Registrations at Courthouse Gain

Special January Ballot Believed Reason; 4 Proposals Offered

Registrations at the office of the county clerk are reported to be extremely large, probably the largest in history for this time of year. It was thought that the special election to be held January 31 on referendum measures from the last legislative assembly had been an incentive for registration. County Clerk U. G. Boyer reported that although there is quite a heavy registration indicated by people from outside the state, newcomers here, especially from the middle west, there is also a noticeable number of cancellations from other counties showing that an appreciable number of Marion county people have removed from this to other counties of the state and are registering in their new homes. Many of the registrants are people who have moved from one precinct to another since the last election and are preserving their franchise.

Measures Up—Measures referred to the people in the January election are the sales tax measure on which is dependent the carrying out of the federal old age pension plan; the referendum on the 15 school activity fee bill; the referendum on the matter of whether primaries shall be held in September instead of May, and the referendum on the measure allowing senators and representatives in the legislature to fix the amount of their own salaries.

15-18 Cents Bid, State's Gasoline For Next Year

Bids for approximately 2,000,000 gallons of gasoline, to be supplied over a period of 12 months, were opened by the state board of control yesterday. There were 12 bidders and all proposals were similar. The bids on third grade gasoline were 15 cents, regular 16 cents and first grade 18 cents. These prices were based on Portland delivery.

Juror Faints, Soon Revived

Solie-Merrifield Case Is in Jury's Hands; No More This Week

Arguments of the attorneys in the damage action of Solie vs. Merrifield, which has occupied three days in Judge McMahan's court, were apparently too much for one juror. At least, during the argument to the jury yesterday afternoon by W. C. Winslow, defense attorney, one of the men jurors fell from his seat in a dead faint. He was carried into the judge's chambers and soon revived.

The case, which went to the jury late yesterday afternoon, marks the end of trials in circuit court until early next week. Judge McMahan will be in Albany Friday for court there.

Honor Society to Show Movie Soon

The Sigma Lambda chapter of the National Honor society had a social and business meeting at the home of its president, Dean Ellis, Tuesday night at which the completed film of Salem high school activities was shown by the adviser, R. W. Tavener, and a discussion was held on the merits and demerits of presenting the movie to the students.

It was decided to show the film Monday in the assembly to a large group of students, and then to show it to smaller groups later on. Natalie Neer and Jean Doerge were appointed to have charge of the tickets. Dayton Robertson was to be ticket taker; Cecil Greeneth and Walter Crabb were to have charge of operating the projector, and George Smith was to be general property man, and Dean Ellis was to give the monologue explaining the scenes. Ronald Adams, Walter Vehr and Alice Swift were the committee that had done all the previous work with the movies.

The comic personality of Sister Ann, as portrayed by Dorothy Butte, and her "kick" brother, George Smith, furnish characterization and humor which the film is women. The latter part of the picture is in color.

Auto Fatalities Drop in October

There were 19 deaths due to motor vehicle accidents in Oregon in October, 1935, as compared with 34 during the same month last year. Secretary of State Snell reported yesterday. Persons injured increased from 443 in October last year to 585 in October this year.

Accidents in October, 1935, aggregated 2422 as against 1903 in October this year ago. Deaths from traffic accidents thus far this year total 204 as compared with 259 for all of 1934.

Six of those killed by motor vehicles in October, 1935, were pedestrians.

Five-Room Model House Display to Be Installed by Furniture Store; Said First of Its Kind in Oregon

Construction of a unique model five-room house to be used as a display room in conjunction with the Imperial Furniture company was announced yesterday by James R. Humphrey, president of the company.

Work of remodeling the upstairs quarters adjoining the main building of the store, and extending to the alley, was started coincident with the announcement. A false section across the upper building east to west will be finished in shakes on the exterior, with gable roof. On the interior, the large quarters will be remodelled for a five-room house, including large living room, dining room, two bedrooms, bath and model kitchen. The interior will be wallpapered, woodwork painted and floor carpeted throughout.

