Tension Over May Delivery Crisis Eases Somewhat, Chicago

More Liberal Delivery Due

Unadjusted Contracts Not So Extensive as Was Reported Earlier

CHICAGO, May 21,-(P)-Some relaxing of wheat market strain in regard to likelihood of difficulty over settling of May contracts that involve millions of bushels, became evident today.

Moderate easing of trade tension developed as wheat dealings drew to an end with indications that the volume of unadjusted Chicago May wheat contracts had been materially reduced, and that more liberal deliveries here would be witnessed tomorrow. It was also announced that further purchases of wheat had been effected for prompt shipment to Chicago from Kansas City.

Wheat closed skittish at 14-1/2 cent under yesterday's finish, May 94 %-%, July 85 %-%, Sept. 85 %-¼, corn ¼-% down, May 63, ¼, July 60-60 %, Sept. 51-%; oats showing ¼ decline, July 25 %, and rye %-% off, July 54. In provisions, the outcome was unchanged to 15 cents higher.

Corn, oats and rye mainly followed the action of wheat. September corn touched a new low for the season, and so likewise did May and July oats. Crop reports on rye, although decidedly bullish, were without effect. Provisions reflected hog mar-

Weed Control Study Alfalfa

Act Is Kept Close to Best Best Use For Food Given Scientific Methods Says Mumford

A farm program kept closely in line with local needs and in harmony with the best practices advocated by the state college experiment stations is the objective of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, declared Dr. D. C. Mumford of the western regional staff, on a recent visit to Corvailis to confer with staff members of the college who are active in inaugurating the new agricultural conservation program. Dr. Mumford, who is assistant to George E. Farrell, regional director for the western states, arrived in Oregon from Washington, D. C., immediately following the announcement of the detailed rates of payment for soil building practices under the act. He conferred with the Oregon technical committee regarding those rates and discussed with the members suggested additions and minor modifications.

May Raise Standard

In general, it was agreed that the new rate schedule which inraise the standard of farming in the state and further the objectives of the act, which are to concrops now troubled with non-exportable surpluses.

Weeds of most importance to Oregon included in the list are morning glory, white top, Canada thistle and Russian knapweed.

The change in classification of orchards is of importance in encouraging the practice of growing green manure crops for prevention of erosion and to maintain soil fertility. Rates of payment are $2 an acre for green manure crops seeded on crop land between the fall of 1935 and July 31, 1936. and grown and turned under prior to October 31. October 31 is the closing date for most 1936 prac-

In regard to summer fallow, provision is also made for payments of from 50 cents to 75 cents an acre for various erosion preventing fallow practices, such as trashy, strip and contour strip fallowing. Fallow so treated can be

In Farm Plan Use For Dairy

Consideration by State College

With the rapid increase of alfalfa acreage in western Oregon and the emphasis on this crop throughout the state under the new agricultural conservation act. increasing interest in best use of alfalfa hay in the dairy ration has developed.

In some places alfalfa hay has been used by itself as a dairy feed during the non-pasture months, and in other places it has been used with corn silage or other succulents or with grain or both. Recent feeding tests conducted by the Oregon State college experiment station indicate that it is uneconomical to produce milk on alfalfa hay alone, even though it is the best dairy hay known. Neither is it economical to feed alfalfa hay with corn silage, without some grain supplement.

Costs are Considered Another conclusion is that it is not economical to raise corn silage to feed with alfalfa hay if the cost of growing the corn silage is more than one-third the cost of cludes a number of practices growing the alfalfa hay. In other heretofore in doubt, will tend to words, says Dr. I. R. Jones, professor of dairy husbandry, who supervised the tests, if alfalfa hay can be grown and put in the barn serve the soil for present and fu- for $9 a ton, corn silage in the ture generations and decrease the | silo should not cost more than $3 relative volume of soil depleting a ton. There appears to be very little difference whether succulent feed, especially corn silage, is fed along with alfalfa hay or not, unless the cost of growing the crop is less than one-third that of the hay. To Check Trials More

The feeding trial from which these conclusions were drawn was comparatively short and is being duplicated for further checking, but it is pointed out by Dr. Jones that the results obtained compared closely with those found in tests at the Kansas agricultural experiment station. Related tests on the feeding of alfalfa hay with other succulents and other dairy feed stuff are being carried on at both the central experiment station and at the Umatilla field station at Hermiston.

Indemnity Claim Period Extended

WASHINGTON, May 21 .- (AP)-The farm administration announced today it had extended for 90 days the period in which exporters of Pacific northwest wheat flour can collect indemnity for losses on shipments to the Philippine islands. The AAA extended the deadline to September 30, 1936, but did not extend the time within which sales may be made. The final date for sales remains June 30. Under the AAA indemnity program, the federal government agreed to pay to exporters any losses incurred by exporters on shipments to the Philippines of flour milled from wheat grown in Washington, Oregon and Idaho.
