

Elliott Still Pursues Villain; to Oppose Chambers Tonight

Cleanies Have 'Hobo' on Pan

Referee Hopes to Keep Up Good Work Started by Clingman Last Week

Whether Harry Elliott, blond hero of many tussles, will again be subjugated by the black-faced villain Hobo Chambers is a question that will be answered for Salem wrestling fans when the two meet tonight in the main event of the American Legion's mat exhibition.

Elliott has met defeat and chagrin at the hands of the mustached little whirlwind from nowhere on two previous occasions, once as an official and once as a grappler. Chambers tossed Elliott, acting as arbiter, out of the ring on his first appearance here and the youthful blond was unable to finish his official duties. He challenged Chambers to meet him in the following week but again lost out.

Elliott Determined Elliott, who knows scientific wrestling well enough to be able to coach it at the University of Oregon, has determined not to be taken this time by the wily tricks of the villainous Chambers. Chambers met defeat for the first time in the local arena last week when Otis Clingman, also previously vanquished by the Hobo, took the deciding fall from him.

Jack Curtis, formerly popular with mat fans here, will wrestle Bud Lipscomb in the 45 minute semi-windup. Lipscomb, who hails from St. Louis, Missouri, is one of the raw meat and has no mercy in the ring. Curtis is a master of clean and clever wrestling and has usually been able to cope with the worst villains without too much exertion.

Otis Clingman, the Oklahoma Admiral, will meet Dick Costello, the Serbian villain, in the 30 minute opener which will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Bearcat Schedule For '36 Complete

No San Jose Game; Pilots May Be Added; Six Games at Home

Willamette university will not meet San Jose State college in football in 1936. "Spec" Keene announced yesterday after receipt of a letter from Coach Bud DeGroot of San Jose stating that the dates offered by Willamette were unacceptable.

Willamette's schedule will probably remain as it now stands with nine games, six of them at home. It is possible, however, that a game will be scheduled with the University of Portland.

The schedule, as it stands, is one of the best arranged by Willamette in many years. In addition to five Northwest conference games to be played at home the strong University of Nevada eleven will be brought here. Two long trips will break the monotony for the squad, one to Caldwell to meet College of Idaho in a conference game and one to Fresno, California, for an engagement with Fresno State college. The Bearcats will again meet Oregon State at Corvallis.

Albany Here First The schedule follows: Sept. 25—Albany college at Salem. Oct. 3—Oregon State at Corvallis. Oct. 9—University of Nevada at Salem. Oct. 16—College of Idaho at Caldwell. Oct. 21—Linfield at Salem. Oct. 21—College of Puget Sound at Salem. Nov. 7—Fresno State at Fresno. Nov. 11—Open. Nov. 20—Pacific at Salem. Nov. 26—Whitman at Salem.

Oregon State and Cougars to Clash

PULLMAN, Jan. 20—(AP)—Coach Jack Friel will throw all the weight strength of his Washington State basketball squad against Oregon State in the two-game series starting tomorrow night.

He plans to start Capt. Jack Holstine, center; Frank Hooper and Bill Dahke, guards. Holstine, Hooper and Dahke are experienced lettermen. Nelson is a normal school transfer, and the chief scorer of the 1935 team. Friel shifted Dahke from forward to guard to increase defensive strength. He was satisfied after the test against Gonzaga last week.

Oregon State, the defending northern division champion, will meet Idaho at Moscow Friday and Saturday nights.

