

Huskies Remain Favorites as Clymbic Crew Trials Awaited

Two Heats on Today's Slate

Northwest 4-Oar Outfit Makes Best Time When First Trials Held

PRINCETON, N. J., July 3.—(AP)—A wide open race in the Olympic trials for eight-oared crews was indicated tonight as six powerful boats tapered off their preparations for the two-day regatta starting tomorrow on Princeton's picturesque Lake Carnegie.

None of the coaches would make a prediction on the outcome and none would reveal the trials made by his charges in workouts over the 2,000-meter course. Al Ulbricksen, coach of Washington's Huskies, winners of the Poughkeepsie classic two weeks ago and favorites here, expressed the opinion the race would be a wide open affair and remarked that "California would be hard to beat."

Two heats will be rowed tomorrow, with the first and second place winners in each going into the final Sunday.

Washington, Princeton and New York Athletic club will race in the first heat at 5:35 p. m. (Eastern Standard time). California, Navy and Penn will battle in the second heat, scheduled at 5:50.

Ulbricksen will send out the same crew which won at Poughkeepsie, but California, runner-up there and the United States representative in the past two Olympics, will be slightly changed.

Jack White, No. 4 oarsman in Washington's eight-oared crew, pulled a back muscle in a practice spin today but will row tomorrow.

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—(AP)—The United States was one step nearer the selection of its Olympic rowing team tonight, and now practically all that remains to be done is to find a way to pay the team's way to the games in Berlin.

The Penn A. C. pair-oared shell with coxswain won the only final Olympic tryout of the day, with the Pennsylvania Barge club second.

In the four-oared shells (with coxswain) event, four boats qualified for tomorrow's race. They were the University of Washington, Riverside Boat club, Cambridge, Mass., the University club, California, and Cornell university.

Washington kept up the tradition of the rest of the Al Ulbricksen's crews this year by winning the first heat in 7:22, while the California crew, which won the other heat, was clocked in 7:36.2.

Victory String of Seattle Is Broken

Ducks Win 5-4 But Lead in Coast League Kept by Suds; Oaks Lose

SEATTLE, July 3.—(AP)—Portland's Beavers broke Seattle's eight-game winning streak here tonight with a 5 to 4 victory in the fourth game of their series.

The Indians, however, retained their league leadership, as the Oakland Oaks dropped their game with Sacramento in the south.

Bill Posedel held the Indians well under control for eight innings, but was forced to give way to Ad Liska in the final frame when a Seattle uprising fell a single run short of tying the score. A double play by the Beavers killed the rally.

Portland grabbed the lead in the fourth with a three-run assault on Dick Barrett, who went the route for the Indians. Frederick singled, Clabaugh walked, and Bedore showed them ahead a notch with a sacrifice. With first base open, Brucker was purposely passed, and Lee then smashed a hot one at shortstop Glenn Wright, who juggled the ball. Frederick scored on the error, and Clabaugh and Brucker came in a moment later on Pete Coscarart's single.

Two more were shoved across by the Beavers in the sixth, Bedore and Brucker counting on Posedel's single.

Louis Healed and Ready For Battle

NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP)—Joe Louis, completely mended in both mind and body, is ready to strike out along the comeback trail. He hopes will lead again to the top of the heavyweight division.

The 22 year old Detroit negro paid a hurried visit to New York today to appear on a radio program and discuss plans for an August comeback bout with promoter Mike Jacobs.

Belated back into the second flight by Max Schmeling only two weeks ago, Louis seemed surprisingly fit and cheerful.

Just who will be selected as Joe's next opponent is problematical. Personally, Joe would prefer a return to Schmeling, but he'll not ask for this until the German gets his merited track at Jimmy Braddock's title.

Midget racing cars will be seen in action by Salem fans for the first time today at the fairgrounds, and are expected to set off the loudest fireworks of the Fourth here when it comes to thrills. Top, Woody Woodford; below, Mel Kenely, in their abbreviated thunder buggies.

ST. LOUIS, July 3.—(AP)—Roxie Lawson, Detroit Tiger hurler, had four hitless innings today but he pulled through aided by heavy slugging on the part of his mates, and the St. Louis Browns were subdued 9 to 5.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 3.—(AP)—Reports of limit catches in many portions of the state lured fishermen to streams and lakes over the Fourth of July holidays.

The state game commission said fishing over the state would be "good" on the average.

County reports included:

Clackamas: Favorable. Eagle, Deep and Clear creeks and the Clackamas river good, either fly or bait.

Deschutes: Limit catches, fly, trout, bait being made at Pauls lake and East Lake; upper Deschutes too high.

Linn: Streams in "fine shape" for fly fishing. Fine catches in upper Cascade lakes.

Benton: Streams in general "very fair," with limit catches in five rivers, and Ales and Fall creeks.

