Ethiopians Report Notable Victories

(By the Associated Press)

Reports of military successes on both battlefronts caused Ethiopian officials to rejoice Thursday.

Addis Ababa heard that 60,000 warriors under Ras Desta Deth, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, hurled back 25,000 Somalis and 15,000 Italians when they attempted to advance west of Dolo, in the south.

An official communique said the invading northern Italian army had retreated precipitously from the region west of Makale. Rains were reported to have washed out many roads and to have added to the fascist difficulties.

Italy professed not to be perturbed because both France and Britain are going to hold fleet maneuvers in and close to the Mediterranean. It was disclosed she has troops stationed near the French border.

Office Building's Cost Mostly Paid

The State of Oregon was well on the road to being out of debt on the road to being out of debt on its new office building when it completed a $15,000 payment on the structure this week. Of the $511,137 the building cost in 1929, only $118,534 in principal remains to be paid.

Earl C. Snell, secretary of state, handled the transaction this week, making the payment to the sinking fund of the industrial accident commission which originally loaned the money to the state.

Amortization of the cost of the state agricultural building is going on steadily under the same system; the departments housed therein, like the departments in the state office building, pay rent to the state and funds from the rent amortize the principal cost of the building.

"Pocket Burglar" Suspect Queried

Vancouver officers release the man, as expected, he might be picked up in Portland and brought to Salem for grilling.

Criminal records said the Vancouver suspect has been at least twice convicted of burglary. He was said to have regularly traveled between Klamath Falls and Seattle burglarizing homes as he went. A series of burglaries in Vancouver stopped after the negro was taken into custody there, police here were told.

Kiwanians Attend Albany Gathering

Kiwanians of Salem, making a party of 25 including their wives, last night attended an inter-club meeting held at the Albany hotel when officers for five clubs in the district were formally installed. Clubs represented in addition to the host organization, were Dallas, McMinnville, Oregon City and Salem.

Walter Potter gave the address of the evening and Dr. John Manning, newly named lieutenant-governor, McMinnville, made the installation address. Glen Holmes of Albany, retiring lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis for this district, acted as toastmaster. Sheldon F. Sackett of this city is the new Kiwanis president locally.

Molester Sought

City police sought in vain last night to locate a man whom a woman feared had intentions of molesting her. She reported to police shortly after 8 p. m. that the man had followed her to her home in the 900 block on Cheme-keta street.

Flax Subsidy Has Okeh of Wallace

through a 1935 federal law, which allowed the secretary of agriculture to pay subsidies from 30 per cent of the import duties received on agricultural products coming to the nation. These monies, the law provided, could be used to stimulate production of agricultural commodities where the domestic consumption outran domestic production. Flax and its products have been heavily imported into the United States for many years, domestic production being only a small fraction of the nation's total use of flax and flax products.

The Oregon flax board considers the $10 subsidy of great benefit to farmers of this section and has suggested that the bounty be continued over 10 years with the amount diminished $1 a ton annually, with the result that in 10 years the tax production could be perfected so no subsidy would be required.

Gardner proposes specifically to sink a perforated intake pipe in the island and connect feeders to it to drain water from springs flowing from Kiphart bluff, on the south bank of the river. He contends that at least 20 second feet of water, equivalent to more than 12,000,000 gallons a day, could be depended upon from this source.

Ringleaders in CCC Disturbance Ordered Back to Homes, East

Ringleaders of the band of CCC workers from the Black Rock camp who threatened a riot in Salem police headquarters early last Sunday morning have been ordered back to their homes in Rhode Island, according to reports received by police here. A regional officer of the CCC was reported to have visited the camp early this week.

Trial of C. M. Kinney, the youth whose arrest started the trouble, is scheduled for 10 a. m. Saturday in municipal court here. He faces a charge of drunkenness.

Burgess Reports Upon Arrival in Washington

Salem's representative at the federal bureau of investigation police training school at Washington, D. C., Patrolman Louis A. Burgess of the city force, arrived in the national capital last Friday night and spent Saturday and Sunday visiting the various federal buildings, according to a card received here yesterday. He will be in attendance at the school for three months.

tion of what its action would be. Similar hearings are to be held today at Corvallis and Saturday at Eugene.

General Acceptance of Plan Noticeable
Members of the board, at the conclusion of the hearing, told producers and distributors that their sole aim had been to deal fairly with all classes—producers, processors, distributors and the public. In recent months there has been less criticism of control and more willingness to accept the principles of state fixing of milk prices, board members said.

The board recently refused to advance milk prices in the Portland area.

Rehabilitation of Farmer Is Sought

Every effort is being made to assist all Marion and Polk county farm families who have been forced on relief or whose credit facilities have been exhausted, announces T. R. Hobart, local rehabilitation supervisor, resettlement administration, 409 Oregon Building. Many families have already received agricultural production assistance and applications of other eligible families on potentially productive farms will be given immediate attention.

"Rehabilitation is not relief," Hobart said. "It is a plan to place farmers who have been unduly affected by low farm prices of past years and unexpected reverses to regain a self-supporting basis through adjustment of their debts, setting up a profitable farm plan and supplying a loan for capital goods necessary to make the farm going concern."

