"Ohio is going Republican all the way down the line," said former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper of Ohio, left, when he conferred with Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, G. O. P. presidential nominee, in Topeka.

Hauling Permits Of Two Revoked

Log hauling permits of Vernon Estelle and J. A. Rowland were revoked by the county court Tuesday as a result of violation of restrictions placed upon them in the use of certain county roads. A third violator, Glenn Jenkins, has not yet been granted a permit.

Trucks owned by the three men were found to be using newly oiled roads near Turner last week. The public utilities commissioner has been advised of the violation. Court officials said that revocation of P.U.C. plates may also be ordered.

Bee Detail Talks At Hornet Taming

PORTLAND, Ore., July 29 (AP)—Patrolman Ernest Seitzinger may be the Portland police department's "bee detail" all right but not useful as necessary for the taming of hornets. The patrolman recently swept a swarm of bees into a box at a downtown intersection and took them home to join other hives.

But today was different. Patrolman Frank H. Brown was investigating his call box to ascertain what made it so queer this time to the central switchboard when "all of a sudden dozens of them (hornets) popped out." They were being smoked out of the call box tonight.

Patrolman Seitzinger wasn't on call.

Planners Facing Erosion Problem

PORTLAND, Ore., July 29 (AP)—T. T. Mungler of Portland, director of the Pacific northwest forestry experiment station, told the northwest regional planning board today that clearing of once-forested land in the west had presented new problems of flood control and soil erosion.

He urged representatives from Oregon, Washington and Idaho to correlate closely all problems relating to land and water resources in making surveys and setting up proposed projects.

Cannon Shots Greet Roosevelt

QUEBEC, July 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt will be greeted with cannon salutes—reserved for visiting heads of states—when he visits this ancient city Friday.

Elaborate plans have been made to welcome the neighboring nation's chief executive, who was expected to discuss the proposed St. Lawrence Waterway compact with Canadian officials.

During his one day visit, the president will confer with Premier MacKenzie King and Lord Weems, governor general.

Public Invited to View Pet Parade

At Olinger Field; Program and Demonstration of Work Also Slated

Twelve prizes, three in each of six divisions, will be offered in the annual city playground pet parade which will be held at Olinger field at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Esther Black, children's instructor, announced last night. There will be first, second and third place awards for the best trained, largest, most unusual, funniest, smallest and prettiest pets.

The pets, which in previous years have included goats, fions, dogs, mice, fish, bees, birds, ponies and cats, will be judged by Mrs. David Wright and Mrs. Ray Yocom.

Miss Black said all entrants must meet at the Olinger tennis courts by 1:30 p. m. Friday. Advance registration is unnecessary.

Program Arranged
Children from the playground classes will exhibit a food and raffia handiwork and present a short program following the parade. The program: Tap dance, Lorraine King; reading, Betty Lou Estes; tap dance, Carolyn and Jean Curtis; tumbling act, beginners and advanced classes.

"This parade and program are given for the interest of the general public and we hope to have a large crowd," Miss Black said. "There will be a loudspeaker car so that all may hear."

The Olinger swimming pool will be closed Friday between 2 and 3:30 o'clock.

The other outstanding playground season event, dressup day, will be staged at Leslie field, probably Friday, August 14. Both the pet parade and the dressup day are for participation by boys and girls from both Leslie and Olinger fields.

Ellsworth Broke, Says in Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., July 29 (AP)—Lincoln Ellsworth, noted explorer, said today "I would give no money no airplane, so I'll have to see what turns up." His comment was in response to a question as to what he would do next.

Ellsworth and his wife aired through Portland en route to Santa Cruz, Calif., for a short stay before the explorer returns east to work on his book concerning the Antarctic.

"I have no plans, that's honest," he said, and then hesitated before saying "I wish I could tell you."

He commented that parts of the Antarctic as large as North America were still unexplored.

Asked whether he thought the south pole region would be of commercial value to the world, Ellsworth said: "That's hard to say... but I don't care much about that; all I'm interested in is blazing the trail."

Retire? "I don't think I'll ever settle down."

Food Control Outlook Good, McNary Declares

CLATSKANIE, Ore., July 29 (AP)—Senator Charles McNary (R-Ore.) told 200 persons at a meeting here that he hoped to see $75,000,000 appropriated for further federal flood control by the next congress and that it is the government's "duty to consider flood control as a national problem."

In any such program, the senator said the Columbia river has a priority.

--but DOES Mother Know Best?

Taking care of baby is a full-time job and one that mother is happy to devote time to do well. She can always be counted on to make wise decisions on the little one's behalf.

But when baby shows signs of not being well, it is the family physician who knows best what to do. Wise mothers appreciate the value of his superior training and seek his aid immediately.