Tillamook: Angling good, limit of large trout on several streams; heavy Chinook run in Big Nestucca.

Lincoln: Few salmon taken on troll in Siletz; deep sea fishing fair; several limit trout catches; Upper Siletz; conditions are "ideal."

CHICAGO, July 3.—(AP)—The White Sox obligingly nosed out the Cleveland Indians 6 to 5 today to pull the Boston Red Sox back into the American league first division.

With Boston idle, the defeat for the tribe gave the Red Sox a tie for fourth place.

be smaller and the nurses would spend more time contacting homes and schools and less on the road between calls.

The enlarged health program will largely improve service to rural homes and communities, where communicable diseases, control, maternity hygiene and school health work has been forced below standard in recent years for lack of funds. Dr. Douglas indicated.

West Salem News

WEST SALEM, July 3.—Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Kempfle have moved into a house on McNary avenue. The Kempfles formerly lived in Eola.

Mrs. Glenn Davenport opened her home Wednesday afternoon to a group of friends who honored Mrs. Alice Phillips with a shower of many lovely gifts. Mrs. Phillips' mother, Mrs. Hysler, assisted Mrs. Davenport in serving the refreshments.

Mrs. A. D. Dickson, Mrs. J. A. Gosser, Mrs. George Lathrop, Mrs. Art Hathaway, Mrs. Elmer Rierson, Mrs. Merle Phillips, Mrs. Robert Ketterman, Mrs. Fred Kuhn, Mrs. John Evans and Mrs. Phyllis Tucker.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dumphy and children returned Thursday from a week's visit to Taft. The Dumphys live in Burke, Idaho and are here visiting Mrs. Dumphy's sister, Mrs. Glenn Davenport.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fiesher, and Mrs. Teresa Hanks and children are planning to leave Saturday for a vacation at Newport and other places along the Coast for a week or longer.

Mrs. Peter Arnes gave a birthday dinner Tuesday for Rosanne Hanks. Covers were laid for Rosanne, Mrs. Hanks, Mrs. Teresa Hanks, Mrs. Rose Peterson, Wilfred Kanan and the Arnes family.

Through a mistake it was reported that Mr. and Mrs. Guy Newgent had rented their home to Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Snapp. The Newgenits have not rented their home yet.

The Dale Lemons were released from quarantine Friday morning. They have been quarantined the last month for scarlet fever.

Arthur Brown, State Deputy warden of the Grange, and Mrs. Brown returned Wednesday from a 10 days business and pleasure trip to southern Oregon where they visited many granges and helped to organize new ones at Missouri Flat and Pistol River. They went as far south as Ashland and also spent several days at Bandon Beach which they believe to be one of Oregon's most beautiful beaches.

Midget Autos To Make Bow

Six Little Speed Wagons and 12 Big Ones Will Race, Fairgrounds

With big cars and little cars and some of the northwest's best big wheelers, Bobby Rowe, veteran auto race promoter, will today stage for the American Legion a full program of auto races on the Fairgrounds half-mile track as the major feature of the Legion July 4th celebration.

The feature of the race card will be the first appearance in Salem of the midget racing automobiles which have been creating a sensation on California tracks and recently in Seattle, Tacoma and Portland. Six of the midget cars, said to provide twice as many thrills per wheel as the big motors, will be piloted by the outstanding drivers in the northwest.

Topping the list of drivers is Mel Kenely of Los Angeles. Kenely, who will drive both big and little cars during the day program, was former champion last year. Driving in last year's celebration races here Kenely took the 25-lap main event by a large margin.

Ex-Champs Appear

Three other former champions are included in the drivers in today's races. Woody Woodford, 1934 northwest champion, and Art Scoville, 1933 champ, will appear as drivers of the large sized cars while Bayless Leverett, southwest champion for the last two years and acknowledged as one of the leading drivers in the country, will race in the midget cars.

Ten events are included in the racing program, scheduled to get under way at 2:30 o'clock. Time trials will begin at 1:15. The midget cars will appear in five of the events and the rest will be limited to full sized buggies.

Drivers Are Listed

The complete list of drivers follows:

Big cars—Mel Kenely, Los Angeles; Art Scoville, Los Angeles; Roy Lake, Denver; Tony West, Seattle; Bruce Denslow, Minneapolis; Ray Chase, Portland; Swede Nelson, Olympia; Joe Osborne, Portland; Eric Gilson, Portland; Woody Woodford, Los Angeles; Swede Johnson, Portland; Roy Erntson, Minneapolis.

Midget cars—Mel Kenely, Los Angeles; Bayless Leverett, San Diego; Ray Chase, Portland; Roy Erntson, Minneapolis; Neely Burkitt; Johnny McDowell, Altadena.

