Rural Folk Have Their Inning When State Fair Time Returns

Marion County Exhibits Many

Livestock and Poultry of Nearby District Will Make Big Showing

Marion county breeders of livestock and poultry and pigeon fanciers will be strong contenders for top honors in their respective divisions at the Diamond Jubilee Oregon state fair, opening Monday, entries received up to early the past week indicate.

In the cattle barns, exhibits will be made by Henry Zorn, Aurora; Lewis Judson, Salem; Frank Durbin, Salem; Mrs. Mary G. Keene, Gervais; Mrs. J. W. Mc Kinney, Turner. The famous Hulburt Jerseys of Independence will be at the fair again, and other herds from this section will be represented as judging gets under way.

Salem exhibitors in the poultry and pigeon classifications will include Edwin B. Bishop, Merle Willmeseller, Charles K. Mills, Mrs. Mary E. Brooks, K. I. Jen-nings, F. L. Zielinski, Mrs. Maude Ramsden, Douglas McKay, jr. Hollywood Lofts, L. R. Fisher, Amos Minneman and Raymond

Many Draft Horses The show for draft horses will include the magnificent animals from the Stephen Hemshorn farm, Mt. Angel, G. H. Toelle farm, Stayton, Everett Service farm, Aumsville, and the John Stastney farm, Jefferson.

Marion county entries in the sheep and goat pens will include Millard Orey, Salem, Willard Aker, Brooks, Claude Steusloff, Salem, Stella Culver, Salem. The Eldon Riddell flocks from Monmouth will be represented. Swine pens have been reserved for stock from the Hayes Labish Farms, Brooks, the J. M. Nichols & Son and Cass Nichols & Son pens, and Robert Zielinski pens, all of Salem; and from the F. C. Schermacher stock at Turner. Other nearby entries have been made by Joe Rogers, jr., Independence; Roy Harms, E. W. Gribble and E. W. Koch, all of through numerous tricks at com-Canby; and Herbert Willard,

Conveniences for Public Numerous

Telephones, Postoffice on Grounds; Richardson To Head Police

Many conveniences for thousands of people who will attend the Oregon state fair this week will be located on the Public telephones will be found in many parts of the grounds and both major telegraph companies will have stations in operation. The fairgrounds post office lo cated in the agricultural building, will offer the full facilities of a large post office to the public Many people are not cognizant of the fact that a regular posoffice is operated on the grounds and that a surprisingly large volume of mail is handled there. Arthur E. Gibbard, assistant postmaster in the Salem office, has been in charge of the fairgrounds station for many years. Has Own "Finest" Warren "Dick" Richardson will be in charge of the fairgrounds police. This year for the first time in many years policing of the grounds will be done by a private force instead of the Salem police. State police officers will aid in directing traffic.

Protection against fire damage will be given by the fairgrounds fire station, located near the cattle barns. Rest rooms are located conveniently about the grounds and there will also be several parcel checking rooms. An information booth will be located at the main office.