Where no credit adjustment or farm plan is necessary, loans for the necessary capital goods such as livestock, seed, feed and equipment can be made in a short time.

Bayliss Reelected By Creamery Men

The Oregon Creamery Manufacturers association reelected E. J. Bayliss, Sheridan, president, at its annual meeting at the Quelle here Wednesday noon. Other officers chosen are: Vice-president, E. L. Martindale, Swift and company; treasurer, O. G. Simpson, Clear Creek creamery; secretary, G. M. Hafenbrack, Portland; directors in addition to officers, John Crawford, Marion Creamery and Poultry company of Salem, and N. L. Kercham, Oregon City creamery.

The creamery men voted to hold their next meeting in conjunction with the Pacific Coast Produce Distributors convention in Portland next month.

Speakers at the meeting here included Dean W. A. Schoenfeld of Oregon State college, who traced agricultural developments since the world war, and J. D. Mickle of the dairy and foods division of the state department of agriculture.

Hop Contract Is Basis For Action

Alleging that the firm to which he had sold his 1935 hop crop, refused to accept the hops although they met the requirements of the contract, Harry Tautfest filed his answer yesterday to the previously filed complaint of Otto Seidenburg, Inc., plaintiff.

Tautfest said he offered the hops to the plaintiff who did not fulfill his contract and purchase them. Thereafter, with due notice to the plaintiff, Tautfest said he auctioned off the hops. One lot brought $2560 and another $1451, the contracted prices for the two lots being respectively $6401 and $3991. Defendant asks the court to grant him judgment for the contracted price, applying thereto advances made by plaintiff to the defendant together with the proceeds of the sale of the hops at auction. Tautfest proffered $119 in court to square his obligations with the plaintiff.

"LITTLE COLONEL" OPPOSED AS MILITARISTIC

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 9.—(P)—The Y. M. C. A. council adopted a resolution today opposing "popularization of militarism" through the election of a "little colonel" for the military ball Saturday. The "little colonel" is a co-ed named by the University of Oregon student body to be guest of honor at the Scabbard and Blade ball, William Paddock, Portland, chairman of the ball, said the resolution was "absurd."

KLAMATH LACKS RELIEF FUNDS, SEEKS AID

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Jan. 9.—(P)—County court members went to Portland today to confer with State Relief Administrator Elmer Goudy, while scores of citizens crowded into relief headquarters here for funds. All but $1,980 of the January direct relief budget of $7,100 has been spent, local relief headquarters said. Relief aides said about 200 persons on direct relief would be on WPA if the latter's regulations did not disqualify them.

SPEED PROBLEM OUTLINED BY HUNTER

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 9.—(P)—Students must prepare themselves to fit into a world constantly increasing speed, Chancellor Frederick M. Hunter told the 2,500 University of Oregon winter term students today. He said students have a "great opportunity for a career and a life of service, but at the same time fulfillment of ambition and ideals is a great challenge."

One of Oregon's Oldest Twins Is Called by Death

ALBANY, Jan. 9.—Funeral services for Aiden Stewart Hulbert who died Tuesday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Earl Shearer near Shedd were held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. H. H. Hubbell, pastor of the Albany Interdenominat (10 a. i. church, and Rev. J. Merle Applegate of Los Angeles, were in charge of the services. Burial was in the Orleans cemetery.

Aiden Hulbert and a twin brother, Austin, were born in Albany on October 27, 1853, to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jared Hulbert, having arrived here just the day previous from Illinois. Mr. Hulbert has spent his entire life in Linn county, the early years of which were spent in farming and dairying. The last few years he had lived in Albany. His death followed a prolonged illness.

Mr. Hulbert was a charter member of Western Star lodge and also a silver star member of the same.

On September 21, 1876, Mr. Hulbert married Emma Underhill of Albany, and she with five children survived. The children are R. A. Hulbert of Albany, Mrs. Lillis Westcott and Mrs. W. S. Hense of Tangent, Mrs. Earl Shearer of Shedd and Lloyd A. Hulbert of Independence. His twin brother, Austin Hulbert, mitted to the hospital here from Lane county in 1918 under the name of Alfred Hadley. The commitment under which he was serving when he escaped, came from Lincoln county, August 3, 1933.

Bowen has a long record of escapes. He is said to have freed himself from asylums in Nebraska, Washington, Iowa and Oregon. His prison record included terms in San Quentin, Mare Island naval prison, the Wisconsin penitentiary. Bowen was known as a persistent prisoner of bad checks. Local hospital officials said Bowen was a dangerous character and warned citizens against him after his escape.

Property Sold by Sheriff Redeemed

Zella Nelson yesterday redeemed property sold within the past year by the sheriff by paying $2431 for seven acres of land in this county. County officials said redemption of property sold by the sheriff's office was unusual although the redemption right is zealously guarded by the courts and by legislative bodies. Ten per cent interest accrued on the purchase of a $2311 judgment.

The property had been sold in the case of D. A. Hoag and others against Marie L. Hunt and others.