Good Fishing Reported in Many Districts; Limit Catches Are Made

PORTLAND, Ore., July 3.—(AP)—Reports of limit catches in many portions of the state lured fishermen to streams and lakes over the Fourth of July holidays.

Trick Knee Cause Cornelius Defeat

Catcher Hits Sure Double But Collapses Before Getting to First

PORTLAND, Ore., July 3.—(AP)—A trick knee that buckled in a crucial moment cost Cornelius a chance to remain in the running for the Oregon semi-pro baseball championship tonight and gave the Portland Journal team a 5 to 4 ten-inning victory.

Heinrich, Cornelius, catcher, hit what looked like a sure double in the last half of the 10th inning, but his knee collapsed and he was unable to reach first. The next batter came through with a single that, doubtless would have scored a runner from second. It was the last threat of the losers.

The embattled editors unleashed a three-hit attack in the 10th inning to move ahead 5 to 4.

It was the second defeat for Cornelius, which became the first team eliminated from the 16-team tournament.

DALLAS, July 3.—The slugging Mill team added to its lead in the Dallas City league by taking two contests this week. The CCC team climbed out of the cellar by nosing out the Firemen in one contest and the Mill set back the Merchants in another important clash.

Doble Wood, Mill hurler shut out the second place Merchants 7 to 0 Wednesday night in the big game of the week. The lumbermen drove Tiny's place into the cellar by administering an 11 to 1 beating last Friday. Monday night a fighting CCC team put over three runs in the back inning to beat the Firemen 7 to 6.

This week the Mill team hooks up with the Firemen and the CCC Camp team plays Tiny's Place in a cellar battle.

Eight Billed For Mat Round Robin

Eight wrestlers, all of them of main event calibre, will take part in a round robin tournament on the next American Legion wrestling night at the armory, set for Wednesday of next week.

The list is headed by Mike London, the Lodi Crybaby, and also includes such grappling masters as Walter T. Achlu, Rod Fenton, George Bennett, Pascual Cosaino, Danny McShain, Abdul Kadir and Jack Clayborn. With the exception of Clayborn, negro wrestlers, all of them have been appearing here recently.

Von Cramm Hurt, Perry Wins Title

WIMBLETON, Eng., July 3.—(AP)—Baron Gottfried Von Cramm pulled a groin muscle out of place on his first serve and thereafter offered only feeble opposition today as Fred Perry won his third straight all-England tennis championship.

Not until Perry had crushed Von Cramm at 6-1, 6-1, 6-0 victory, did the blond-haired Temton permit the referee to make an announcement of his injury. Then he walked off the court dejectedly.

Following the Perry-Von Cramm match, Britain's Davis cup pair, Pat Hughes and Charles Tuckey, gained one-half of the doubles final with a 7-5, 6-2, 3-6, 11-9 victory over the American champions, Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn.

The other doubles finalists will be another British combination, Charles Hare and Fred Wilde. They vanquished the French team, Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Distance Star Makes Record

Lash Runs Fastest 10,000 Meters; Whitman Boy Ties Meet Mark

PRINCETON, N. J., July 3.—(AP)—Running the fastest 10,000 meters ever achieved by an American, Donald Lash of Indiana proved himself this country's premier distance racer this evening by running away with the combined A. A. U. national championship and Olympic final trophy.

Lash spread-eagled his field and negotiated the distance, approximately six and one-quarter miles, in 31 minutes, 6.9 seconds.

His time was slightly more than a full minute behind the world record of 30:06.2 set by the great Paavo Nurmi in 1924. The long-legged Hoosier nevertheless wiped out the mark of 31:24 set by Tom McDonough of the Boston A. A. at Cambridge, Mass., in 1932, and the best previous performance ever registered by an American citizen.

Graham Does Well

Robert Rodenkirchen of the New York A. C., demonstrated his sprint prowess by lowering the junior meet record for the 200 meter dash, run on the straightaway, to 21.2 seconds in the trials.

Bob Graham of Whitman college, Washington, equaled Rodenkirchen's new record time in capturing the second heat from Billy Hopkins of Virginia.

Records were achieved by Hugh Cannon of Brigham Young university, who tossed the discus 157 feet 2 1/2 inches, and Irving Horowitz of the 92nd street Y. M. C. A., New York, who won the 3,000-meter walk in 14 minutes 1.4 seconds to slice 50 seconds off the former junior mark.

The Senators got off to a flying start in the state semi-pro tournament Thursday night by overwhelming the Old Timers 15 to 3. Next opponent for the Senators will be the Red Sox shoe company team which also won Friday night, beating Bridal Veil (which sounds more like a name for a race horse than a baseball team) 5 to 1. The Senators will play the shoemen in the 8:30 o'clock game Monday night. Because they are seeded No. 2 in the tournament and because Reliable Shoe only beat out the Old Timers 10 to 9 last Sunday the Senators will be favorites in any betting that is done.

