Nebraska Noses Out Orangemen in Thriller Corvallis Demonstrates Air Game, Downs Vikings 14 to 0

Krueger to Keiser Passing Combination Is too Good for Salem

By PAUL HAUSER There were two things Salem high could be thankful for yesterday after Corvallis high had shown the Vikings just what can be done with a few passes as it gained a 14 to 0 victory in the annual Thanksgiving day clash between the two elevens. I' could be thankful that it may have a better team next year and that vesterday's game was the last of a season that has seen the Vikings belted from pillar to goal post.

The Vikings were outfought and outgained by a Corvallis team that knew things about offense. and defense that Salem has never learned. It was Corvallis' surefire passes, handled by a triplethreater named Krueger, that paved the way for the Spartan victory over Salem but Coach Mush Torson's team also outgained Salem on the ground. The Corvallis line, knowing a football block from the kind babies play with, opened gaping holes in the Salem defense for Krueger and Beavert, Corvallis' driving fullback, to plunge through.

All Passes Connect

The amazing thing, though, was the Corvallis pass attack in which every pass attempted during the first half when all the scoring was done, was completed, and Salem's utter inability to cope with the situation. Keiser, tall end, was on the receiving end of most of the bullets that Krueger sent steaming over the scrimmage and several times he reached up out of a welter of Salem players to snare them.

Corvallis scored in the first two periods, grabbing a break in the first period to march 19 yards for a touchdown and showing power in the second with a 72 yard drive down the field for the second Medford-with an additional pelt counter:

McCallister, big Corvallis Medford triumphed over its tra-tackle, recovered Salstrom's fum-ditional rival, Ashland, in a ble of a punt on the Salem 19- rough and tumble battle 13 to 0. Washington high of Portland.

So were "Bones" Hamilton, "Monk" Moscrip and little Jimmy Coffis of the Cardinals, Floyd Blower of California fought his heart out.
