Sheep Thefts Solved; Three Men Arrested

Brothers, Former Dayton Residents Held; 171 Head are Traced

Delay in Reporting Made Solution Difficult is Report of Police

Two weeks of intensive sleuthing to solve the mystery of a series of sheep thefts in the mid-Williamette valley ended yesterday when three brothers, former Dayton residents, were lodged in the Marion county jail. State police and an operative from the livestock division of the department of agriculture said the trio had confessed to the theft of 171 head of sheep from Marion, Polk, Linn and Benton counties.

The three were John, Harold and Robert Anderson, former Dayton district farmers. The officers revealed late yesterday that Robert Anderson had been in custody since Thursday night. John and Harold Anderson were arrested at Amity late Friday night.

All three probably will be arraigned in court here today, state police said. They face grand larceny charges in both Marion and Polk counties.

Report of Goffin Akis in Solution
Fred Goffin of Macleay, the latest victim of the sheep thieves, gave the investigators the lead that led to three arrests, they said. He reported to them the morning of March 7 that 19 sheep had been taken from his flock on March 4 and 5. His information proved material assistance in solving all sheep thefts reported recently from the four counties, officers said.

Other thefts cleared up by the three arrests, state police said, were as follows:
From C. F. Merrick, Zena, Polk county, 15 head of sheep last December 30.
From C. S. Lamery, Fairfield, Marion county, 35 head January 6.

From Harry L. Riches, Marion county agent, Silverton, 35 head March 1.
These four cases accounted for 104 of the sheep which the three brothers assertedly admitted having stolen, trucked to Portland and in most cases sold at the union stockyards. They claimed not to know exactly where they obtained the remaining 67 animals.

Fourteen of the sheep were picked up one at a time, day or night, along various roads and highways. Thirty-three were stolen from near Corvallis and 15 from Halsey.

Two Trucks Used State Police Say
The Anderson trio, state police declared, operated with two trucks and a roadster.
The officers had worked night and day on the case which Goffin reported the thefts of his sheep exactly two weeks ago today. They declared that the thieves might have been cleaned up much sooner had farmers whose sheep were stolen reported the thefts promptly.

Only four out of the eight known sheep thefts since December 30 were reported by the owners, it was pointed out. Until the Andersons were arrested, state police had no information that 102 of the 171 sheep were missing, they said. The cases where the thefts were reported, the reports were made from 19 to 25 days after the sheep were stolen, with the exception of Goffin's case.

Future Profiteer Group Organized

Reflecting the wave of ridicule sweeping the country over the conduct of war—past and future—a "National Association of Profiteers of Future Wars" was hurriedly organized here yesterday.

Members of the new group propose to handle all supplies for the armed forces, the construction of cantonments and other wartime outlays, at a basis of cost, plus 25 per cent. Five per cent of the profits are to be shared with the men who do the fighting.

Rufus White, veteran of the Mexican border expedition and of the world war, is president of the group. Colonel William Aurd, veteran of the Spanish-American and world wars, is to be vice-president.

Pocatello and Blackfoot Idaho Tourney Finalists

POCATELLO, Idaho, March 20.—(P)—Pocatello and Blackfoot high school basketball teams won their way into the finals of the Idaho state interscholastic tournament here today.

Blackfoot staged a powerful attack to defeat Lewiston 29 to 25, and Pocatello won from Rexburg in a nip and tuck encounter 25 to 22.

Doernbechers to Quit Oregon Soon

Held Guilty Under Smoke Ordinance; Chamber of Commerce Aroused

PORTLAND, Ore., March 20.—(P)—Harry A. Green, president of the Doernbecher Furniture company—largest individual payroll in Oregon—announced tonight "We don't want to be a nuisance to our neighbors so we will move to another state."

The Doernbecher company today was held guilty of violating the city's smoke-density ordinance. Municipal Judge Donald E. Long did not levy a penalty.

Green said the furniture business was too highly competitive to permit the company to install a new power plant. He ordered the night shift of 450 men laid off and said the remainder of the 1600 employees would be released gradually.

The Doernbecher plant was built here when the company moved from Chehalis, Wash., in 1900. Green said "We have prided ourselves on keeping men working during the depression, but we cannot continue in the face of this ordinance."

Walter W. R. May, president of the Portland chamber of commerce, said "We did everything we could. It is terrible this had to happen. We will hold a committee meeting tomorrow to survey the situation."

Noose Dodged by 2 in Washington

Death Sentence Against Hunter and Patterson Commuted to Life

OLYMPIA, March 20.—(P)—Governor Martin commuted to life imprisonment today the death sentences of Merritt Hunter, Jr., 21, and Carl Patterson, 20, for first degree murder.

