

Oregon State Grange Convention Follows Lebanon Strawberry Fair

Sessions Will Begin Monday

Delegates Will Hold Meetings in New Gymnasium of High School

LEBANON, June 6.—Lebanon citizens, having just completed being host to an estimated 15,000 guests during the two days of the Strawberry Fair, Friday and Saturday, will turn Monday to entertainment of between 1,000 and 1,500 delegates who are expected to attend the Oregon state grange convention during the coming week.

The Strawberry fair, ruled over by Queen Martha Cook of Harrisburg and her retinue, ended here tonight with a band concert participated in by 11 bands from neighboring Willamette valley towns. A carnival spirit prevailed for the week that they will be remembered tonight with dancing in downtown halls.

Unlike many of the fair visitors, who drove here and back to their homes on the same day, the grange delegates will all be entertained in Lebanon homes during the week that they will be here. While this is a large number of visitors for a town of this size to accommodate at one time, hospitality for all delegates has been assured; and a local committee is now completing plans for housing all of the visitors, with some of the nearby country homes being opened to the delegates.

Delegates were already arriving for next week's sessions. The new high school gymnasium, recently rebuilt following the fire of last winter that burned the building, will house the meetings. The high school class rooms will be used by committees and the auditorium for the deputy and master's conferences.

The complete program for the first day of the convention follows:

- Registration.
- 9:30 a. m.—Annual meeting of delegates, Grange Fire Insurance, Jerry Saylor, president, at high school.
- 1:30 p. m.—State officers practice. High school gymnasium. Officers and drill team only.
- 4:00 p. m.—Horseshoe pitching contest, in charge of Alvin Carnegie, route 5, Albany, Ore.
- 7:30 p. m.—Local program and get-together, open air meeting. Open to the public. High school grounds. This will be followed by a social gathering.
