

BPW President Remarks on Politics

WOMEN IN public life, why it is hard for them to "break in", regret at seeing them "riding in the rumble seat of politics" . . . these thoughts were expressed Ormond Williams, president of the address given by Miss Charl the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs at the banquet of the Oregon federation last night in Roseburg.

She said in part:

"The avenues of business and many of the professions seem to have offered greater opportunities to women than politics. And yet politics above all other businesses or professions, concerns women because of its universal and far-reaching effect on the lives of all human beings. . . .

"Today we have some very able women pioneers in public service but the trouble is there aren't enough of them. . . .

Social Goals Beckon

"What are the social goals for which we should aim? Our chief concern should be the preservation and fostering of human and cultural values. The women of America have it within their power to set the standards of society. The wretched housing which America provides for millions of its citizens is a challenge to every woman. . . . Another goal upon which the women of America might unite is health for children, young people, and for adults. . . . Women should unite also in demanding educational and cultural opportunities for all—education for citizenship, for work, and for enjoyment of living. . . . And surely we can unite in demanding trained personnel in public service, honest and efficient judiciary. . . .

Qualifications Listed

"Today I am talking to you from the point of view of increasing the number of women in public office rather than complaining of the relatively few who have achieved it. What are the qualifications needed to make a success of a public service job? . . .

"From answers to a questionnaire issued by our institute of occupation, I find that among the primary requirements for women in public office, personality is put first. Then follow aggressiveness and influence, direct or indirect, with high officials. Good health is an essential and the ability to take a slight without showing it is a great asset. Politics, we are told, is no place for the sensitive plant. . . .

"The difficulties women encounter in entering public service are, first that women themselves are not banded together closely enough in the interests of women. They are not sufficiently aggressive in sponsoring their own cause. . . .

"I think that we shall never make democracy function in this country until we lift the taboos on 'politics'; that is, until we define politics as a science of government and charter our course accordingly."

Picnic Enjoyed at Waldo Hills

Waldo Hills.—A group of Silverton high school girls, accompanied by Miss Gladys Fletcher and Miss Elizabeth Rognitz of the faculty, motored to the home of Janet Comstock and enjoyed a picnic supper after school Thursday.

Quarter Million In on Insurance

With incoming receipts in the unemployment insurance fund swelling the total to $262,890 the commission received also protests from employers on the publication of amounts of their contributions which has been made the past several years. Employers cited the provision of the law that the information was to be considered confidential.

Many of the payments were made "under protest", employers anticipating an attack on the constitutionality either of the state or federal acts.

Initial payments covered the first four months. Hereafter monthly remittances will be required.

Past Matrons Assemble at Dinner

Project Shown in Three of Stores

The public is invited to see an exhibit in the windows of the Hamilton and Stiff furniture stores and in the model home of the Imperial furniture store beginning Wednesday and lasting through Friday.

Through the courtesy of these firms, the Salem Continuation school will exhibit a project on formal dinner service as demonstrated by girls in the home-making class. Following the demonstration Wednesday, judges will make their decision as to the most perfectly appointed table.

W. H. Burghard, clerk of the school district, will award a cash prize to the winners.

The demonstration will complete the continuation course for this year. With Mrs. Earl Cooley as instructor, the class has met for the past 12 weeks. Special speakers and demonstrations have supplemented the regular class instruction. The cost of the course has been borne by local and Smith-Hughes funds.

Girls who are employed in household service make up the bulk of the class. They are endeavoring, with the cooperation of their employers and the school, to raise the standards for domestic service in Salem.

Viollet T. Swanson, director of the continuation school, expressed satisfaction at the progress made this year and thanks to organizations such as the placement bureau of the Y.W.C.A. and the local Red Cross office for their cooperation.

More Candidates Reveal Expenses

Jack E. Allen, Pendleton, through Vernon Williams, expended $501.03 in conducting his primary campaign for the democratic nomination for state treasurer, according to an expense account filed in the state department Saturday.

A. C. Callan, secretary of the Clarence H. Gilbert for circuit judge committee, expended $941.18. Gilbert was a candidate for circuit judge of department 11, fourth district, Multnomah county.

Other substantial expense accounts were:

Robert M. Duncan, republican, for state senator 22nd district, $100; E. W. Kirkpatrick, democrat, for representative in congress first district, $84.33; Ashby Dickson, democrat, for circuit judge department 8, fourth district, Multnomah county, $250.75; Lloyd W. Crow, republican, for district attorney Yamhill county, $27.72.

A. M. Dalrymple, democrat, for national committee man, $36.05; Clyde Johnston, republican, for district attorney Lane county, $101.

Wister Lytle Is Given $100 Fine

WOODBURN, May 23.—Wister Lytle, who was arrested several weeks ago on a charge of being intoxicated while driving a motor vehicle on the public highway, which resulted in a serious accident, was given a fine of $100 and sentenced to six months in the county jail. His case came before Justice Overton Friday morning after a change of venue had been denied him. He did not ask for a jury trial.

Additional costs were levied against Lytle and notice of appeal was filed.

First Ripe Strawberries

ROBERTS, May 23.—J. A. Moser has the first ripe strawberries of the season for this section, probably. He has the Gold Dollar variety and has had ripeness for a week.

Two Girls Sharing Valedictory Honor

Two young women have been chosen valedictorians for the Salem high school class of '36 because they have shared the honors of carrying straight A grades throughout their three years' studies, according to Principal Fred D. Wolf. The two are Alice Swift, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George H. Swift and Margaret Upjohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don H. Upjohn. There will as a result be two valedictory speeches on the commencement program at the Elsinore theatre June 12.

Rev. Swift has been chosen by the class to deliver its baccalaureate sermon at the Elsinore Sunday morning, June 7.