Wool-Paper Mill Clash Headliner

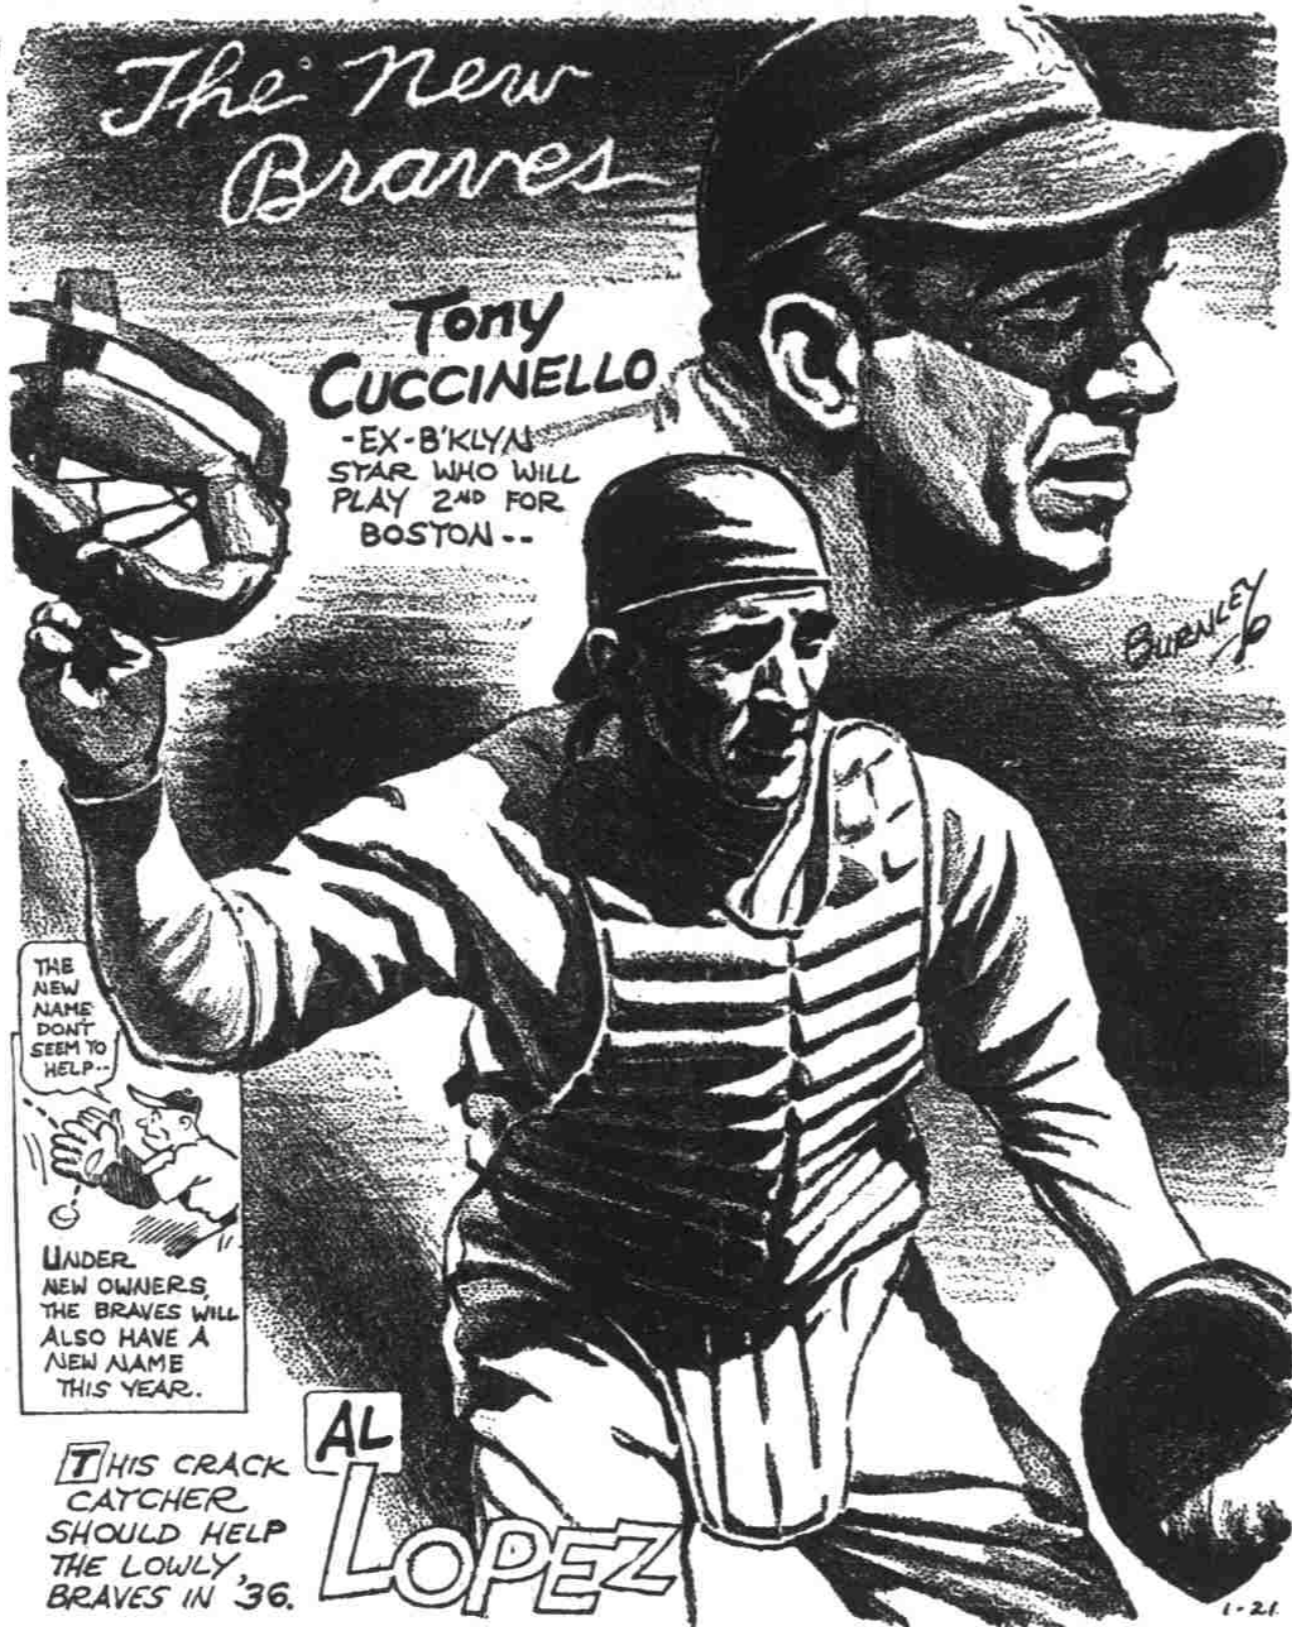

The Kay Mill-Oregon Paper mill basketball clash in the midway game of tonight's City Y minor division triple-header is expected to provide most of the action of tonight's program on the Parrish junior high floor.

Kay Mill is undefeated and tied with Dutch Mill for the league lead while the Paper mill quit has developed rapidly in the past two weeks. The game will be played at 8 o'clock.

Other minor division games bring together Liberty and Producers at 7 o'clock and Dutch Mill and Delolay at 9 o'clock.

New Faces on the New Braves

UNDER NEW OWNERS THE BRAVES WILL ALSO HAVE A NEW NAME THIS YEAR.

AL LOPEZ

ONE of the most important National League trades of the off-season was the rather elaborate swap engineered between two more or less futile teams, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Boston Braves.

The Dodgers received Randy Moore and Ed Brandt in exchange for four players: Al Lopez, Tony Cuccinello, Ray Benge and Bobby Reis.

It would certainly seem that the Braves got a break as far as this exchange is concerned, for the departing players, Brandt and Moore, were anything but sensational last season, while in Al Lopez they are getting one of the best back-stops in the senior loop; while Tony Cuccinello is a capable infielder who should strengthen the Boston team's inner defense.

Young Bobby Reis may develop into a first-class pitcher with more experience, having only recently been switched from an infielder into a moundman.

The lowly Boston outfit, which almost went literally to the dogs last spring, when Judge Fuchs threatened to turn the Braves' field into a site for greyhound races, will be under new ownership this season, with the starwhite Red Sox magnate, Bob Quinn, at the helm.

