

Governor's Salary Question Laid Before State Supreme Justices

Jory's Appeal Plea Is Heard

Contents Constitution Is Definite Limit at $1500 Figure

The much-debated question of whether the governor of Oregon may receive more than $1500 a year salary as set in the constitution of the state, was squarely before the state supreme court last night after arguments on both sides were presented in the case of Ed Jory vs. Snell. Jory, Marion county taxpayer, sought to enjoin Secretary of State Snell from paying Governor Martin more than the constitutional sum. The case was first heard before Judge L. G. Lewelling, who ruled against Jory. The latter appealed.

Alden Pleads Case
Rodney Alden, Woodburn publisher, who appeared for Jory, insisted the state constitution meant what it said—that $1500 was the full constitutional amount which could be paid the state annually to the governor.

Ralph E. Moody, representing the state, traced the history of the constitutional convention and declared that the founders of the state had not intended to set a limit on the governor's salary. He alleged that all questions raised by Jory had been previously settled in a suit involving salary increases for members of the supreme court.

Court on Banc
The court sat en banc for the hearings. Governor Martin and Secretary Snell were interested listeners. If the contention of Jory were sustained, the state treasurer would be cut to $800 and the secretary of state to $1500 a year.
At the present time Governor Martin receives $7500 annually, less a 27 per cent reduction voted by the 1935 legislature.

Supreme court members receive $7500 annually without deduction. Provision for increasing their salaries has been made by amendment to the state constitution.

Sociology Confab Looms at Eugene

Community leaders, mining experts, city and other government officials, chamber of commerce secretaries, and citizens interested in community recreation, social security, rural land zoning, stream purification and other projects will gather on the campus of the University of Oregon at Eugene March 19 to 21 for the annual Commonwealth conference. It was announced here today by Dr. P. A. Parsons, head of the department of sociology, general chairman.

City officials and civic leaders of Salem have been invited to attend, and any interested citizens from here are welcome at any of the sessions, it is stated.

Bonsall Closes Conference Here
An address by Dr. E. H. Bonsall of Philadelphia featured the closing meeting of "Christian Youth in Council" at the First Presbyterian church last night. In the afternoon Dr. Bonsall met with executives of young people's church groups for a discussion session at which problems of youth in relation to the church were considered. Last night he talked at a general meeting on "Christian Youth Building a New World."
"We must build a Christian world at the same time we are building people to live in it," declared Dr. Bonsall, who is national director of young people's work in Christian churches. Points he emphasized were to capture fellowship in the church and to hold loyalties there, to develop new spiritual attitudes particularly toward money and morals, to cultivate intellectual integrity, and to let brains rather than physical nature control actions.
Presiding at the evening meeting was Miss Vivian Milligan. Phil Barrett, Jr., was organist and Miss Gwen Gallaher directed the Girls Reserve chorus in a spiritual. Miss Arlene Shoseth played the offertory.

Measles and Flu Felt by Schools
Measles and an epidemic of influenza has taken a toll in school attendance throughout the county this week, it was reported yesterday at the courthouse. In many schools one-third to one-half of the pupils are ill and at home. The Union Hill school closed for a day early this week due to the illness of such a large percentage of pupils that further classroom work was not practical. The Silver Cliff school closed for a day Tuesday when the teacher was too ill for work.

Southern Pacific Expansion Paying

Average employment on Southern Pacific's Pacific lines, serving six western states, has increased 10 per cent over the same period of last year, 3200 employees having been added to the company's rolls since that time.
This was announced today by A. D. McDonald, president, reporting results of the railroad's far-reaching improvement and expansion program, undertaken early in 1935 and now well under way.

The payroll increase based on average employment in January, 1936, as compared with the same period last year, McDonald said, amounts to about $9,725,000 a year or nearly 18 per cent.

Establishment of new train service, both freight and passenger, together with air-conditioning and modernizing of passenger equipment, has been chiefly responsible for the substantial increase in the company's forces.

More than 1,000,000 passenger train miles have been added to the company's annual operations since January 1, this year, with an accompanying increase of $820,000 in operating expenses, according to the announcement.

"I wanted more leisure"
said Mrs. Nils Henrikson, 4904 N.E. 25th Avenue, Portland
"so we installed an all-electric kitchen"

Mrs. Henrikson is interested in club and lodge work, so in order to save steps and energy at home she installed a complete staff of electrical servants: Electric range, refrigerator and automatic electric hot water system. "Now I can prepare better meals quickly and keep the kitchen neat and clean with scarcely any effort at all," says Mrs. Henrikson.

Here's a luxury that actually saves money for you

JUST add up the economies created by an all-electric kitchen, and you'll quickly see why thousands are modernizing—electrifying—their kitchens. Greater cleanliness saves redecorating costs. Foods retain more nutritive value and flavor when cooked electrically. With refrigeration you may buy perishable foods at quantity bargain prices—and you may prepare tasty dishes from otherwise wasted left-overs. Yet operating costs of a complete electric kitchen are as low—often lower—than other methods!

One naturally thinks of time and labor saving devices as luxuries. That is the impression some get from hearing friends tell about the wonderful healthfulness, cleanliness and convenience of electrical servants in the kitchen. But actually here is a luxury that is an economy!

SO EASY TO MODERNIZE YOUR KITCHEN NOW
Many electrical dealers are equipped to help you PLAN the modernizing of your kitchen. They can help you finance its immediate installation through an F.H.A. loan. Or you can have just the kitchen you want by adding one unit at a time (on easy monthly payments) until your Dream Kitchen is a reality.

YOUR MODERN KITCHEN will include:

- an electric range Means more beautiful cookery, a cleaner, cooler kitchen, more leisure, and dependable accuracy and safety.
- an electric refrigerator For your family's health, electric refrigeration economizes by enabling you to purchase perishable foods in quantities, and prepare tempting dishes from left-overs.
- Automatic Electric Hot Water Automatically keeps hot water on tap 24 hours of the day. No more troublesome "run-on, run-off" water heating. Wonderful convenience, plus added healthfulness and economy.
- an Electric Dish Washer Now perfected—sterilizes every dish as it washes and dries it. In addition it also saves you 40 eight-hour wash days each year over a month of added leisure!
- a Corps of Smaller Servants A Mixer will save energy; a mangle more delicious coffee; an electric fan will ventilate and cool your kitchen; a toaster and coffee maker are indispensable. Good lighting is vital. And scores of other women enjoy special kitchen radiators.
