

Louis Plans Rest Till Max Is Met

Gastagna Bout Abandoned as "Embalmer" Talks Honeymoon Trip

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—(AP)—No more chias for Joe Louis to smash until he meets the beetle-browed Max Schmeling in New York next June.

This was definitely decided tonight as plans for the brown "Embalmer" to appear in Detroit in a match with Isidore Gastagna were dropped. Promoter Mike Jacobs and Louis' co-managers, Julian Black and John Roxborough, agreed that Louis received a rest and that he should have it.

Consequently Louis became immediately concerned over a belated honeymoon trip to Honolulu with the Philippines with his bride. He is planning a two-months' voyage, after spending two weeks at home with his mother, who is ill, in Detroit.

Cash Receipts High

Louis fingered a bank roll of $23,669.28, his share of the gross gate of $48,737.62 for registering his 23rd knockout in tagging his new law Charley Retzlaff in one minute and 25 seconds in the Chicago stadium last night.

Retzlaff, making no mention of retiring, found solace in a check for $9,803.16. Long lean Charley, homesick for his wife and three children, left tonight for his ranch near Leonard, N. D. He probably never again will fight the brown genius who bowled him over, but he wants to nevertheless.

"I guess everybody is satisfied now that I wasn't afraid of that fellow," Retzlaff said.

Independence Too Much For Airlie

Bridge Olympic Set February 4

All local bridge players are being invited by George Ketchum, Elks contract bridge director, to participate in the fifth annual world bridge olympic, to be held throughout the entire world Tuesday, February 4, at 8:01 p. m. Ketchum is to be game captain for this city.

The world bridge olympic is regarded as the most unique and interesting event in bridge activities. Last year 65 different countries were represented among the 200,000 people who played the same 16 hands at the same hour and the same minute.

This year's hands have been selected by 22 of America's foremost bridge players. For each of the 16 hands these master minds of contract bridge have decided correct bidding and play, and if a player reaches the correct final contract, and plays his cards correctly, he has scored a par. Players do not compete against opponents, or they of the 200,000 entries in the event, but against a par result. Past Olympics have proved that it is impossible for anyone, whether a skilled player or a beginner, to play these hands without improving his game.

Word was received here yesterday by Governor Charles H. Martin that Dan C. Roper, secretary of commerce, had named J. B. Weaver, director of the federal bureau of navigation and steamboat inspection, as investigator of the recent sinking of the steamer Iowa off Astoria last Sunday morning. Governor Martin asked that the investigation be made. Weaver left for the west yesterday.

Natural Resource Conference Looms

Governor Martin yesterday announced that a conference for the conservation of natural resources could be held in Portland Sunday, January 26, under the direction of the United States junior chamber of commerce and its affiliated state and local groups. The meeting was called by Worth W. Caldwell, state chairman.

Governor Martin said the purpose of the meeting was the organization of an Oregon council for the conservation of natural resources. He urged that representatives of the state game commission, state police, hunters and anglers organizations, chambers of commerce and state motor association attend.

Tax Collectors of Oregon Meet Here

Tax collectors from all parts of the state met here yesterday with the state tax department. Discussion centered on the new revision of back tax interest provided current taxes are paid. This provision was set up by the 1935 special session of the legislature.

The majority of collectors said the new law had not been in force for a sufficiently long period to enable them to tell how the new provision would affect tax payments.

Some collectors reported a slowing down of payments since interest was waived on back taxes. Many counties in the state have foreclosed on property long delinquent.

Winston Williams and Dorothy Keaton Named Mask, Dagger Pledges

Miss Dorothy Keaton, a former Willamette university student, and Winston Williams, both of whom are well known in Salem, were pledged to the Mask and Dagger Dramatic club at Oregon State here last night.

Mr. Williams gave an excellent characterization as "Puffy" in their biggest production of the year, "The Poor of New York," a five-act melodrama that was presented at a local theatre before a full house last night.