Believed First in State—While the model room arrangement of display has been tried in local stores, so far as is known here, this is the first Oregon store to arrange a complete interior model home in connection with the business quarters. Work will be hurried to complete the model house about December 1.

"Our idea in this move is to give people an idea as to how room settings and how furniture actually will look in the surroundings of their own home," Humphrey said, adding that the store plans to change the furnishings in the model house once each month.

"Salem is right and ripe for expansion, I believe and this town is the best place to become a city, and that now is the time when people are most interested in going forward," Humphrey said in explaining why his firm is venturing into a new experiment.

Since Humphrey bought an interest in the Imperial furniture company in 1933, the store has expanded from the original main building at 467 Court street to the additional store building to the west, and now to another expansion, all through a period of slow business. His partner in the firm is Frank Chapman, secretary and treasurer.

Entry Inside—Access to the model house will be from inside the main store building. An archway will be cut through the west wall of the main building into the model home setting, with the entrance into the home atmosphere to be three steps down from the upper floor of the main building.

The kitchen is to be equipped fully modern, even to electric dish washer and custom built linoleum for the floor.

Spinners Hostesses—A plan is being worked out for the Spinners, social club, to be the house sponsors, acting as hostesses at the model home once a week or possibly two afternoons a month.

H. C. Hummel, local builder, has charge of the construction, with Nelson Bros. doing the plumbing, Bosler Electric company the wiring, and Dunsmoor and Frigaard the decorating.

Jiggs Club Meets

WOODBURN, Nov. 20 — The first meeting of the Jiggs club for the winter season was held at the I. O. O. F. hall Saturday night with Mrs. Frank Wright and Mrs. S. W. Harper as joint hostesses. Income From $100,000 Eric Hauser Bequest Used For Current Bills

Willamette university is in urgent need of a new library building and that structure must be given first place in any building program which the school undertakes, Dr. Bruce Baxter, university president, said yesterday.

Dr. Baxter said no immediate program for construction of the building has been outlined. Second in importance, he averred, is a new science building. Dr. Baxter said he was hopeful the new buildings, when erected on the present campus, would harmonize with the existing campus structures.

One hundred thousand dollars bequeathed the university by the late Eric Hauser can be used for new buildings but the money has not been utilized by the trustees since the average annual income of 5 per cent received from these funds was used during the depression in strengthening endowment income. Whether or not this money must eventually be used for new buildings Dr. Baxter was not prepared to state yesterday. Two other Oregon colleges, left $100,000 each by Mr. Hauser, have already utilized their funds for new buildings.

Enrollment Shows Gain—Dr. Baxter said yesterday the enrollment of the university this year was considerably above 1934. Students are receiving $900 a month from federal funds for special work and the money is being spread, through work, to about 100 students. The funds have been invaluable in helping students through college, Dr. Baxter said.

Traffic Signals To Be Discussed—A joint meeting of the traffic and street committees of the city council will be held to consider plans for the installation of a traffic signal system. Plans will be submitted to the council for approval as soon as a recommendation of the committees can be had.

Mayor V. E. Kuhn was in Portland yesterday investigating the different types of signal systems in an effort to determine which would be the most practical for Salem.

R. Erickson, representative of a supply company, will appear before the committees tonight and explain the costs and advantages of the different systems.

An allowance was made in the 1936 budget for the installation of a traffic control signal system. Funds will not be available until January for its purchase. It is hoped that plans may be adopted by the council before the end of the year so that the installation of the system can be made immediately after the first of the year.

Local Democrats To Greet Farley

Prominent democrats of Marion county will make up a party to go to Portland on Saturday to greet James Farley, postmaster-general and democratic chief, who is visiting Oregon this weekend.

John Marshall, chairman of the county central committee, was busy yesterday lining up a group of men to accompany him to the city. A. M. Dalrymple, long prominent in the county organization, and Henry Crawford, postmaster, are expected to go.

Farley will speak to a banquet for prominent democrats early Saturday night and later will speak in the Portland auditorium, his address being broadcast. He is said to be arranging the first 1936 democratic campaign in this state while in the west.