The youths were to have been hanged in the state prison at Walla Walla on November 22. Hunter for shooting to death, in a jealous rage, his former sweetheart, Lilian Kanda, a pretty Japanese-American girl.

Charles Hansen Ousted As Townsend Official; Barde Ruling Opposed

PORTLAND, Ore., March 20.—(P)—A stormy 14-hour session of the state area Townsend board ended early today in the resignation of Charles H. Hansen as head of the state organization. James Logan was chosen to succeed him. Elbert Eastman was retained in charge of broadcasts. Hansen was named state director of "visual education."

The action followed Hansen's reinstatement of J. N. "Jack" Barde of Portland as club speaker.

Subsidy for Conservation To Average $10 Per Acre

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(P)—Lifting the cover from the administration's new $470,000,000 AAA program, Secretary Wallace tonight estimated subsidy payments to cooperating farmers would strike a broad national average of $10 an acre for shifting to soil conserving crops, plus other benefits.

In two swift strokes, the big conservation-subsidy plan was pushed into operation. Roosevelt Signs Appropriation Bill
President Roosevelt late today signed the independent office appropriation bill, carrying $440,000,000 for the farm program and making available $30,000,000 of unexpected funds. The same measure carried a $1,730,000,000 authorization for paying the bonus. Wallace announced details of

Sam Brown to Seek Election To U.S. Senate

Opposes McNary in Race for GOP Nomination; is Townsendite

Progressive League Has Drafted Him, Avers; Has Another $40

Sam H. Brown, for two terms state senator from Marion county, announced late yesterday that he would seek the republican nomination for United States senator from Oregon.

Brown had previously been talked as a candidate for the republican nomination for representative in congress from this district. His announcement for the senatorship was deemed an indication that Townsend club groups had agreed that Representative Mott would satisfactorily represent them and that Brown should make his race against Senator Charles H. McNary. The latter gave a non-committal answer to a recent conference of Townsend clubs in Eugene and did not win their support.

Senator Brown said last night that he had been virtually drafted for the race by the United Progressive society with headquarters in Portland.

The senator said he announced his candidacy "in the sincere belief that in that position my service can be of genuine value to all the people."

Currency Control Favored by Brown
"I stand for such pertinent issues of the day as the Townsend revolving pension plan," he declared. "I want a sane and practical type of farm and home financing; I stand for taking the profit out of war, for the preservation of natural resources and for the restoration of absolute currency control to the hands of the government."

The senator said last night he would make a full declaration of his platform in the voter's pamphlet and in the intensive campaign he expects to wage between now and the primaries, May 15.

"My experience of many years in the Oregon legislature, I believe, adequately qualifies me for this position," Mr. Brown said. "As a representative of the people I point to a record of issues squarely met and a sincere effort to prevent legislating the common people into the bread lines."

He elected, I will be a conscientious representative of all the people."

Has Same Ford But Different $40
Senator Brown made a statewide campaign for the republican nomination for governor two years ago. At that time he chose the slogan: "Forty dollars and a Ford." Last night he said he would use the same car in his

Advent of Spring Balm in Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore., March 20.—(P)—A theme song of sunshine and flowers marked the advent of spring in Oregon today. Balmly temperatures were reported from all parts of the state. The weatherman forecast a slightly lower mercury tomorrow and probably increasing cloudiness.

Clear skies today were welcomed at most points, although farmers in the Grants Pass area indicated rain was needed soon.

Other areas reported:
La Grande: Sunshine and buttermilk.
Klamath Falls: White pelicans on lakes and ducks and geese flying north.
Medford: Bright sunshine in the Rogue valley.
Eugene: Light frost, fruit trees blooming.

and not so many miles from any of these points another report originated: Mt. Hood: Skiing conditions fairly good.

Flood Crests Reach Sea But Havoc Remain

Death Toll Over 150 in East; Disaster Worst in History, Claim

Food Looting Occurs in Some Areas; Disease Spread Feared

(By The Associated Press)
Military and health authorities superceded civil law in many eastern states as the most destructive flood of the generation spent itself today.

New England flood crests reached the sea after taking 22 lives and making 50,000 homeless, while waters of the Allegheny hit the east coast and west, leaving 129 dead behind them.

The Connecticut river, roaring straight south through the industrial heart of New England, left 30,000 homeless, flooded one-fifth of Hartford, Conn., paralyzed business and electric power there. It broke a flood stage record that had stood since 1854. The worst had been expected at 1 a. m., Saturday.

Is Worst Disaster Ever, Says Governor
Governor H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire called the flood the worst disaster in his state's history. Hanover and Concord were isolated by land. The state capital was one-third under water. Massachusetts' legislature acted on relief bills.

Pennsylvania struggled hard against its muddy aftermath. State health officials quarantined Sunbury because of an outbreak of scarlet fever and diphtheria. Coraopolis had a typhoid scare.

