Enlarge, Remodel Creamery Building

INDEPENDENCE, Aug. 20.—The Independence Dairy Products company are remodeling the old creamery building. Besides remodeling, plans call for 250 new lockers, a new roof and a new "sharp room." About $5,000 will be expended on the project. The office will be moved to the south front of the building, and the north side will be refrigeration room.

The new building will be modernized to harmonize with the new creamery plant that was completed a year ago. This will call for additional equipment in refrigeration, and the lockers will be rented to those who desire this type of refrigeration. More than half of the lockers have already been spoken for. This new plant will adjoin the one built a year ago, and an awning will be put across both plants.

The "sharp room" will be on the south side of the old building. The boiler room will be back of the "sharp" room and fuel oil will be used. The cream plant will be in the new building and modern throughout.
