Good Friday's Services Here To Be General

Special Worship Planned at Many of Churches as Easter Nears

Large Part of Day to Be Given to Observances of Crucifixion Day

Commemorating the anniversary of the crucifixion of Christ, many Salem churches will hold Good Friday services at various hours today and tonight. These services bring to a climax the pre-Easter worship throughout the city and at the same time form a prelude to the devotions Sunday in recognition of the risen Christ.

The First Methodist church auditorium will be open this afternoon from 12 to 6 o'clock, with Prof. T. S. Roberts to play "The Crucifixion" from 12 to 1 o'clock and the pastor, Rev. James E. Milligan, to read appropriate scriptures. Throughout the afternoon and from 7 to 9 o'clock, the church will be open for communion service, baptism and reception of members or consultation. Services will be held at 7:30 o'clock, with Rev. Milligan speaking on "Pre-Easter Thoughts."

Three Services at St. Joseph's Church

St. Joseph's Catholic church will observe the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified at 8:15 a. m. today, and the Way of the Cross at 3 p. m. Good Friday night services will begin at 7:30 p. m.

At the American Lutheran church, highlight of the Good Friday services will be John Stainer's portrayal of the crucifixion of Christ, "The Crucifixion," sung by the Salem Ladies' Madrigal club, the Salem Civic Male chorus and the American Lutheran choir, directed by Prof. E. W. Hobson. Soloists will be Ronald Craven, Garland Hallowell, Herbert Hobson and Richard Barton. Morning services today will commence at 10:30 o'clock, with Mrs. J. A. Sholst to sing "The Crucifixion" into the Hills" (Hageman) and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" (Breslau). The sermon topic will be "The Significance of the Cross."

Cantata Offered Tonight at Leslie

The sacred cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ" by Theodore Dubois will be presented tonight at 8 o'clock by the choir of the Leslie Memorial M. E. church, with Mrs. M. E. Bush, director, and Mary Jeanette Sargent, accompanist.

Soloists will be: Jessie F. Bush, Esther Horning and Harriette Coons, soprano; Carl Mason, tenor; Wesley Ritchie and Bill Bush, bass.

At St. Paul's Episcopal church, a service commemorating the crucifixion, "The Three Hours," will be held today. While the service is continuous from 12 noon until 3 o'clock, the public is invited to come and go as time permits.

Between 30 and 40 new members are scheduled to be received at the Jason Lee church Good Friday services at 7:30 o'clock tonight, when the sacrament of baptism, memorably ritual and communion service will prevail. Rev. Lynn A. Wood, pastor, will speak briefly on the final words of Jesus, "I Commend My Spirit."

Revival Continues At First Christian

Pre-Easter revival will continue tonight at the First Christian church, with Evangelist Ladd speaking at 7:45 o'clock; at Highland Friends church at 8 o'clock; at Temple Baptist church, with the pastor, Rev. Ernest H. Brown in charge, at 7:30 o'clock.

Fehl Release Deemed Mandatory With Good Time Allowance Given

Opinion in 1923 Indicates Governor Has No Power to Prolong Term of Ballot Theft Convict; Jackson People Want Him Kept Here.

RELEASE of Earl A. Fehl, former county judge of Jackson county, from state prison here next Wednesday, seemed probable last night despite a written protest from George A. Coddig, district attorney, to Governor Charles H. Martin, asking that Fehl be required to serve his full term of four years.

Heavy Work to Begin Next Week; All But One of Crew Salem Men

The protest started the governor's office to check the "good time" provisions of state penitentiary procedure. An attorney-general's opinion will be sought, the governor's office announced, to see if a prisoner can be released with "good time" credit despite a desire on the part of the governor to have him serve the full limit of his sentence.

According to a check made by The Statesman, the same problem was presented by Ward Irvine as secretary to the governor in an inquiry to the attorney-general made in 1923. At that time the attorney-general ruled that "good time" was arbitrarily allowed under the indeterminate sentence law of Oregon and that it could not be revoked by the governor.

Parole Not Given Due to Protest

Fehl's minimum sentence expired 16 months ago. At that time he was eligible to parole. So much protest arose in Jackson county to his parole that he was continued to the maximum sentence of four years. The minimum (Turn to page 2, col. 3)

Prosecutors Rest Impeachment Case

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—With a final presentation of evidence intended to show evasion of income tax and violation of the judicial code, house prosecutors today rested their impeachment case against Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter of Florida.

While the senate sat as a trial court in its fourth session in as many days—the 65-year old jurist was accused of evading taxes on portions of his 1929 and 1930 income and of violating the judicial code by practicing law after going on the bench.

Recovery Starts When F.R. Leaves White House, Claim

A straight-from-the-shoulder attack on the New Deal and its leader, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, was made last night by Mrs. William E. Evans of Glendale, Calif., in an address to 75 enthusiastic republicans meeting at the Quail.

The only real recovery of the American nation will be when Franklin Delano Roosevelt leaves the White House, she declared. Then and then only will the American system of constitutional government be restored.

Need Awakening to Terrific Debt Load

"I am a critic of the president. I make no apologies for being one," she declared. "It is time the people were awakened to the terrific debt load being passed on to the man and to their children. The debt must be paid by taxes; we cannot forever go on spending three billions a year more than our income. And don't think the taxes are going to be paid by us." (Turn to page 2, col. 5)

Champoeg Route's Purchase Delayed

County Court to Discuss With Highway Board at Portland Meeting

Before making any commitments to purchase right-of-way on the proposed Champoeg-Butteville scenic highway the county court is going to discuss the matter with the state highway commission which meets April 16 and 17 in Portland, members of the county decided yesterday. Their decision followed an extended conference with R. H. Baldock, state highway engineer.

When the reports of their appraisers came in this week, the court members had doubts "if the highway was feasible because portions of it would be under water at times during the year. The highway department assured them that this condition was known to the surveyors. Protection to the roadway will be had through rip-rap barriers along the banks in vulnerable spots and by the planting of shrubs and trees where the river is inclined to wash. Unless an unusual flood comes the first year after the new road is graded, it can be protected thoroughly from floods, the court was advised.

Gosslin Probe to Close by Tonight

While the Marion county grand jury had not concluded its investigations last night into charges against William L. Gosslin, private secretary to Governor Martin, in which Gosslin violated the corrupt practices act, it seemed unlikely that an indictment would be returned against Gosslin, it was learned on good authority. Completion of the Gosslin inquiry is expected today. He is accused of violating the code by advancing money to candidates for their filing fees.