Vigilantes in Leetsdale, Pa., fought food raiders from another town. Groups of men, identified by Police Chief A. W. Nolan of Leetsdale, as being from Ambridge, Pa., invaded the little town on the Ohio river below Pittsburgh. National guardsmen hurried from Pittsburgh in answer to Nolan's call for help.

After a battle nine of the invaders were arrested. Water Shortage at Pittsburgh Serious
Hartford, Conn., was in darkness. The last electric generator surrendered to the waters of the raging Connecticut river. Middletown, Conn., below Hartford, with its 25,000 inhabitants had no electricity.

The Massachusetts house of representatives appropriated $750,000 for flood relief without a dissenting vote.

After the meeting the supply situation surrendered to the waters of the raging Connecticut river. Middletown, Conn., below Hartford, with its 25,000 inhabitants had no electricity.

Routine Matters Up Before Board

With a settlement with the city council having been reached relative to the management of new construction work, the city water commission handled only routine matters at its regular meeting last night.

The commission rescinded a previous order establishing installation and removal charges on special irrigation meters and substituted in their place a five month minimum period for the use of the special meters.

After the meeting the three commissioners whose terms expire at the end of the year reiterated their previous statements that they would not be candidates at the coming primary. William Galsdorf stated definitely that he would not run. The other two, Chairman Edward Rosten and I. M. Doughton indicated they did not intend to run but are still giving the matter consideration.

Want Time Extended to Seek Bonneville Power

TILLAMOOK, Ore., March 20.—(P)—Directors of the Tillamook people's utility district urged today that the time limit for applying for power from Bonneville dam be extended to March 1, 1937. The McNary-Stelwer bill sets the limit at December 1, 1936. The directors said more time was needed to allow utility districts to perfect organization.

Further Test of Concrete Sought

Construction Firm Claims Footings of New H. S. to Be Adequate

Test blocks will be cut from the condemned footings of the new senior high school building to prove the contractors' contention that the material meets Salem code specifications, an executive employe of the Hoffman Construction company, said yesterday afternoon. He declined to permit use of his name.

"There won't be anything torn out," this official said. "That concrete is all right."

L. H. Hoffman, head of the Portland building firm, came to Salem yesterday after receiving notice from E. C. Bushnell, city building inspector, that certain concrete footings in the new building must be replaced because tests showed they would not withstand the minimum test pressure specified in the city's building code.

Seeks to Confer With Board Member
Hoffman attempted unsuccessfully to contact Frank Neer, chairman of the school board buildings and grounds committee, visited the building site and then returned to Portland. He did not confer with city officials, as far as could be ascertained. The building inspector was out of the city.

Should the concrete samples cut from the condemned footings prove of the required strength, the contractor would not be required to tear out the work and replace it with fresh concrete, it was reported unofficially at the city hall.

Kuhn Officer of League of Cities

EUGENE, Ore., March 20.—(P)—Marshall N. Dana, chairman of the Northwest Planning commission, told delegates to the League of Oregon Cities today the northwest is not yet taking full advantage of its natural resources. He spoke at a session held in connection with the commonwealth conference here.

Dana also said recent supreme court decisions indicated a series of flood-control dams on the Willamette river would be constitutional.

The league named C. G. Reiter of Bend president.
Other officers: Mayor V. E. Kuhn of Salem, vice-president; Celia Gavin, The Dalles city attorney, second vice-president; J. W. McArthur, Eugene, treasurer; J. L. Franzen, Oregon City, secretary; Ormond R. Bean, Portland, Charles H. Huggins, Marshfield, and Elsie LaRue, Eugene, executive committee.

Eugene Flax Growers Seek $12,500 Capital For Financing Plant

EUGENE, Ore., March 20.—(P)—More than 100 flax growers in session here today completed plans for a campaign to obtain $12,500 as the sponsors' portion of a WPA flax plant. The Eugene chamber of commerce pledged to raise $10,000 if Springfield would complete the quota. The concerted action was urged by Governor Charles Martin.

E. J. Griffith, state WPA administrator, said construction could start within a week if funds were obtained.

Funds Sought In County For Flood Relief

One thousand dollars in gifts from Marion county for the relief of flood sufferers throughout 11 states of the east was asked yesterday in an emergency appeal to citizens of this district made by Judge George Rossman and Milton Myers, chairman and vice-chairman, respectively, of the Marion county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Dr. Cary T. Grayson, national chairman, wired Judge Rossman saying 38,000 persons had been left homeless by the severe floods in the east and declared that $3,000,000 was necessary to take care of distress there. Shelter, food, clothing and medical care are urgently needed.

Donors to the relief funds should leave their moneys at any Salem bank or at the Red Cross offices, North Commercial street, Judge Rossman said.

