Clingman Faces Lipscomb; Parks - Chambers and Hager-Lake Set

Hungry mat fans who have been fasting for lack of grappling entertainment for the past six weeks can start in where they left off tonight when the American Legion reopens its weekly wrestling schedule at the armory with a four match all-star card.

While every grappler on the program is claimed to be of main event calibre Ernie Piluso, godly Greek with a profile, and Clayton Williams, skillful mean man, have earned the 45 minute headline spot by virtue of a thrilling encounter they staged on the last card six weeks back.

Piluso, who mixes acrobatics with wrestling to the amusement and edification of the fans, has won the hearts of the local boys and girls by his skillful performances in downing some of matdom's meanest characters. Williams, hurly-burly ruffian, is out to gain revenge over the sleek Piluso who bested him in their first match.

Second Bout Speedy Speed and excitement is expected to develop in large quantities in the second 45 minute go in which Otis Clingman, famed Oklahoma gob, tangles with Jack Lipscomb, a newcomer from St. Louis, Mo. Clingman, former navy champion, is a long time favorite with the local fans and knows wrestling from top to bottom. Lipscomb picked up grappling when wrestling with bales of cotton on the Mississippi levees and is not a man to be trifled with.

Coach R. S. "Spec" Keene of Willamette university announced yesterday that the Willamette basketball team, which will start practice Monday, will meet Drake university of Des Moines, Iowa, in its first major game of the season December 19.

Arrangements for a game with the Drake Bulldogs, who will be on a barnstorming tour of the coast, were completed yesterday. Drake won the championship of the Missouri valley conference last year and the championship team is intact this season.

The Drake quint, coached by Bill Williams, last year averaged 39 points per game in its 12 conference tilts. Its non-conference victories included wins over Iowa State, Big Six champions, and University of Iowa.

The Bearcats will play Oregon State here December 21.

Bees, Midgets To Play Today

Two of the Salem interscholas-tic league's teams will wind up their seasons today when the Salem "B" eleven and the Salem high Midgets clash on the Olinger gridiron at 3:15 o'clock.

The Bees, who walloped Lesie 32 to 0 last week, are determined to roll up a big score on the aggressive but light Midgets who held Parish to a 7 to 0 victory last Friday.

Whether they will be able to do it depends upon the efficacy of the practice sessions they have been rolling through this week. Coach Dwight Adams' charges stopped the Woodburn offense cold and went to work in the second period on a touchdown barrage that netted four scores. Woodburn never got past the Dallas 30 yard line. Woodman, Dallas right half,

Keene's major problem has been to convince the Bearcats that the Missionaries really have something this year that is worth worrying about. "They are just beginning to realize that this is a championship game," Keene said yesterday. Willamette must win Whitman engagement to cinch the Northwest conference to down the Woodburn Bulldogs title. A loss would put Linfield in first place, Whitman in second and Willamette in the third spot; This disastrous fall from a possible championship to third place would be the result if Whitman wins because the Missionaries play two more conference engagements than the Bearcats this year. Flu, mumps and injured knees also added to Keene's distressed state of mind. Johnny Oravec, who will play his last game on Thursday, has just recovered from a bad attack of flu. George Abbott, freshman end, is in the pale stage of convalescence from the same malady while Dexter Russell, freshman back, has the Two Are Injured Neil Shaffer, hard-running full-
