Cooperative Has Pea Fumigation Equipment Added

MONMOUTH, July 24 .- The Monmouth Cooperative warehouse has been serviced with equipment for fumigating pea seed. An air tight room in which 100 sacks of peas or other seed may be treated, is exposed to the release of a drum of carbon-monoxide gas.

The gas, heavier than air, sinks to the floor level and within 24 hours permeates the sacks and contents ,exterminating microbe life. This device is particularly useful now, when Canadian peas are being grown in many sections of Polk, as a segment of the government's conservation program; for orchard cover crops; for stock food and forage. The pea seed is often infested with a weevil which in its feeding descroys the vital growth germ.
