Flood Relief Grappling Show Thriller; Hagen Beats Villain

Riotous Main Event Staged

Sugai and Sherman Battle to Draw; Burns Real Comedian, Found

Net profits of last night's American Legion wrestling show, all of which will be donated to the American Red Cross for relief of eastern flood sufferers, amounted to $135, the American Legion wrestling committee reported.

The amount will be turned over to the local Red Cross to be added to Salem's quota.

Jack Hagen, head - crunching Louisiana grappler, flipped neatly out of a supposedly unbreakable Boston crab hold last night and landed in a sitting posture on Jack Lipscomb's prone shoulders for the deciding fall in a rapid and riotous main event.

The tempo of the match was sounded at the very opening when the villainous Lipscomb socked Hagen before the latter had taken off his robe. From then on the fireworks came in rapid fire order as each tried all the ways of committing mayhem at his command.

Lipscomb took the first fall with a leg twist after a riotous session full of punches, slams and several unsuccessful headlock attempts by Hagen, the cruncher

Hagen had more luck with his headlock in the second canto and applied it on the third trial for the fall, leaving Lipscomb groggy and reeling from the tremen-dous pressure applied to his head. Sugai, Sherman Draw

Don Sugai, Salem's popular Japanese grappler, and Ben Sherman, Portland's pride, did a thing unusual in grappling circles when they wrestled without a fall over a scheduled 30 minutes for a draw. The match was the cleanest seen here in months and the fans showed their approval of straight orthodoxy for a change by applanding frequently.

In a harum-scarum half-hour match Bobby Burns gained a nod by taking the only fall. Wrestling the villainous Canadian, Jean La-Belle, Burns, one of the cleverest matmen to appear here recently. kept the crowd in stitches with his ranny tricks. Burns took the one fall with a body press after a series of his specialty, the sidewinder twisting body slam.

Barns wound up a-co- nic show by adding a super touc when he got LaBelle all twisted up in the ropes, using his body as one would a lever to tighten the ropes. Jack Curtiss. Mississippi grappler, won the Red Cross special event by pinning Algernon Thomas, Wisconsin, with a Boston crab.

Cooper Decisions Riggi in Slugfest

Knockdowns Frequent in Portland Fight But Both Stay Route

PORTLAND, Ore., March 31-(P)-"Tiny" Cooper of Salem and Frank Riggi of Brooks, Ore., came out of their six-round fight here tonight considerably the worse for wear, with Cooper on the right end of the decision. The two were paired in the semi-windup to the Al Spina-Frank Castillo 10-rounder which went to Spina by a technical knockout. Cooper, weighing in at 184, and Riggi, 189, sparred harmlessly in the first two frames. In the third. Cooper put his oponent on the things being equal a high school floor for 8 and Riggi came right back with a similar haymaker which had Cooper on the canvas ketball should be tops. So there in the next frame. Cooper didn't stay down long, however, and came back to jolt Riggi with rights and lefts and finally pounded him for two 9 counts before the fourth was end-

PORTLAND, March 31-(P)-Al Spina, 123, Portland, scored a third-round technical knockout over Frank Castillo, 124, Los Angeles, on the main event of tonight's fight card.

Otto Blackwell, 142, Portland, pounded out a decision over Charley Roper, 150, Spokane, in the other six-rounder. Roper went down for long counts twice in the second but lasted the route.

"Tiny" Holder, 220, Dillon, Mont., and Cyclone Thompson, 193, Seattle, went to a torrid draw in four rounds.

Kid Thornley, Silverton, Ore., won a decision from Frankie Gullo, Scio, Ore., in the four-round preliminary. They are welters.

Two of the youngest contenders at the Olympic water meet this summer will be Mary Hoerger, 12-year-old women's low-board diving champion, and Katherine Rawls, holder of many women's swimming records. Mary, shown in diving pose above, holder of the A. A. U. low-board championship, provided the biggest upset in her recent victories over the nation's finest women water stars. According to her mother, Mrs. Frances Hoerger, a former diving champion herself, Mary is guided almost entirely by instinct in her execution of intricate dives.

Trout Season Opens Sunday

Weather Unpromising But Many Will Go Forth; Bag Limit Lower

Although occasional flurries of snow or hail and ley winds do not point overly favorable weather, anglers who like to get the first try at their favorite holes and streams are getting ready for the opening of the trout fishing season Sunday.

With wardens and state policemen on the lookout for game law offenders, anglers would do well to refamiliarize themselves with the Oregon fishing laws. These are conveniently found in the official synopsis of Oregon fishing laws which can be had free of charge at sporting goods stores.

Most important of the changes in the game code is the reduction of the bag limit for a single day from 30 fish in one day to 20 fish in one day. The weight limit has also been reduced from 20 pounds and one fish to 15 pounds and one fish. The limit for a week's catch is now 30 pounds and one fish, not to exceed 40 fish, in any seven consecutive days.

The bag limit for McKenzie river fishing has been reduced proportionately and now is 10 pounds and one fish, not to exceed 15 fish in any one day, or 20 pounds and one fish but not to exceed 30 fish in any consecutive
