Parole Board May Consider Fehl Release Issue Here Today

Habeas Corpus Move Planned

Governor Said Favorable to Releasing Ex-Judge With Conditions

Meeting of the state parole board to consider whether or not Earl H. Fehl, former Jackson county judge, should be recommended for parole, was held up yesterday awaiting the return of Governor Charles H. Martin. He is expected here late this afternoon after an Easter vacation in Bremerton, Wash.

Fehl's four-year maximum sentence, is to end Wednesday. George Rhoten, attorney who visited Fehl yesterday at the state prison, declared that he and H. V. Schmaltz, chief counsel for Fehl, were ready to launch habeas corpus preceedings if Fehl was not released when his maximum term, less his good behavior credits, was concluded. Rhoten said it was unthinkable that Fehl would not be accorded the same treatment given other prisoners over a 13 year period.

On good source it was learned yesterday that Governor Martin has under consideration releasing Fehl, on parole, provided he does not return to Jackson county. George Codding, district attorney there, fears Fehl will resume a practice of trouble making.

For 13 years the state prison has released prisoners who have served their maximum terms, less good behavior credits, without presenting the matter to the parole board or the governor.

Ralph E. Moody, deputy attorney general, upset the practice Saturday when he ruled that good time credits only speeded the time when a man could be considered for parole—that no man could be freed from state prison except by parole, short of his maximum sentence. Moody contended that good time allowances did not operate to shorten the sentence—only to speed the time when a parole could be granted if the governor so wished.

Spelling Tests Set on April 22 For Schools

April 22 was set yesterday by Mrs. Mary L. Fulkerson as the date for spelling tests to be held throughout the entire list of grade schools in the county. Competition on the tests will be between individuals in the school system and between the various districts. The list of words has been forwarded by Mrs. Fulkerson, in sealed envelopes, to the competing schools.

Truck Driver Held in Hit-Run Death Case

ASTORIA, Ore., April 13—(AP)—The Sheriff's office held C. Gwmstraus, 42, truck driver, in jail tonight in connection with the hit-and-run death of August Johansen, 72, a laborer. Motorists found Johansen's body on the highway last night, crushed by terrific impact. Deputy Sheriff Paul Kearney said he noticed a smashed headlight and fender on Straus' car as he drove back past the accident scene. Straus and his wife related they thought they struck a dog, Deputy Kearney said.

One Rescued, Other Missing After Boat Capsizes

OREGON CITY, Ore., April 13—(AP)—William A. Garnett of Portland narrowly escaped drowning, and his companion, Patrolman Clifford W. Davis, of Portland, disappeared when their boat overturned in the Clackamas river. Searchers found Garnett this morning, weakened from exposure after spending the night on an island. He said he last saw Davis clinging to willows near the shore.

City of Roseburg Goes on Cash Basis

ROSEBURG, Ore., April 13—(AP)—The city of Roseburg went on a cash basis today as the treasurer called in all city warrants, amounting to about $14,000. Fall tax payments will enable the city to finish in the clear at the end of the year, the treasurer said.

Rogue River Firm Sued for Over Million

MEDFORD, Ore., April 13—(AP)—Harvey S. Mudd, Los Angeles capitalist, brought suit to collect $1,027,645.45 from the Rogue River company, operator of a chain of orchards and a packing plant here. Mudd said the money was due on a mortgage on a promissory note, and for sums advanced for operation.

Mexican Sought in Klamath Shooting Case

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., April 13—(AP)—Officers searched the Sprague river country today for Raymond Martin, Mexican tree faller, for questioning into the wounding of Marie Palmer, 15, and Buster Dickens, 24, at Sprague river, as the couple were leaving church Sunday night. The girl was hit in the side and Dickens was shot in the arm. The injuries were not critical.

No Strike But Trollers Refuse to Fish

ASTORIA, Ore., April 13—(AP)—Glenn Murdock, business agent of the Pacific Coast Fisheries union, said today trollers are not on strike but that "buyers have fixed so low a price we cannot make money and practically all boats have stopped fishing." Buyers listed a price of 12 cents a pound for salmon. They previously paid 13 cents.

