Parent Education Expert Is Coming

Family Living Conference to Hear Maud M. Morse Here on Thursday

At the second annual Marion county conference on family living, which will be held at the Salem Woman's clubhouse on Thursday, May 14, Mrs. Maud M. Morse, extension specialist in child development and parent education, will talk on "Our Family Talks it Over." The problems common to all families will be discussed. What can be done when mother and dad do not agree as to the method or amount of discipline to be used? Do all brothers and sisters quarrel? What can be done about an older brother who teases his little brother? These questions and others will be discussed by Mrs. Morse. Bring your questions with you and let's talk them over.

Mrs. Morse has had unusual training for teaching parent education and child development which includes both practical experience and theoretical knowledge. In June, 1933, she received her master's degree in child development at Oregon State college. While Mrs. Morse was

Insurance Week Observance Held

Life insurance underwriters in observing life insurance week May 11 to 16.

This year's observance of life insurance week is significant, local underwriters state, because the volume of new life insurance purchased in this country in 1935 exceeds that of any year since the depression. Present estimates indicate that 1935 was a record breaker in this respect.

Addresses by leading local underwriters, a conspicuous educational newspaper advertising campaign, posters and radio addresses are important features of the campaign.

The success of last year's campaign slogan was so widespread that it is being used again this year-"The sooner you plan your future, the better your future

Teaches Parents Painting Exhibit Is Nearing Close

Only a few days remain for those who desire to visit the exhibit of 48 isochromatic oil paintings in the fireplace room at the Salem public library and presented under the auspices of the Salem Arts league, according to Miss Constance Fowler, art director, in charge. The fireplace room will be open Wednesday afternoon and evening, Thursday evening, and Friday evening.

Much favorable comment has been given this collection, which represents work of noted artists from all parts of the United States. The collection is one of ten gathered by the Grumbhart Art company of New York. The subjects chosen portray a wide variety of ideas, from mountains, sea scapes, portraiture, studies of cities and country, and still life. This exhibit closes the work of the art department for the present season. Several showings were given under Miss Fowler's direction, and all were well at-

A. J. BELL Candidate for democratic nomination for the legislature

A. J. Bell of Woodburn seeks nomination on the democratic ticket for representative in the Oregon legislature. He is a native of the county, being born in Sublimity. He has spent most of his life in the county. Bell has a family. He is a veteran of the world war. Two years ago he was a candidate for the legislature and obtained a sizeable vote but was defeated, he asserts, because of the republican predominance in registration. During the 1935 legislative assembly he held an important clerkship.

Bell declares that he "does not wear the present state administration halter." "I will not be led around by the clique at the capitol which is at present trying to dictate who shall run for state and county offices," Bell asserts, He demonstrates his own independence of thought by declaring that he "repudiated the suggestion of the pseudo-boss at the Company B Noted statehouse that he aspire to a county office in place of the legisstatehouse that he aspire to a Bell said yesterday that he believed democrats in this county istration. He condemned a policy of appointing a relief committee for the county composed entirely of republicans. Bell says he deplores the "continually peev ish utterances of the state chief executive in chastising everyone who disagrees with him, in branding war veterans as skunks" and old-time supporters as "peanut politicians" and in christening the statehouse as a "one-horse capitol.

Bell says he intends to represent Marion county and the state, independently and conscientious-

Besides, Studebaker is the Economy Champion

"I tried out all the 1936 cars and for me Studebaker offers the most.

"For one thing, it has more proven mechanical improvements and conveniences than any of the others. "The overdrive and Studebaker's exclusive Hill Holder are two of the biggest improvements in automobiles in years.

"I like the Hill Holder because of its great convenience and contribution to safety. And the overdrive is worth having simply because of the smoother, more comfortable ride it provides at speeds over 40 miles per hour, to say nothing of its economy.

"And speaking of economy, the fact that Studebaker won two first places in the Gilmore Yosemite Economy Run is simply further proof of what all 1936 Studebaker owners are discovering for themselves-the greatest economy of any car they have ever driven."
