Entire Church Property at 'Green Bought by Japanese Congregation; Remodeling Program Is in Offing

HAZEL GREEN, Jan. 18—The Salem Japanese congregation has bought the Hazel Green United Brethren church property for $900. The property includes church house, five-room parsonage, fruit house, woodshed, barn used as garage and an acre of land located 2.5 miles northeast of Chemawa corners, one half mile from Hazel Green park.

The purchasers are planning to remodel the buildings soon. The church was closed last September, the congregation uniting with the Salem Englewood United Brethren church.

Church 33 Years Old

The church grew out of a Sunday school organized October 11, 1902, by Dr. W. C. Kanter, Congregational church and Rev. Bertha M. Peoples, United Brethren, at a time when the two groups were considering union. Dr. Kanter had been preaching occasionally since 1898 in the schoolhouse. March 25 the class was organized at the schoolhouse with seven members. The denominations represented were: Rev. Bertha M. Peoples, United Brethren; C. M. Peoples, Baptist; D. R. Peterson, Congregational; C. L. May, Hestly Wolf and Charles Alexander, Methodist; Margery May, Presbyterian. A half acre of ground was bought in fall of 1903, the land had been covered with tall trees 175 to 200 feet high. A sawmill had located there the summer of 1902 to cut the bulk of the trees to pile for the Polk-Marion bridge at Salem.