"Frisco" Edwards will be surprised to learn that Dick Strite, sports editor of the Eugene Morning News, has pointed the accusatory finger at him. "Frisco" will be further surprised to know that Strite points him out as the master mind behind an underhanded attempt to talent Eugene's two best softball hurlers with professionalism by luring them with jobs in Salem at $125 per month. Strite, viewing with alarm the threat of professionalism to softball, writes in his column, "And where does this skulduggery come from—no other place than our Capital City. A representative of Frisco Edwards, manager of the Salem Senators and softball mentor for a Salem paper plant, has been to Eugene within the last 10 days contacting both local hurlers."

It may be of interest to Dick Strite to know that "Frisco" Edwards has not managed a softball team or had any connection with a team since he gave up in disgust after his Wait's club of 1934 went through an entire season with only one win. If we are wrong, and are not, the rest of the team will certainly be interested to know that the man who calls the plays fairly and squarely at Sweetland field is secretly manager of the Paper Mill club. If we are wrong and "Frisco" is an undercover man for the Paper Mill we shall demand a handsome out of his no doubt prodigious salary for keeping it quiet.

It is no secret that most of the players on the crack Paper Mill team are employed at the paper mill. They are paid for the work they do at the paper mill and not for the playing they do on Sweetland field. No doubt their ability as softball players had a lot to do with their getting jobs. In this the paper mill is not the only offender, if that is the word. Whether this is wrong or not we cannot say.

Except that he unjustly accuses "Frisco" Edwards there is much meat in Strite's talk of professionalism. As in any sport that becomes hotly competitive there is a touch of professionalism, subsidization or whatever name you prefer. It seems to follow on the heels of putting too much emphasis on the win and lost column in any sport of which the original purpose was recreation. It is the problem that has been making college faculties and apologists go round and round of late years, seeking some way out of the middle of professionalism in college athletics. In spite of all their high resolves and commendations the fact remains that the colleges which subsidize athletes win games and those that don't, generally lose. To the alumni it is the prestige that a win gains for alma mater that counts.

The nice problem of controlling professionalism is what has, in many cases made necessary stringent amateur rules that often appear absurd and ridiculous. It is a question of drawing a line and line drawing, except for the drawing of a neat, well-drawn, a nicely. We cannot condemn a softball player because he accepts a job with the incidental provision that he play on the company's softball team but we can see that there is unfairness to those sponsors who have no large quota of jobs to dole out to deserving players.

If Strite's accusation that an attempt has been made to lure Eugene pitchers to Salem is true we consider that action reprehensible. If it is true we agree with Strite that it is time for the State Softball association to step in and make some rules; although, rules often make things more muddled than before. It must not be forgotten that the primary purpose of a local softball league is to provide recreation for local people.

Report Collision

Mabel L. Hathaway, West Salem, reported to police last night that her automobile had been involved in a collision with a car driven by C. N. Rayn, 228 State street, on Court between Liberty and High street. No injuries were listed.

Petitions Sent, Other Districts

Contemplate Single High For 10 Districts in Scio and Vicinity

SCIO, July 3.—Petitions will be circulated next week in school districts in the Scio vicinity looking to formation of a union high school district here.

An election will be called in this district to vote union with outside districts as soon as petitions have been secured from about 10 prospective districts nearby.

Ten signatures, or one third of the voters if the district contains fewer than 30, are necessary to agree officially to formation of a union district, according to J. M. Bennett, Linn county school superintendent who attended a recent meeting of the school board of district No. 95 of Scio.

Petitions in each district are considered as assent to formation of the union if no remonstrances are filed. The latter must contain the same number of signatures. A remonstrance in any one of the proposed districts will bring the issue to a vote in all the districts concerned, the county superintendent further explained.

The union high school proposal was defeated three years ago in Scio when the law required all districts in the area to be members.

Chairman Favors Move

O. A. Hall, chairman of the school board of the Scio district, recently declared himself heartily in favor of the movement and expressed confidence that enough districts would be favorable to secure a union district centering in Scio within the coming few months.

In case of formation of a union district, this district would retain its identity, and outside districts forming the union would not assume any part of Scio's debt. J. H. Tumbleson, principal of Scio high school, emphasized.

Scio has a debt of approximately $4000 in outstanding warrants, which is expected to be retired by the end of 1936.

Work of excavating for installation of 520 new 6-inch castiron water mains for Scio will begin early next week, according to Councilman A. L. Plummer, in Councilman's office, and matters for the city.

The pipes will be laid for three blocks along east Main street from the corner of Main to the corner of Wheeler streets. They will replace wooden mains in use for nearly 40 years. Castiron mains will be installed in other parts of the city as soon as funds permit. Local labor will be used for the project.