Locarno Program Stagers Berlin

Each Proposal Viewed as Blow; Seclusion Now Hitler's Policy

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
BERLIN, March 21.—Germany raised a bitter protest today against the decisions of the other Locarno nations to settle the Rhineland crisis, the four-power proposals falling into Adolf Hitler's camp with a completely unexpected thud.

Foreign office officials winced under every one of the proposals for creation of a new buffer zone in Germany, or submission of the reich's arguments against the Franco-Soviet pact to the world court, or the calling of an international peace conference.

The press charged that the defuncter had dealt "a blow below the belt," declaring British (Turn to page 3, col. 4)

Bennett Candidate For Vice President, Word

PORTLAND, Ore., March 20.—(P)—Charles W. Erskine, secretary of the republican state central committee, said today Judge William S. Bennett formerly was a New York congressman, is attorney for lumber interests and was a delegate to the 17th international congress against alcoholism in Copenhagen in 1923.

Discord Within Council of League Seen on Peace Plan

LONDON, March 20.—(P)—Discord within the council of the League of Nations was disclosed tonight over provisions of the Rhineland program mapped by representatives of the four Locarno powers.

A row broke out when the document was submitted at a private session of the council.

Dr. Joseph Beck, foreign minister of Poland, led an incipient revolt by angrily accusing the Locarno members—Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium—of trying to rally round the plan through the league which, he insisted, they are attempting to dominate.

When Chile and Denmark gave evidence that they could not hastily approve the proposals without digesting them, Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign secretary, his first flush of enthusiasm chilled by this flank attack, hastily explained there was no intention of forcing anything upon the council.

Military Alliance Is Contemplated
The program constitutes a virtual super-military alliance by the four if Hitler refuses to accept proposals designed to lead to a new security framework for Europe.

Adolf Hitler is now studying the offer and the Italian government has not formally approved it. A German spokesman here said "it might" form a basis for discussion "if certain unilateral parts like the police zone and the Hague court reference were eliminated."

Eden explained to the council that the document was submitted purely as a matter of information and that the Locarno powers subsequently would be prepared to give supplementary explanations of all provisions.

Two fighting, ball-hawking basketball clubs that have shown themselves to be the class of this year's tournament will square off at 8:30 o'clock tonight and after 32 minutes of rip-roaring basketball one of them will be "the wren and new champion" of Oregon basketball.

The two clubs that fought their way through two preliminary rounds and then through the semi-finals are Corvallis and Franklin. When they pair off tonight Corvallis will be fighting for its first state championship while Franklin will be battling to regain a crown it hasn't held since 1921.

That year Chappy King, present coach of the Quakers, was a member of the Franklin team that beat Salem for the state championship. Spartans Get Jump On B Champions
Corvallis stepped into the final round by getting the jump on little Bellfountain in the initial period and riding out the fury of the giant killers' attack for a 34 to 25 win. Franklin shook off a dogged McLoughlin high team in a great second half rally to win its place in the final game by a 36 to 23 score. The biggest crowd of the week attended Friday night's game.

Bellfountain and McLoughlin, the two scrappy clubs who fell after battling their way into the semi-finals, will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight for third place. Sixth place will go to the loser.

The high-scoring Astoria and Tillamook teams, who in winning over Myrtle Creek and Oregon City respectively yesterday nearly cracked the tournament scoring record, will play at 10:30 this morning for fourth place, the loser taking seventh. Salem and Benson will meet in the consolation final for fifth place at 7:30 o'clock.

MIHI City Surprises By Crowding Benson
With the exception of the two afternoon games in which Astoria beat Myrtle Creek 60 to 26 and Tillamook outclassed Oregon City 53 to 18 yesterday's games were all fairly close and all hard fought. MIHI City furnished the biggest surprise of the day by nearly edging out Benson and losing to the Portland champions only 27 to 25. Salem played a close game with the fighting Lava Bears from Bend but eliminated them 38 to 30.

If the first quarter hadn't counted Bellfountain might be the team that would enter the finals tonight instead of Corvallis. In that first period Coach Torson's Spartans started out like a three alarm fire and had the game won before it was hardly begun. The margin of ten points the sharp-shooting Spartans gained in that initial period was enough to carry them to victory against a Bellfountain team that refused to believe it was playing anything but another basketball game against a team that was just another basketball team.

Costest is Even After First Period
Getting the payoff on nearly every shot, Corvallis had a 10-to-0 lead at the end of the first period and it was too much for Bellfountain to overcome. Even though the scrapers from that school of 25 boys kept even, in fact a point ahead, of Corvallis the rest of the game, that 10 points in the first period was their downfall.

The fans thought it was all up for Bellfountain when Ellwood J. Kriger and Effingrad hit the hoop in a hurry and then Elrick and Warren did it some more to make it 10 to 0.