The genial Bob has decided to revamp the team entirely, and is even going to scrap the name of Braves, having announced that he will hold a contest to decide on a new name for the Beantown outfit.

However, the fans won't worry about a new name as long as the team displays a new brand of baseball.

SPORT SPARKS BY PAUL HAUSER

We humbly suggest that the citizens of Salem leave their cozy firesides tonight and come with all their kith and kin to the Salem high gymnasium. There the Salem high Vikings, a good and a fighting basketball team, will be playing the University of Oregon Ducklings. The Ducklings are coached by "Honest John" Warren of Fighting Fishermen fame and his name means basketball of a rip-roarin', rarin', tearin' variety.

For a high school that has nigh

Hobo Raises Hob

Hobo Chambers, mat villain extraordinary, who will meet Harry Elliott in a return engagement as the main event fare of the American Legion wrestling club at the armory tonight. Chambers defeated Elliott in a previous match.

into 1600 students, Salem high's gymnasium is very sparsely equipped for a crowd of spectators. Perhaps that is the reason but even with its inadequacies we've never seen that gymnasium needing the S.R.O. sign. Salem has the reputation of being a hot basketball town but the corporal's guards that turn out for games at Salem high and Willamette give that rep the lie.

When a school has over 1500 students and the seating capacity of its gymnasium is probably less than 800 you'd think there'd be no room for outsiders. In fact, Salem students apparently don't give a darn whether their team wins, loses or comes down with chickenpox. We'll wager more students attend games at some little high school whose student body could be lost in Salem high without a trace.

Yes, Salem, with the state basketball tournament, is a hot basketball town. The trouble is it gets hot over basketball that one week in the year and then subsides into don't-give-a-hang lethargy until another March. There's no other town in the state that supports its home teams with less vigor. At Medford and Ashland, when the Vikings played there recently, they thought the whole population of either town was on the sidelines cheering the home town boys.

When it comes to drawing pretty blueprints of gymnasiums we don't have much trust in architects. They always want to make a gymnasium into a convertible (even a child can work it) theater, sideshow, kitchen, d a c e hall, auditorium and fire escape. But we hope to high heaven the architects have done right by the gymnasium on the new Salem high building. We hope there'll be adequate seating capacity and room enough around the edges. We hope that if it has the seating capacity the crowds will turn out to fill the empty seats.

The final touch on Dick Weisgerber's much publicized offer from the Philadelphia football club of the National professional league came yesterday. It was an apologetic letter from J. R. Ludlow Wray, president of the Philadelphia club, telling "Spec" Keene that it was all a mistake. Wray wrote: "I assure you it was a mistake on our part, as we thought that Weisgerber was a senior, for the league rule prohibits us from approaching a man whose class does not graduate this June."

First Period Gym Five Wins Opener

Captain Davis' team, champions of the first period gym class at Salem high, opened Captain Hill's team, second period champs, in the first game of the intergym playoff yesterday by a 34 to 14 score.

Four teams, the others being captained by Maerz and Johnson, survived league play to play in the championship from a field of 50 teams in 14 leagues. More than 350 boys took part in the league play, a regular part of the Salem high gymnasium program conducted by Vernon Gilmore.

Captain Maerz' fifth period champs will meet Captain Johnson's third period winners in today's contest. The winner will meet the first period champions for the gym championship.

Score 38-25 Despite Good Rally by Bearcats in Closing Minutes

INDEPENDENCE, Jan. 20 — (Special) — Oregon Normal's streamlined Wolves sped ahead in the last half to beat "Spec" Keene's Bearcat quintet 38 to 25 here tonight despite a desperate rally staged by the Bearcats in the last six minutes of play.

Oregon Normal, led by towering Jack Butterworth, got the jump on the Bearcats in the opening minutes of the second half and the Bearcats never quite recovered. After a neck-and-neck first half that saw the lead change momentarily, Oregon Normal led 14 to 11 at the half. The Wolves came back strong in the second half and held an 18 to 11 advantage before the Bearcats could get underway, a lead they increased to 22 to 12 before six minutes of the last period were gone.