Truck Supply Is Ample, Declared

The WPA and other federal program administrations will have no difficulty in obtaining trucks for projects in or near Marion county. Glenn C. Niles, executive secretary of the county relief committee, said late yesterday he had been swamped with inquiries following an announcement Ward C. Smith, Portland, procurement officer of the treasury department, wanted information concerning trucks and drivers available.

Niles said 15 truck drivers called in person and a larger number by telephone. He advised them to obtain questionnaire blanks at his office, 357 North High street, and mail them to Smith. His supply of blanks, however, was exhausted before the day ended.

Scout Drive May Close This Week

Plans to close the Salem Boy Scout district budget drive before the present week ends will be made at a solicitors report luncheon at the Quella Tuesday noon, according to Scout Executive James E. Monroe. At that time a "mop up" squad will be formed to make calls which the regular teams have been unable to attend to.

Monroe said scattering reports led him to believe at least $1700 of the $3820 budget already had been subscribed to.

Hill to File For School Election

T. B. "Tom" Hill will file his nominating petitions as a candidate for Salem school board member early this week, he said yesterday. He will run in opposition to E. A. Bradford and Walter B. Minster, incumbents. Two board positions are to be filled at the school election June 15.

All residents of the school district who are qualified to vote in state elections may cast ballots at the school director election.

Payments on Job Insurance Mount

Checks aggregating $175,560 had been received by the new unemployment compensation insurance commission up to noon Friday.

These payments represented 3690 employers having for or more persons on their payroll.

Officials said the number of employees affected by the law would not be determined until all of the reports of employers were received.

Payments received up to this time are for the first three months of 1936. Payments hereafter will be made monthly.

Directors Named By Nut Growers

Annual reports were given and directors elected at the annual meeting of the Salem Nut Growers cooperative held yesterday afternoon in the Capital business college auditorium which was attended by 63 members of the association.

Directors elected were Sam Brown, E. J. Allen, Paul Wallace, J. J. Doetler, C. F. Nelbert, A.

Hall Sells Share In Credit Bureau

A. A. Hall has sold his interest in the Salem Credit Bureau to his partner, Francis Smith, of Tillamook. Mr. Smith has been devoting part of his time to the Salem business and will now move to Salem to assume full management of the bureau.

Mr. Hall, who is an attorney, will open law offices in the U. S. National Bank building. After graduating from Willamette university in law, Hall served as registrar and instructor in the law school until the World war, when he became assistant adjutant general for the state. After the war he removed to Tillamook, becoming associated in the law practice with Claude W. Barwick.

Hall served as city attorney of Tillamook for ten years and deputy prosecuting attorney for eight years. Early in 1935 he moved to Salem to take over the Credit Bureau business.

Down goes the cost OF REFRIGERATION!

FAIRBANKS-MORSE Conservador Saves Electricity

HELLO, MARGE! This is ME, I just wanted to tell you how GRAND you looked in that new organdy dress last night. That particular shade of pink is MOST becoming. Where did you find it? You made it? Aren't you the smart person? Did you have to make the slip TOO?

THAT REMINDS me. I got a couple of new slips the other day. They are a new rayon material, and are the BEST fitting ones I've ever had. And what's more, they are so perfectly made that the seams are practically guaranteed rip-proof! They are a trade-marked garment, so if you are interested, ask to see the new Cynthia slip. There are about ten different models, both in bias and straight cut styles, and they come in tea rose, flesh and white. The next shipment will have shadow-proof panels, too, and the BEST part of it is that they only cost 98c. . . .

THERE WAS a pretty good crowd at the Town Club last night, didn't YOU think? But, did you ever see SUCH an assortment of dresses? Practically everything from soup to nuts, what with my knit sport dress, your ruffly organdy, those two tailored suits, and that lovely satin number. . . . That's what comes of having an "INFORM-AL" dance—however, the men SEEM to enjoy appearing in flannels, slacks, and business suits, for a change. . . .

SPEAKING OF change—I have determined not to let this LISTENER-IN on our line bother me anymore. I read someplace that one is just as big as the thing that annoys him—so I shan't allow myself to be annoyed anymore. . . .

I BOUGHT lingerie in a BIG way. Beside those two slips, I came home with some printed batiste pajamas. It was pretty hard to choose between them and a batiste nightgown, for the latter were VERY feminine, and befouled, and they were BOTH the same price. I do THINK there's nothing cooler than this cotton for summer. . . .

IF YOU DO prefer silk or rayon, Marge, there were a number of lovely things at $1.98 and $1.19; some were tailored, and several were trimmed with THE best looking lace. I'm still talking about NIGHTGOWNS? You meant SLIPS? Well, let me see, there were pure silk satin and flax slips at $1.98, panne satin ones at $1.49, and evening length slips at $1.79.

I TELL YOU what, Marge, if you are down town this afternoon, run into Penney's and look over THEIR stock of lingerie. You'll be practically astounded at the REALLY superior gowns, slips, dance sets, and rayon undies they show. They are priced lower than any I've seen anywhere, too! But above all, be sure to look at those Cynthia slips. You'll want a COUPLE, I KNOW. . . .

CALL ME up and let me know how you like them, will you? WE'LL SEE you Tuesday evening, anyway. AL-right, then, GOODBYE, MARGE

COME in and see why the Fairbanks-Morse Refrigerator cuts electricity bills down to bedrock. You don't have to be an engineer to understand the kind of proof we show you. Just take one look at the Fairbanks-Morse CONSERVADOR and you will know why it saves real honest-to-goodness dollars and cents.

This patented feature—found in no other refrigerator—is a shelf-lined inner door for storing most frequently used foods. It is located behind the main door. It prevents the cold air from rushing out when you open the main door. The motor runs less. Electric bills are lower.
