Judge Change Is Requested

Mrs. Price Files Writs of Prejudice, M'Mahan and Lewelling

Lyllis F. Price, defendant in divorce action brought by O. E. Price, yesterday filed motion asking for substitution of some judge other than Judge L. G. Lewelling of the equity department or Judge L. H. McMahan of the civil department of the Marion county circuit court to sit in the case. The motion is supported by affidavit of prejudice against the judges filed by Mrs. Price.

The county court yesterday granted three applications for permits filed with it in recent days, one of these being that of D. H. Gardner for operating a dance hall at Playmore park in the north end of the county. The other two are for log haulers, one to B. W. Harberg, operating on the North Santiam highway between Whitewater bridge and Detroit, and to Myers and Young, operating on the North Salem from Larson's spur to the Harris & Hadley sidetrack.

Circuit Court

J. F. Kukacka vs. Leo Rock and W. V. Adams; motion of Rock for complaint to be made more definite and certain in parts.

Emma L. Fread vs. Ole Fread; divorce complaint charging desertion in April, 1925, 13 years after they were married.

John C. Dulik vs. Louis Lachmund et al; extension of time for filing bill of exceptions to today.

Probate Court

F. B. Wedel estate; stipulation allowing B. F. Wedel, one of the heirs, until July 6 to answer citation.

John Bellinger, minor; report of guardian, Laod and Bush Trust company, approved.

Hopewell Ross Burgess estate; petition of Avers Thompson, administrator, for confirmation of sale of real property.

Knut T. Steen estate; order fixing inheritance tax on $9110.34 net estate at $51.15.

Marriage Licenses

Roy J. Coppins, 31, 3813 S. E. Lincoln, salesman, and Mary Elizabeth Taylor, 22, telephone operator, Eugene. Oscar Bruce Berndt, 26, salesman, Salem route three, and Margaret Kay Chopin, legal, clerk, 187 North High.

Justice Court

Etna Breese appearing on a charge of being a fugitive from justice. He is charged with having committed the crime of forgery in Washington. He was held in the county jail for lack of $500 bond until Washington officers come for him.

Municipal Court

Owen Smith, fined $10 for drunkenness, committed to jail; sentence suspended when prisoner agreed to leave town.

Cherry Pickers Still in Demand

Although many orders for cherry pickers were filled by the state employment office yesterday, the office staff estimated that they had made no gain on the number of desired workers, as additional orders were filed during the day. At least 400 pickers are still needed to harvest the crop.

In order to help the pickers in getting to the orchards, several growers have arranged for conveyances to leave from the employment office on North High street at any time after 7 o'clock in the morning. Trucks and cars will leave there during the day.

The situation has not been materially relieved by outside help, the employment staff declared, although there have been some laborers come here from Portland and Washington.

Aid Car Dance to Be Held Tonight By Labor Council

Tonight five dance bands, who are donating their services, will play at the benefit dance for the Floyd McMullen first aid car at Dreamland rink. All funds are to go to the purchase of the car and supplies.

The Salem Trades and Labor council, sponsoring the car, hopes that sufficient proceeds will be received to complete the $2000 fund. At the latest, labor representatives hope that the drive will be over by July 1. Everyone is invited to the dance. The purchase of a ticket will help the cause along even though the purchaser may not dance, campaign workers point out.

War Veteran at Last Finds Relief From Agony of Rheumatism
For 17 Years—Ever Since the Cold, Wet Trenches of Flanders—Veteran a Victim of Rheumatic Torture. Read His Astonishing Experience!
READ THIS SWORN STATEMENT from War Veteran Charles Pattern, 504 W. 4th St. Reno, Nevada:
"Anybody who lived through what I did—and then came out of it—should be grateful enough to tell his fellow-sufferers. Ever since I came back from France, I have suffered with horrible rheumatic pains. I was really desperate, and it is the absolute truth that IN 2 DAYS AFTER TRYING WILLIAMS' R.U.X. Compound I was in less pain than at any time since the War. Every day, now, I am rapidly getting better. Thanks."
Williams' R.U.X. Compound is the formula of an Army doctor who saw for himself the wretched hopeless misery caused by rheumatic pain. It is now available in Salem, 115 S. Com'l, at the Perry's Drug Store. Get a bottle of Williams' R.U.X. Compound on the MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE. You are relieved in 10 days—completely utterly—satisfied—or your money back!

Leads Revival

Evangelist Benjamin F. Smith, known as the "Outlaw Evangelist," who will open a series of meetings Sunday at Evangelist tabernacle, 18th and Ferry streets. He will preach Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. and nightly except Saturdays at 7:45 o'clock. Rev. Smith was fugitive from Salt Lake City to take over the business. He was connected with a department store in that city.

Ladies Dress Shop to Open

Saturday will see the establishment of a new up-to-date ladies store in Salem when the Mode-O-Day doors open at 466 State street. The store is owned and operated by David J. Ellison who has moved here from Salt Lake City to take over the business. He was connected with a department store in that city.

