Good Gridiron Year Enjoyed

Plenty of Thrills Though Salem High Lacking Usual Success

Football brought thrills, chills and spills to Salem in 1935 as Willamette mounted again to the top of the Northwest conference pile for its second consecutive championship and Salem high, a championship team the year before, found itself at the other end of the yardstick with its worst season in five years.

The thrills for Salem fans came in Willamette's home games and were mostly furnished by little Captain Johnny Oravec whose touchdown dashes again figured highly in the reasons why Willamette was "the top" in the Northwest conference. The chills and spills were Salem's, upset by Hillsboro, McMinnville and Corvallis, defeated narrowly by its old enemy Eugene and soundly trounced by Medford and The Dalles. Willamette won its four conference games, beat the invading San Jose team 14 to 0 but lost out badly to both the Coast conference elevens it tackled. In the conference Willamette beat College of Idaho, College of Puget Sound, Pacific and Whitman.

Outlook for Both Good Next Season

While Willamette will lose four valuable men by graduation, including the little All-American, Johnny Oravec, and Salem high will lose ten, the outlook for 1936 is more than hopeful.

"Spec" Keene, facing a ten-game schedule and playing every other conference team, is looking for capable reserves. While graduation will not deplete the Bearcat squad this year the breatherless schedule calls for a large and competent squad.

At Salem high Hollis Huntington is looking hopefully toward the coming year as a chance for his Vikings to redeem themselves after losing five games for the first time in as many years. While few of this year's regulars will be back "Holly" believes that the reserves he had this season are just as good as the regulars and there will be a promising crop of material from the junior high schools.

The year also saw further development of the interscholastic league in Salem, a circuit designed to give junior high boys and smaller high school boys training in the fundamentals of the game. The Salem high B team took the championship although Coach Harold Hauk's Parrish youngsters showed the greatest improvement of the season.

Silverton Winner In Valley League

In the valley Silverton high was a standout with its most successful season in years. Silverton won the Willamette valley league title with six wins and one loss and its record included an early season win over the strong Astoria team. Dallas, in its first season under Coach Dwight Adams, showed great improvement at the close of the year, its tying of Lebanon being a factor in giving Silverton the championship.

Individually John Oravec was far and above the standout of the season. He led the Pacific coast in scoring with 54 points and was named as a halfback on the Associated Press little All-American.

Manslaughter Is Charged, Barrett

Involuntary manslaughter charges were filed against Edward R. Barrett in justice court yesterday as a result of the accident Tuesday night in which O. H. Carson was struck and killed. Barrett is scheduled to appear in justice court today to plead to the charge.

Previous charges of reckless driving which were made against Barret by city police who investigated the accident were dropped when the manslaughter charge was filed.

Carson, a pedestrian, was hit by Barrett's car at the intersection of Cottage and Center streets. Barrett was held by city police after the accident but was released on $100 bail set by the district attorney. Barrett was said to have been passing another car in the intersection when the accident happened.

Large Collection Is Made For City

A total of $9288.31 in fines, licenses and fees were collected by A. Warren Jones, city recorder during 1935, he announced Thursday.

Of this amount $1591.08 was received for sale of stamps for beer tax. The tax was thrown out by the regular session of the legislature so the city lost the balance of the year's revenue from that source, which had been estimated at $10,000.

Other revenues of the office which had been guessed at $3000 more than doubled expectations totaling $7,697.23.

Track Stars of 1935

By BURNLEY

THIS being an Olympic year, all track meets take on an added interest, with the big games as an incentive for all the competing athletes.

The indoor track season is scheduled to get under way in the East this week, with such tried and true performers as Glenn Cunningham, Gene Venzke, Glen Dawson and Charles Hornbostel back on the boards.

Last year, the track game's leading performers were those two dark shadows, Eulace Peacock and Jesse Owens, and that sensational vaulter wearing Eli's blue, Keith Brown.

Between them, Peacock and Owens smashed a great many marks and captured most of the headlines during 1935.

Owens, the Buckeye Bullet, turned in what was probably the greatest single performance in track history last spring when he tied the world's record of 9.4 for the 100-yd. dash, shattered the 220 mark in 20.3, broke the 220-yd. low hurdles record with time of 22.6, and smashed the broad jump standard by leaping 26 feet 8¼ inches.

Jesse passed his peak by the time the 1935 nationals were held and Peacock snatched most of the laurels, but the Ohio State speedster was still the most spectacular track performer of 1935.