Thomas to Enter Northwest Event

One more competitive event will close Salem high school's public speaking program for the season, Coach Shannon Hogue announced yesterday. He is sending Bill Thomas, who won first in extemporaneous speaking at the Willamette university and Linfield college state tournaments, to Whitman college for entry in northwest competition Friday and Saturday.

The season nearing its close is one of the best Salem high has experienced in several years, Hogue said. He pointed to victories at Linfield and Willamette and to the fact that Salem lost by but one debate to Dallas high which is to compete soon for western Oregon honors in debating.

Graveling From Mehama To Elkhorn Is Planned

Graveling of the Little North Fork county road from Mehama to Elkhorn is planned for this spring. Roy Melson, county commissioner, announced yesterday after going over the road with County Engineer Hubbs. A number of turns in the road will be smoothed by the elimination of some of the banks. A crew of WPA men is scheduled to start work on the project next Monday and they will be supplemented by workers provided directly by the county.

Curtis Ruby, Jr. Is Trampled by Belgian Stallion

WALDO HILLS, April 13—Curtis Ruby, jr., is moving very slowly these days, following what might have proved a serious accident. He brought a two-year-old Belgian stallion from the Ruby stock farm near Gresham, and with Lew Davenport had unloaded him and was leading him to the barn.

The horse stepped on a branch, which frightened him and he knocked Ruby down, trampling him rather badly before help arrived.

56 to Have Work On Falls Project

Fifty six men living in the Silverton district will be assigned to start work Thursday in the resettlement administration's project in the Silver Falls park area, it was announced at WPA headquarters yesterday. Another 100 may be sent to work on this project early next week.

The project consists of cleaning up land purchased by the resettlement administration and preparing for road construction.

Silver Falls Park Plan Is Discussed

Langille Reports Federal Agencies' Policy For Recreation Area

Outline of the federal government's plans for a large recreational area in the Silver Falls park district was given to the chamber of commerce Monday noon by W. A. Langille, representative of the national park service. Langille said 5000 acres would be included in the immediate area with 21,000 acres in the entire project. Separate areas for boys, for girls, for kiddies and for adults will be established, Langille said.

After his address he said he had received authority to employ 50 WPA workers on the project beginning Thursday with the number being built up to 200 within a few weeks. Paths will be constructed throughout the park, fire hazards removed and eventually a program of reforesting will be undertaken. Langille said a fish rehabilitation project was planned with plans made to stock the Silver creek branches with 500,000 fish a year.

Should Apply Now

Langille said the first buildings constructed on the project would be 30 cabins for the girls' area. He urged Salem groups who wished to use the recreational area to apply for facilities. Eventually the park will be in charge of the state park board and a small fee will be asked for camping privileges.

Robert E. Floyd, assistant project manager for WPA, said recreational projects were new in the northwest but frequently were undertaken in California. He said a number of Portland organizations had already asked to use the park facilities when they were completed.

Former Resident of Spring Valley Passes At Home in Nebraska

SPRING VALLEY, April 13.—Word was received here Saturday by Orville Trussell of the death of his father, S. Y. Trussell at Norfolk, Neb. Mr. Trussell had been ill for some time. The Trussells lived here for many years on the place now occupied by Pete Willwert before they moved to Kansas and Nebraska. Mr. Trussell is survived by his widow and nine children.

Mrs. H. N. Alderman returned home Wednesday after being away for several weeks during which time she underwent a serious goitre operation at Dallas.

Excavation Work Starting Slowly

Excavation for Salem's new reservoir was moving at slow pace yesterday with the power shovel to do the heavy digging not yet on the job.

The Slate Construction company had one bulldozer at work removing surface soil and storing it in a huge stock pile. The dipper for the power shovel which is to be brought into action soon was delivered on the site, at Rural avenue and John street, yesterday.

Vacancies Remain In Quota of CCC

Six CCC camp positions were left open yesterday after four more Marion county young men had been sent to CCC headquarters at Vancouver, Wash., it was announced at the county relief offices.

The remaining six vacancies must be applied for before 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. They are all for initial assignment to Vancouver, from which point the recruits will be sent to various camps.
