Riggi Knocks Out Beebe in Sixth; Hayes Beats Tiny Cooper

Brooks Youth Looks Better

Gaining Ring Generalship; Hubbard Fighter Goes Out in 2nd Round

Frank Riggi used a short left to the jaw last night to prove to Earl Beebe that if anybody is going to claim the heavyweight championship of Oregon it won't Riggi, the 186 pound Italian fighter from Brooks, climaxed a main event that was his all the way by letting Beebe, 190 pounder from Woodland, Wash., have a final taste of powerful left that was good for a decisive knockout in the sixth round. Beebe had had the left on his chin and badly cauliflowered ear plenty before that but Riggi put all his body in the punch that finally laid the stocky Washington boy among the daisies. He stayed among the daisies about five minutes before he groggily came to. Riggi, showing greatly improved ring generalship and punching heavily, rarely swinging, with hard rights and lefts, carried the fight right to Beebe's door right from the start. Knockdowns Frequent

The first round - was only a shade in Riggi's favor as the two heavies felt each other out but in the second the Italian opened up a fast and furious attack that had Beebe on his knees once in every round but one after that. Raining right and left hooks to Beebe's head and throwing in an occasional uppercut in the clinches Riggi had the Washington fighter breathless and groggy in the fourth. He had difficulty in putting him in cold storage immediately, however as Beebe showed a tremendous ability to stand up under Riggi's powerhouse blows.

In the fifth Beebe started a short lived comeback and got in a few good blows pefore Piggi backed away and let him have it some more. The sixth was short and snappy, Riggi going to work with a purpose and pounding Beebe about the ring with a shower of blows before pulling out the left jab ticketed for the knockout.

Hayes Stops Cooper Wes Hayes, 180 pound negro boxer from Portland, showed speed and cleverness in winning the first section of the double main event with a knockout blow in the second round of his fight with Tiny Cooper, 181 pound Hubbard fighter. The punch that put Cooper out for the count was so fast many fans didn't see anything but Cooper falling to the canvas with a thud. The blow that the Hubbard boy walked into was a right cross, following up a hard left to the head.

Kid Thornley, 134, Silverton, took a decision from Melvin Sorrell, 138, Salem, in the sixth round semi-final. Thornley was the aggressor most of the time in a fight that saw lots of leather thrown. Fans booed when the referee, confusing the names of the two fighters, first announced the decision of the judges as for

Gridiron Scoring Changes Opposed

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.-(AP)-A rousing chorus of "noes" today greeted the proposal for a new football scoring system involving the abolishment of the try for extra point, the award of a point for each first down and a five minute overtime period to break ties.

Football coaches in all parts of the country, polled by the Associated Press, vetoed the idea with emphasis and by a 9 to 1 margin. Their opposition to other proposed rules changes, including return of the goal post to the goal line was less pronounced.

Judging from current reaction, there is no chance whatever that the rules-makers will tinker with the scoring system when they go into annual session at Palm Springs, California, February 14. Coaches for the most part ridiculed the scoring proposal and insisted it would rob the game of its present-day thrills by putting emphasis again on the old "rock 'em and sock 'em" style of play.

Thus, Louis, most murderous puncher since the days of Jack | six foot three inch frame virtu-Dempsey, scored his 23d knock- ally paralyzed by the punches about. Retzlaff had to be helped to his corner.

Retzlaff walked fearlessly into Louis as the bell rang and threw the first punch, a light left to the head that missed. Louis stuck a light left to the face and then the lanky North Dakotan landed the first hard punch, cracking Louis with a right to the head

The blow just missed the chin and caused a sneer to creep over Keeps Boring In

The crowd was in a tremendous uproar at the courage displayed by Retzlaff. Louis drove a right to the head that was high, and then Retzlaff drove three rights to the body. The bold Retzlaff continued the attack, driving two rights to the head, forcing Louis to the ropes.

As Louis moved to the center of the ring, he apparently had decided to take no chances. He drilled a smashing left hook to the chin that floored Retzlaff. The North Dakotan started to get up at the count of three and then fell back. He got to his feet at the count of seven, but his legs were rubbery and he was badly hurt. Losis, seeing his foe in distress, tore after him in a terrific attack to the head and body. Retzlaff backed into the ropes, but could not escape the terrific punches of the relentless Louis.

29-27; Orange Holds Lead at Halftime But Rally Staged by Webfoots

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 17-(A)-The University of Oregon Webfoots edged out a 29 to 27 victory tonight over Oregon State college, champions of the northern division of the Pacific Coast basketball conference. The defeat was Oregon State's first of the 1936 conference season.

The victory left Oregon in possession of the top rung in the northern division for the current schedule. Both teams previously defeated the University of Idaho twice in their only other conference starts.

An attendance of 7514 persons, the largest crowd to witness a basketball game in this city, was recorded at tonight's contest.

Miss Early Shots The tall Webfoots, doped to lose a close one, missed many shots early in the game and trailed at half-time 17 to 14. The Beavers fed the ball to Folen under the basket for frequent tallies but later in the game the Webfoots covered up to halt the close-in play.

Frequent fouls featured the hard-fought battle. Neither team was more than two points ahead during most of the latter half and the outcome was in doubt to the final gun. Folen, Beaver guard, was high scorer with 14- points. Howell, Webfoot forward, was high for the winners with 9 points. Oregon State tossed in more field goals than Oregon but lost on free-throw points.
