Gary Cooper Held Worth 4 Million

One Studio Sues Another For That Sum Because He Changed Over

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—(P)—The cash value of Gary Cooper, tall movie star, was rated at $4,000,000 today when Paramount Pictures Corp., sued Samuel Goldwyn, film producer, charging that Goldwyn secretly raided the Paramount contract list and stole Cooper.

Paramount asked $4,000,000 actual damages, and another $1,000,000 punitive award. A suit brought in federal court alleged that Goldwyn, or his representative, secretly induced Cooper not to sign a new contract with Paramount, his present employer, when negotiations were opened on that subject last January. His present ticket expires next December.

Instead, the complaint alleged, Cooper was persuaded to sign up with Goldwyn.

All this was accomplished, it continued, "by means of false and fraudulent representations and statements." Adolph Zukor, Paramount chairman of the board, personally accused Goldwyn of a "breach of good morals and ethics, and a violation of the law."

Sentiment Hinted Goldwyn replied, "I haven't seen the complaint, but I do not understand any theory on which any such claim can be based."

Cooper toward the task of talking into the lap of his manager, Jack Moss, who admitted he had signed the lanky actor to a Goldwyn contract before the Paramount agreement had run out.

"It was just one of those things," he said, "I don't know of any trouble between the two studios."

The movie colony was inclined to believe that sentiment played an important part in Cooper's alignment with Goldwyn.

Gary, friends said, got his first movie chance through Goldwyn, ten years ago last month. Arriving in Los Angeles from his native Helena, Mont., Cooper vainly hunted a job as a newspaper cartoonist, and eventually landed in Hollywood as a cowboy extra in "The Winning of Barbara Worth," a Ronald Coleman-Vilma Bankley vehicle.

U. S. Gives China Credit, Reported

TOKYO, July 21.—(Tuesday)—(P)—Reports of an agreement for a large American credit to China to purchase airplanes, automobiles and railway rolling stock were quoted in dispatches from Shanghai printed in vernacular newspapers today.

A majority of the papers treated the reported plan as a menace to Japan's interests in China.

The Nichi Nichi's correspondent asserted that Arthur Campbell, a United States financial representative, and T. V. Soong, president of the Bank of China, signed the agreement at the United States consulate at Shanghai July 15.

"Since the credit was virtually used to bolster China's national defense, Japan cannot overlook it," the newspaper said.

Rebels Active in Spain, 2 Colonies

PARIS, July 20.—(P)—The exiled Bourbon rulers of Spain watched the flames of Moroccan and mainland revolt with acknowledged "interest" today, but Spanish sources here saw them excluded from the rebels' plan.

Rather, these sources said, the insurgent soldiers were aiming at another rightist dictatorship like that of General Primo de Rivera, who died in Paris in 1930, after ending six years of absolute, military power in Spain.

A little more than a year later King Alfonso was forced out of the country by the establishment of a republic, which eventually came under the direction of the left coalition government against which today's rebels are fighting.

May Return, Rumor

(After a quick flight from one castle to another in Czechoslovakia, former King Alfonso, himself, said he did not regard the revolt as a movement toward restoration of the throne, and asserted he wanted only a peaceful rightist regime in Spain.)

(There were reports in Praha, however, that Alfonso might fly to Spain.)

Rumors of military plots in Spain have persisted here for months, although the government shook up its rightist high army command, General Franco, for one, was sent from Madrid to the distant Canary Islands.

Last week's assassination in Madrid of the monarchist, Jose Calvo Sotelo, served to increase the rumors, since Calvo Sotelo was slain by men in the uniforms of leftist government assault guards.
