Elsinore Has History Epic

"Message to Garcia" Now Showing; Beery and Boles Are Stars

Wallace Beery—Barbara Stanwyck—John Boles. These three stars, together for the first time, enact their greatest roles in 20th Century's roistering, romantic "A Message to Garcia," the picture coming today to the Elsinore theatre.

Inspired by Elbert Hubbard's immortal essay, the picture has a plot written about one of history's most fascinating exploits.

Boles is the man who carries the message to Garcia in the jungle interior, a message that will change the destinies of three nations. For a companion, he takes Wallace Beery, an amusing rogue who is half traitor, half hero.

When they discover that the man who was to guide them to Garcia has been killed, they take his daughter, Barbara Stanwyck, to show them the way.

Hardship, peril, adventure, faced together in the treacherous jungle, draw Boles and Miss Stanwyck to each other.

Schools Help in History Project

Through cooperation of Mrs. Mary L. Fulkerson, county school superintendent, with the American Guide, WPA Writers' project, a school history project has been successfully worked out in reporting interesting data on Scotts Mills and Bethany.

Pupils of these schools collected information relative to local Indians, pioneer characters and incidents, and buildings and sites of historical interest in their respective communities, then wrote it up in the form of essays which were forwarded to the state office of the American Guide, encyclopaedic publication covering all topics of interest to tourists, students and investors who may visit the state.

Musical Program On Tuesday Night

High School's Observance of Music Week to Be Best Ever, Claim

Salem high school Tuesday night will join in observance of national music week with one of the outstanding programs in its history, according to Lena Belle Tartar, director of vocal music. That night 250 boys and girls will present ensemble and solo numbers in wide variety in the school auditorium.

Of particular interest on the program is the cantata for Mixed voices, "The Chambered Nautilus," which will be sung by 170 voices. Miss Tartar said yesterday, "The poem is the well-loved composition by Oliver Wendell Holmes and is set to music by John S. Fearis. Incidental solos will be sung by Ruth Maers and Clara McFarlane."

The combined chorus groups will sing a number of negro spirituals with Floyd Baumgartner in one instance serving as "leader."

Accompanists for the evening's music will include Doris Schunke, Maxine Case, Eleanor Aspinwall and Phil Barrett.

This program is one indication of the new activity plan at the high school whereby virtually all the students are given an opportunity to participate, Miss Tartar explained.

New Dog Star Now at Grand

'The Country Beyond' Has Powerful Theme With Northland Scenes

A story of courage, adventure and blazing love on the Northland trail is showing at the Grand theatre today in the stirring Fox picturization of James Oliver Curwood's novel, "The Country Beyond."

Featuring the screen's new dog hero, Buck, with an all-star Hollywood cast, the picture follows the adventures of a Canadian "mountie" pursuing a killer on a trail that leads him to love.

Rochelle Hudson, Paul Kelly and Robert Kent are the principal players. Kent and Kelly are "mounties" who take Miss Hudson's father, Alan Hale, in custody for a killing. But Hale, who is innocent, eludes the officers with his daughter and sets out after the real criminal.

Kent catches the girl and the heroic dog, Buck, who guards her, while Kelly follows the father. Battling their way through the frozen Canadian wilderness, Kent and Miss Hudson come to love each other. But it is not until Alan Dinehart, the killer, is brought to earth, and his vicious Great Dane killed by Buck in a savage fight, that their romance can come to a happy conclusion.

Tale of 2 Cities Is at Hollywood

Dickens Classic Offered by Astounding Cast of Noted Stars

With Ronald Colman at the head of an amazing list of stars and featured players, one of the great photoplays of all time opens today at the Hollywood theatre. It is "A Tale of Two Cities," from Charles Dickens' novel.

Essentially, it is the story of Sydney Carton, a brilliant wastrel, played by Colman, and his hopeless love for Lucie Manette, played by Elizabeth Allan. Even if Lucie were not in love with Charles Darnay, played by Donald Woods, the affair could not have reached a happy culmination. It was doomed from the start. This is the situation upon which the story is built, and it mounts with emotional climaxes until it reaches its tremendous denouement with Colman's sacrifice of his life for the happiness of the woman he loves.

Outstanding in the cast are Edna May Oliver, Reginald Owen, Basil Rathbone, Blanche Yurka, Henry B. Walthall, Donald Woods.

Gold Rush "Robin Hood" at Capitol

Warner Baxter Starred in "El Dorado" Story of California in '49

Thundering out of the most vivid pages of America's history, "Robin Hood of El Dorado" continues on the screen of the Capitol theatre today, heralding the rebirth of the spectacular outdoor feature.

Starring Warner Baxter, it is one of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's more pretentious new-season photoplays.

"Robin Hood of El Dorado" is the romantic story of the life of Joaquin Murrieta, glamorous bandit-patriot who roared through the wild west at the head of 400 men in the lawless days of the California Gold Rush of '49. "Seven Keys to Baldpate," opened last night at the Capitol theatre with Gene Raymond in the central role. Raymond, a celebrated author of mystery stories, selects deserted Baldpate Inn as an ideally quiet place to work and locks himself in with what he believes is the only key in existence. But when six more keys click in Baldpate's door, the ghostly old mansion becomes a madhouse, and all writing ends as Raymond is swept into hilariously violent adventure.