Coach Cox's Wolves, victors over the Bearcats for the fourth straight time in two years, led 34 to 18 when 13 minutes had gone in the last half and Keene, seeing defeat, sent in an entire new team. It failed to accomplish anything and with six minutes left to go he put the varsity back in the game. The varsity rallied and brought the Bearcat score up but could not overtake the galloping Wolves.

Gastineau Jumps Gerald Gastineau, playing at center while his team-mate Bill Anton sat with his crutches on the sidelines and viewed the game as a spectator, turned in the finest individual performance for Willamette. During the first half he did a great job of checking the sure fire Butterworth, holding him to four points, and took high scoring honors for the Bearcats with six field goals. Butterworth with 15 points was high scorer.

The Bearcat reserves softened defeat somewhat when they took a 28 to 18 victory over the Normal reserves in a rough contest. Twenty-six personal fouls were called, 16 of them on the Normal reserves. Dwight Aden, scoring eight points, was outstanding.

Cinder Track at Olinger Planned

A quarter mile track will be developed on Olinger field, within the next few months through use of 15 workmen employed by the National Youth administration, it was announced yesterday by School Superintendent S. Gaiser and Vernon Gilmore, director of physical education and track coach. Gilmore said foundation work for the oval probably would be completed before the coming spring's track season is over.

An effort will be made, Gaiser said, to obtain enough cinders to cushion the track, next year if not this season. The oval will encircle the football field.

The NYA crew, with eight men now on the job, also is removing fencing at the north end of the field to make way for construction of the new high school.

DALLAS, Jan. 20. — The West Linn Lions edged out Silverton high at West Linn Friday in a torrid game 29 to 27 to take undisputed leadership of the Willamette Valley league. A field goal by Rauch in the last minute of play won the game for West Linn and left it as the only undefeated team in the circuit.

Silverton beat Canby 31 to 5 Tuesday and West Linn won from Dallas 31 to 24 in contests that set the stage for Friday's game. Newberg and Molalla both defeated Woodburn in their only games of the week to remain knotted for third place. The Dallas-Canby cellar tilt originally scheduled for Friday has been postponed until February.

This week the clubs hit the halfway mark in the schedule and there still four quintets in the running for the title. West Linn puays Canby Tuesday and Silverton travels to Dallas. Another game finds Molalla and Newberg fighting for third place. The same teams play again Friday night. Woodburn will be idle all week.

Joe Kyeek, Newberg forward, still holds the lead in scoring with 12 points against Woodburn. He has 45 points in five games. His average to date is about the same maintained by his former teammate Harold Lane who took the individual scoring title last year with 137 points in 14 games.

Will Stop Leaks From Ball Parks

CHICAGO, Jan. 20. — (AP) — A vigorous campaign to stamp out unauthorized dissemination of accounts of baseball games from major league parks has been started, President Will Harridge of the American league said today.

Details of the drive, aimed at radio stations which have followed the practice of "pirating" play-by-play accounts of games, include a decision by major league clubs to have printed on the back of every ticket a paragraph advising the holder that admittance to the park does not include the privilege of sending out accounts of a game. Detection will mean immediate dismissal from the park.

Clubs which do not permit broadcasting of accounts of games and those which charge for broadcasting privileges, are behind the campaign. Baseball writers will be pledged not to send out accounts of games except to their own newspapers.

Brouillard Fouts And Loses Chance

PARIS, Jan. 20. — (AP) — Lou Brouillard's bid for the world's middleweight boxing championship failed tonight when the Worcester, Mass., veteran was disqualified in the fourth round of his scheduled 15-round bout with Marcel Thil of France, generally recognized as king of the division.

Brouillard, former holder of the welterweight crown and one-time claimant of a share in the middleweight title, was warned twice in the third round for hitting low. In the fourth he floored the Frenchman with another low punch and the referee immediately awarded the fight to Thil. The champion had a slight advantage in the weights, at 158 1/2 pounds against 154 1/2 by Brouillard.