Eye That Sees in Dark Is Invented

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Science today gave man an eye to see in the dark—a foot-long vacuum tube on which the invisible infrared and ultra violet rays that fill the air form a visible, living, moving, continuous image.

The new tube was shown for the first time at a general meeting of the American association for the advancement of science by its discoverers and inventors, Dr. V. K. Zworykin and Dr. George A. Morton of the Radio Corporation of America Laboratories.

They have realized one of man's oldest and apparently most impossible dreams. Briefly they have taken beams of electrons and focused them just as the lens of the human eye focuses light. Like light, the electrons carry optical images.

Then, inasmuch as the eye cannot see even focused electrons, the two scientists have made a mechanical retina which sees the electron images exactly as the retina of the eye sees images in light.

Suicide's Letter Goes to Hopkins

MARTINEZ, Calif., Jan. 2.—(AP)—Deputy Coroner John S. Connolly said today Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins will get a letter of protest left by Helen O'Brien, WPA worker, who assertedly ended her life in desperation over relief working conditions.

The letter, addressed to Hopkins, contained a bitterly-worded indictment of relief administration.

Miss O'Brien, 35, disappeared after abandoning her automobile near here. Her body was found yesterday at the bottom of a 1,000-foot canyon, a bullet wound in the head.

Mrs. L. H. Hayes, director of the project on which Miss O'Brien had been working, said the woman's salary was $26 weekly and that she recently was raised $2. She resigned December 21.

Mrs. Hayes said that before the depression, Miss O'Brien had been earning $250 to $300 a month as a nurse.

Had the lava flow continued 18 days longer at its normal pace it would have reached the city of 20,000, Jaggar said.

Touhy Captured; Is Seriously Ill

CHICAGO, Jan. 2—(AP)—Tommy Touhy, last of the "terrible Touhy" gang, was captured today but was reportedly near death.

Six squads of Chicago and federal officers, seized the 44-year-old founder of the gang once known as "Al Capone's headache," in bed at his apartment on the north side.

Palsied from an ailment variously reported as tuberculosis and cancer, Touhy tremblingly obeyed when the officers awakened him with the command: "Come out with your hands up.'

Because of his precarious physical condition, authorities began at once to arrange for a speedy trial. They indicated he probably would be taken after a "show-up" appearance here to Minneapolis.

Germany Advises League Keep Out

BERLIN, Jan. 2.—(AP)—An official German news agency statement tonight suggested to the League of Nations that it give attention to he minority problems of its own members before concerning itself with how Germany treats portions of its population.

The statement, a commentary on a report of German immigration conditions by James G. McDonald, American who resigned as league high commissioner for refugees from Germany December 29, was sharply worded.

Replying to McDonald's urging that the league act to halt "persecutions" of Jews in Germany, the commentary raised the question of the condition of Germans living in other countries as minority elements.

Bearcats Get Back to Work

Sparks Has Charge While Keene in South; Hot Competition Seen

Willamette's hoop squad, its holiday over, will return to the Bearcat gymnasium today to begin practice in preparation for its pre-conference schedule that will bring it first against the Multnomah club quint January 10.

Les Sparks, freshman hoop mentor, will take charge of the team in the absence of "Spec" Keene who will probably not return from California until Sunday. Keene intended to take in the Oregon State-Southern California series at Los Angeles this weekend.

The Bearcats, who looked like comers in their first three games, still need a good deal of polishing before starting a conference race that promises to be an arduous one. Whitman, defending champion, has another fine ball club while Puget Sound, evidently hoping to go places this year, cut its holiday layoff to a minimum in order to gain experience against coast conference teams.

Center Job Filled

Keene found in Bill Anton the answer to the center problem that has bothered him for the last two years. The big Greek lad not only succeeded in getting the tip-off from Charlie Patterson, Oregon's big negro center, and Earl Conkling and Wilbur Kidder of Oregon State but showed up as a valuable point-getter in Willamette's three games.

Manning and Mosher, a veteran combination, and Gastineau and Weaver, a pair of freshmen, give the Bearcats two sharp-shooting forward combinations and it will probably be Keene's policy to alternate them throughout the season.

Guards Plentiful

While George Erickson and Charley Versteeg have seen the most action at guard so far Keene has several other good guards whom he has not yet tested. Joe Harvey, a junior, has been looking much improved this year. John Kelly, freshman from Roosevelt high of Portland, looked good in freshman games and will probably see considerable action with the varsity.

