig, manager for the company's operations this summer, said here yesterday.

The paper company, largest producer of cigarette papers in the United States, invested thousands of dollars here this summer in growing flax, contracting for the output of 1200 acres. Unfortunately lack of rain in the growing season stunted the crop and made the flax yield the poorest in a decade. As a result no processing of the company's flax has as yet been begun in the warehouse at Hopmore where the flax tonnage is stored. Decorating machinery, sent from the east, is stored in the warehouse and ready for use on the 1935 crop, if the visiting official approves.

Einzig is hopeful the company will continue its operations in the valley, believing the last season was extraordinary and not likely to be repeated for many years. The Champagne Paper corporation has several large experimental flax plantings throughout the United States. Einzig, who became acquainted with officials of the concern when he handled flax for the board of control, sees in

Recorder to Try Some New Ideas

City Recorder A. Warren Jones returned to Salem early yesterday with several new ideas he may incorporate in the conduct of his office here which he gleaned at conferences Wednesday with officials of the League of Oregon Cities and with City Recorder C. M. Bryan of Eugene. He is contemplating setting up a new requisition and invoice system, similar to one used at Eugene, in the near future and believes savings may be effected for the city.

Jones went to Eugene Tuesday night to the 33d birthday celebration of the Eagles lodge there.

Operetta to be Offered Tonight

An operetta replete with the gaiety of Spanish music and humor applicable to present times will be presented by the opera class of Salem high school in the high school auditorium at 8:15 o'clock tonight. A nominal admission will be charged.

Fifty three students are taking part in the production, "Riding Down the Sky," and creditably so. Lena Belle Tartar, high school music director, declared yesterday.

Martin to Speak At Credit Parley

Governor Charles H. Martin is scheduled to address a farm credit meeting at Corvallis on Tuesday, November 19. The conference will be held under the auspices of the State college. Anyone interested is invited to attend, Harry L. Riches, Marion county agent, said. The conference will open at 9:30 a. m.

Farm credit, debt adjustment and the economic outlook for the farmers will be discussed. Representatives of Benton, Lincoln, Lane, Polk and Marion counties will be in attendance.

Other speakers and their subjects in addition to Governor Martin who will give the welcome are as follows: A. S. Goss, land bank commissioner of Washington, D. C., on farm credit agencies and their services; C. C. Rowan, on how much credit should farmer use; A. S. Burrier, Oregon resettlement administration, on land classification and its relation to credit; W. L. Tentish, assistant county agent leader, on how farm records improve a farmer's credit rating; L. R. Breithaupt, extension agricultural economist on the outlook for farm debt reduction; M. J. Conklin on the outlook of the dairy and poultry producers; W. S. Avon on the outlook of beef, sheep and hog growers; O. S. Fitcher on field crop and vegetable outlook; and J. E. Beck on tree fruits, nut and berry outlook.

Half Million Dollars In Projects Approved

A half million dollars worth of WPA projects expected by next Thursday to have put 867 men and women to work have gone through the district offices here for Marion county. It was announced yesterday. The eight counties in the third WPA district have asked for $1,918,726 worth of projects on which requisitions have gone out to employ 1783 persons by Thursday.

Violation Due to Error, Explained

John Crawford of the Marion Creamery & Poultry company, yesterday afternoon pleaded guilty to a new charge filed against him by the city, this time a complaint that he had violated the new "chicken" ordinance which prohibits keeping more than two dozen fowls in certain districts. The complaint was signed by Battery Cooper, city sanitary inspector.

Municipal Judge Jones gave ear to a plea for leniency made by Crawford's attorney and wrote up a $200 suspended fine against the defendant. He also placed Crawford on a year's probation stipulating that he comply with the new city law, as he promised to do in court.

Crawford made showing that he had intended to obey the new regulation, that he misunderstood it at the time of the violation and that he was now meeting its requirements. An investigation yesterday by Cooper revealed that the ordinance was no longer being violated, Jones said.

More of District WPA Jobs Backed

Applications for $55,455 worth of WPA projects were approved at the district offices here yesterday and forwarded to state headquarters at Portland. The largest provides for reconstruction of the old gymnasium on the University of Oregon campus at cost of $15,367 to the WPA and $5568 to the state.

One of the eight projects approved was asked for in Marion county, provision for hot lunches for Brooks school children, costing the school district $140 and the WPA $220. The single Polk county project was for sanitary improvements at the Buell school for which the local cost would be $705 and the federal cost $750.
