County Decree In Foreclosure Actions Filed

Owners Have Four Weeks
to Redeem 715 Pieces
of Real Estate

Payment of Tax, Interest,
Penalty and Costs
is Requirement

A foreclosure decree containing 258 typewritten pages was filed in the county clerk's office yesterday in the proceedings brought by Marion county against owners of property on which tax payments were delinquent as provided by law. Owners of the property in question have four weeks, or until the sheriff's deed is issued, to take any part of the property out of foreclosure, states Sheriff A. C. Burk.

The foreclosure is against 715 parcels of real estate, or about half the 1411 parcels on which the first foreclosure steps were filed with the county clerk a year ago for land which had against it three past due 10 per cent installments on 1930 and prior years taxes, under provisions of chapter 452, Oregon laws, 1933, as amended by chapter 282, Oregon laws, 1935.

Since the final decree in foreclosure was started this month, a number of defendants have paid taxes in full and the case against them dismissed and others have paid one installment, to continue the case for six months during which time all due installments must be paid.

"The taxpayer may still redeem his property from foreclosure between now and the date of issuance of sheriff's deed by paying the total of tax, interest to date, penalty and costs involved in the foreclosure," Burk reiterated yesterday, adding "but after the sheriff's deed is issued to Marion county there is no period (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Tariff No Worry To Local Dealers

Lumber Quotations Here
Not Affected Yet,
May Not Be

Local lumber prices have not been affected by the threat of cheap Canadian lumber coming into the United States as a result of the reciprocal tariff treaty signed last week between the United States and Canada.

Lumber dealers said yesterday that it was doubtful if there would be any effect on the local market. It was pointed out that no Canadian lumber comes into this territory and that as a general rule the local mills do not have to compete in the same markets with the Canadian wood.

One dealer thought that there might be a slight flurry in the market at some time in the future, but said it was not evident at this time. He said that any change would probably be a speculative fall and that prices would come back if such a reduction did come.

Officials Eye 19 Additional Death Reports

Department Store Leader
Named in Warrant is Dead, Says Son

Sale, Contaminated Food
Also Charged Against
Salvaging Agent

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20. (AP)—Nineteen additional deaths came under official scrutiny in San Francisco's poisoned baking soda "bargain" sale.

Two dealers were ordered arrested.

Dr. J. C. Geiger, city health officer, who definitely attributed three deaths and 13 cases of severe illness to the "bargain price" soda, ordered broadening of the investigation.

The 19 deaths since November 3, he said, were preceded by symptoms of gastro intestinal disturbances such as might have been caused by the poison.

Department Store Sells 800 Pounds in Bulk
Joseph Rosenthal, executive of the department store which had sold 800 pounds of the soda in bulk packages, was one of the illness victims, Dr. Geiger said.

Rosenthal appeared at the warrant clerk's office and explained his father, Morris, for whom the original warrant was issued, was dead.

"Morris is my father (and as he is no longer living, I want to give myself up in response to the warrant)," Rosenthal said. He was released on $250 bail.

Later Nick Manno, proprietor of the wholesale salvaging and distribution concern from which the soda came, appeared with his attorney to accept service of the warrant.

They were charged with violation of a city ordinance prohibiting distribution of contaminated foods.

Source of Poison Being Sought
Police, meanwhile, sought the source of the poison at the wholesale establishment where the soda had been dumped from broken retail packages into barrels for bulk sale.

They were advised by Dr. C. D. Leake, department of health chemist, that the poison was so mixed with the soda that it could not have just come from the sides of dirty barrels.

"It might have come into the soda," Dr. Leake said, "by being dumped in by mistake, as it has much the same appearance. With (Turn to Page 2, Col. 7)

African Prof Says Italian Invasion Okeh

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 20. (AP)—Dr. Cornelius G. S. de Villiers, dean of sciences at Stellenbosch university in South Africa, told interviewers today he believed Italy is justified in invading Ethiopia and in seeking to add territory for colonization.

Dr. De Villiers is acting as exchange professor here for four weeks.

"Italy must expand," he said. "She receives very little from the powers at the treaty of Versailles, and Ethiopia is the only territory open to her. Under its present government the African country is undeveloped and poorly managed. The Italians feel that they could not only open the territory to colonization but do it a great deal of good as well."
