One Meanie Assigned For Each Contest Tonight Upon Armory Mat

Intent on making himself a yellow peril as far as all mat villains are concerned, Don Sugai will take on his third ruffian in a row tonight when he clashes with Dick Costello, the New York Syrian, in the one hour attraction of Herb Owen's grappling exhibition at the armory

The stocky Salem Japanese boy has subdued Jean LaBelle and Hobo Chambers, both thoroughgoing villains, in his two previous main event appearances here. Sugai predicts that the swarthy Costello will go the same route.

Sugai's flying dropkick, a remnant of his football days improved for the grappling arena, has stood him in good stead in downing other villains and he intends to give the grizzly from Gotham a good sample of the power of his twink-Plenty of Villains

More rough stuff is expected in the 45 minute event in which Jack Curtiss, clever Mississippi wrestler, meets Jack Lipscomb, ruffianly Indianan. Lipscomb is a rascal of the old school and has more mat tricks than you can shake a grappler at.

The quick-witted Ernie Piluso, inventor of funny if unworkable holds, will tangle with another villain, Herb Burgeson, in the 30 minute opener which starts at

John Warren's fast-traveling freshmen defeated Salem 43 to 26 here several weeks ago with towering Laddy Gale, the Oakridge phenom, and Wally Johansen, former Astoria high flash, doing the heavy scoring. The Vikings will be intent tonight upon bottling up the two dead-eye Ducklings and, after winning over Astoria Saturday, hope to come out better than before. Pick Same Bunch

Coach Hollis Huntington will start "the same old gang" that has carried the Viking banner through 19 games already this season. Phil Salstrom, who dazzled Astoria by scoring 17 points, and Otto Skopil, who did pretty well with 10, will start at forwards with Wagner, Williams and Luther making up the comple-ment. "Gec" Quesseth, reserve who sees the most service, will probably not get to play due to a pulled arm muscle.

The game scheduled with Hood River has been called off because of a conflict with Hood River's elimination series with The Dalles. The Vikings will meet "Skeet" O'Connell's Woodburn Bulldogs at Woodburn Friday instead.