Anton leads in scoring with 18 points but is followed closely by Versteeg with 16 and Gastineau with 14. Others have scored: Mosher 11, Manning 11, Weaver 10, Erickson 9, Kelly 2 and Beard 1.

The halftime score was 24 to 12 for W. S. C. Coach Jack Friel ran in his second string, but put his regulars in again after Gonzaga drew up to within 12 points.

Captain Jack Holstine scored 12 points and starred on the floor for the Cougars. Yandle led the Gonzagans, with 9.

Spinach Puts Fight Into Those Irish

At Notre Dame; It's Favorite With South Bend Boys Who Eat 35 Bushels of It Per Meal

By ROBERT WALTON

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 2.—(AP)—The secret came out today—it's spinach that puts fight into the "Fighting Irish" of Notre Dame.

They eat it by the bushel along with more than a ton and a half of meat daily, and wash it down with a small lake of milk and coffee, said John Kilfether.

Boys Always Hungry

And Kilfether, as custodian of the larder at the world's largest boarding school, ought to know for it's his job to buy the food.

The only rest he gets is during vacations and even then he has before him the vision of 2700 returning students — every one of them hungry.

There's one thing you can always count on, he said, and that is a student's appetite.

If spinach is on the menu, it's Kilfether's job to supply the chet with 35 bushels of it. It's a universal favorite among Notre Dame students whether they're fullbacks on Coach Elmer Layden's football team or just members of the cheering section, said Kilfether.

1920 Drumsticks

But that's not all they get for dinner. If chicken is included it takes 80 dozen or 960 fowls—close to 2000 drumsticks. Kilfether said he buys about 2580 chickens a week.

Cauliflower and lettuce are also favorites with the Irish. They eat 30 crates of cauliflower and six cases of lettuce at a meal and think nothing of it.

Kilfether buys food a week ahead on a basis of 63,000 meals and his weekly order to the grocer and butcher is generally given in tons instead of pounds.

SPORT SPARKS
BY PAUL HAUSER

Football is tucked in its bed everywhere except in Hawaii now and is doing nicely, thank you. It won't be long until the hot stove league will break up and the baseball clubs will be collecting themselves down in Florida and California in preparation for the spring offensives. The Coast league, always the earliest bird in the baseball aviary, is starting a week earlier this year. In fact the Portland opening will follow right on the heels of the state basketball tournament, making no gap at all for the fans who follow the sport of the season.

Willamette's basketeers come straggling back to the fold today, although "Spec" Keene is way down south in Los Angeles acquiring a mid-winter coat of tan. By the by, we offer as a suggestion to Max Page, ham and egg prexy, that the Breakfast club be convened after "Spec's" return to hear the inside dope on the Rose Bowl game.

There's been little vacation for Salem high hoopsters. Holly Huntington has had them out every morning, working the satin pants off of them. The Vikings will play Mill City next week sometime and will probably start serious competition by swinging south to take on Medford and Ashland. The Ashland boys played here last year and Coach Don Faber has been egging the Salem boys to come on down and drink some lithia water. It is reputedly good for everything though we never had the courage to drink enough of it to find out.

If the size of the crowd that saw Curly Feldtman's fight card at the armory Wednesday and the interest it displayed in the proceedings are any indication, we believe boxing is back in Salem with something of gusto. While there may have been a few flaws here and there, it was a fine card for the first time and we didn't hear anyone say that it wasn't worth the money. Here's for more of them.

Woodburn Fans Will See First Home Game Of Bulldogs Tonight

The probable starting lineup will be Bonney and Whitman, forwards; Shaw, center; Seethoff and Racette, guards. This is the same lineup that played a fine game at West Linn about a week ago.

By ROBERT MYERS

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 2.—(AP)—Eighty-five thousand football fans replayed the Stanford-Southern Methodist Rose Bowl battle today with breathless but undiminished enthusiasm.

They skirted the ends with Stanford's All-America Bobby Grayson, led slashing interference for the Mustangs' speedy little Bobby Wilson, and plunged through the line for the lone touchdown with Bill Paulman, another great Stanford back.

Scattered around southern California, jubilant over their lone victory in three consecutive appearances in the Rose Bowl, were the Stanford Indians themselves.

Many visited their homes in this part of California, others prepared to return to Palo Alto tomorrow and Saturday.
