Canneries Are Getting Ready

Packing Season to Start This Week, Be on Full Blast First of June

Salem canneries have been cleaning house for the last several days in preparation for the beginning of the packing season which will start this week and get into full swing by the first of

At the Reid, Murdock plant, the rhubarb run is being cleaned up with asparagus packing in full swing, to be finished about the end of the month.

Starr Fruit products plant will start running goosebewies this week with just a few Marshal strawberries in prospect. Paulus Brothers and the Hunt cannery are both ready for the start of the season but will waft until a sufficient quantities are delivered to keep their plants in full swing. Gooseberries Harmed

The cold rains of last week caused considerable damage to by 25 per cent by the stormy weather. All gooseberries in the district are reported to be contracted to the canneries.

While the rain did damage to the gooseberry growers, the small damage that was done to the Marshal strawberries was more than outweighed by benefits that will result to the crop due to the moist Practically all of the crops are coming into the canneries a week earlier than last season. Warm weather during March and early April helped develop the fruit sooner than usual.

State Inspection

An audit this week of accounts of inspectors in the state depart- Medium ment of agriculture shows changes | Coars in the inspection service made by Director S. T. White has effected | Price considerable saving.

Under the change, the state was divided into seven districts with a resident inspector in each district and in charge of all departments of inspection. The audit shows that for three men, the travel costs for a three month period in 1934 was $699.22 and for the same three-months period in 1935, $250.83, or a reduction in costs of 64 per cent under White's plan. At the same time, the inspection work showed an increase of 38.4 per cent in 1935 over

These figures were presented to the Farmers' Union convention at Mt. : Angel early in the week by Director White, who stated that in giving them he wished to make no reflection upon the excellent work his predecessor had done in the department of agriculture, new under the Meier regime,

Shearing Season Near Its Height

With wool prices still holding at 30 and 31 cents a pound, shearing of sheep in the Willamette valley will be in full swing by the first of the week, growers report.

Many of the bands have already been sheared, the rest will be completed as soon as the shearers get around to the various ranches.

The prune outlook for 1936 for Marion county is said to be fair with the probable harvest to be about equal to that of last year, growers report.

Reports that the Yambill crop was a failure are said to be only partially true. Both Yambill and Polk growers are finding their orchards spotted, with no prunes on some trees and a good stand on others, . M. Chapman said yesterday. Lane county trees have been attacked by brown rot which will cut that county's production.

Stayton Cannery Starting Season

Berries to Be Coming In Shortly; Record Pack in Prospect Again

STAYTON, May 23,-Activities at the Stayton Canning company plant we're noticeably increased the past few days with the nor-mal shipments of the remaining cases of last year's pack going steadily on and preparations well under way in getting all machin-ery and canning equipment in readiness for what will probably be the largest pack in the canpery's history. Within a few days the cannery will be receiving strawberries from local growers and present indications point to a much larger pack than during the past

The cold weather of the past winter seemingly did little damage to berry vines here and splttle bug dusting has been carried on to a degree so this pest is well under control in the larger fields. Some smaller growers of this active after the recent rainy weather.

Manager George A. Smith reports the cannery has under con-tract this year 150 acres of beans of the Kentucky Wonder and Blue Lake varieties, an increase over last year's acreage. The Blue Lake beans will again be handled with the automatic snipper and grading machinery installed last year. The Kentucky Wonder pack will be snipped by hand. Increase Probable

With the increased acreage and favorable growing and harvesting weather, the cannery expects this year's bean pack to go above the record pack of 65,000 cases last year. The prune pack last year of over 60,000 cases will probably be equaled this year, and the cannery plans to have the usual pumpkin pack. The Santiam brand products of the cannery find a ready market on the Pacific coast, and part of each year's pack is marketed in the east.

Rain Causes Drop Of Wheat Prices

CHICAGO, May 23 .- (AP)-Material setbacks of wheat values today resulted largely from widespread beneficial moisture both in winter and spring crop states. May wheat, although an old erop moth and not directly affected by rains at this time, led the downturns of prices, and at one stage showed 2 cents a bushel tumble. Some stop-loss selling of May was witnessed.