The new store's exclusive feature will be cotton frocks and lingerie made and styled in Hollywood. Nothing but cotton goods will be carried. All articles are to be listed at popular prices.

The opening of the new store comes at an opportune time for Salem people, Ellison declared. The Mode-O-Day designers are celebrating their fourth anniversary during the week and have prepared several special dresses for the event at low prices. Salem women will have the benefit of these specials as the new store opens.

Peppo Plans 135 Miles Rural Lines

An important addition to the Portland Electric Power company's present rural service system of 2300 miles, a rural electrification program costing more than $100,000 and involving construction of 135 miles of new rural service lines, was announced yesterday by Franklin T. Griffith, president of the company, through W. M. Hamilton, district manager from Vancouver to 23 a. m. and from Estacada to Gaston. This record is many times the national average of only 12 per cent of rural homes on power lines.

"Hundreds of new rural homes will find electric service available for the first time this year. Most of the new line construction will be in Multnomah, Clackamas, Marion, Yamhill and Washington counties, with some in Polk and Columbia counties."

It is interesting to note that, under the Peppo program, customers of new line need guarantee payment of a monthly minimum for only five years. This compares with requirements for signing a guarantee for 20 years, for lines built with rural electrification administration funds.

"It is true that in most cases the minimum charge for the first five years on new Peppo lines is slightly larger minimum buys a great deal more electricity. "The Peppo system is the only known one of its size in the United States which has metropolitan rates in effect in its rural territory."

Arts League Will Seek New Rooms

Plans for the Salem Arts league for the coming year were discussed Tuesday night in the Salem public library under the direction of Miss Grace Gilliam, newly-elected president, by the league council.

Inasmuch as the library auditorium has been remodeled into the children's library, it is necessary for the league to find other meeting places for its larger programs.

Arts league programs have been a feature of Salem's winter season for the last 15 years.

City Pool Filter System Effective

"Can See Dime on Bottom" Says Gilmore; Tanks Free to All
Children and adults to the number of 550 at Olinger and 385 at Leslie enjoyed crystal clear water yesterday at municipal pools where filters were working "perfectly" according to Vernon Gilmore, superintendent of recreation.
"You can see a dime at the bottom of either pool even when the youngsters are splashing about," Gilmore enthusiastically affirmed last night.
Pool officials emphasized yesterday that admission to the tanks is free to anyone and that the hours of 6-7 p. m. are reserved for adults and children accompanied by adults. Closing hour will probably be pushed back as demand grows later in the summer. Playground instructors also made plain to classes in handicraft subjects that the city is furnishing without charge all materials for wood-working, raffia work and similar manual exercises.

Ward Patient Pokes Steiner

State Hospital Executive Not Seriously Hurt; Says It's First

Dr. R. E. Lee Steiner, superintendent of the Oregon state hospital here, suffered slight facial lacerations Wednesday, when he was attacked by Dr. R. Bywater, committed to the institution from Grants Pass.

Bywater struck Dr. Steiner on the nose with his bare fist. Steiner said this was the first time he had been attacked by a patient in 28 years.

The attack occurred while Dr. Steiner was visiting the insane wards to inquire into the needs of the patients. Steiner said he attempted to calm the patient but was unsuccessful. The patient will not be deprived of any privileges or be punished as a result of the attack, Dr. Steiner said.

Bywater was committed to the hospital three years ago and has been isolated in the criminal ward for two years. He previously attacked several patients in the hospital, Dr. Steiner said. Prior to his commitment Dr. Bywater was an eye, ear and nose specialist at Grants Pass.

Steiner explained that he always removed his glasses before entering the criminal insane wards.

Taxes, Probating Consume Estates

Wenger Tells Rotarians How to Prepare For Probate Costs

Karl E. Wenger outlined to the Salem Rotary club the burdens of inheritance taxes and emphasized the necessity of having funds available to meet taxes and expenses in the settling of estates, in an address before the club Wednesday.

On a $30,000 estate the expenses of settlement, widow's allowance and state inheritance tax amounts to $4145. The taxes increase rapidly for larger estates. On a $100,000 estate the immediate charges for expenses and taxes amount to over $15,000. $1363 going for state inheritance tax and $2926 to the federal government. On a $200,000 estate the state share is $5,863 and the federal $13,975, and the total for all immediate charges over $35,000.

"While the government plans to leave resources in estates for the families to live on," said Wenger, "in actual practice it is difficult to raise the cash required. Many estates are ruined through forced liquidation with little or nothing left for the family. All the shrinkage comes out of the family's share."

"To reduce the devastating effect of estate taxes, it is wise to provide sufficient cash or good securities or life insurance which can be used to meet the probate costs and taxes."

The meeting closed the Rotary year, and new members added during the year were seated at the head table. Brown E. Sisson succeeds C. A. Sprague as club president.
