

Hop Market Firm During Past Week

Sales of New Fuggles Are Made at 40c; None of Holdover Reported

Pacific coast hop markets maintained the steady to firm tone which prevailed for some time past, during the week ending September 2, according to the weekly hop market review of the United States bureau of agricultural economics. Prices ranged from unchanged in Oregon markets to somewhat higher in California. Materially smaller output for the 1936 crop as compared with last year, continued fairly active demand from domestic consumers and light current offerings from growers, were the principal influencing market factors. Harvesting of the new crop was progressing rapidly in practically all producing areas of the three coast states, with yields and quality variable, according to trade advisers.

Oregon markets were steady to firm, but only moderately active since most growers were busy with harvesting operations. Sales by growers in this state were reported as totalling 320 bales of the 1936 crop Fuggles variety at 40 cents per pound. There were no sales of 1935 crop hops or older growths reported during the past week, and no 1935 contracts were reported written.

Outturn of Fuggles this year was reported at around 4,000 bales as compared with 6,000 bales of this variety harvested in Oregon last year. Deliveries on contracts covering the early varieties has begun, with samples showing wide variation in quality. Washington hop markets were also firm and fairly active. Trade reports indicated sales of around 500 bales of 1936 crop hops had been made by Yakima valley growers during the past week at 40 cents per pound.

California hop markets strengthened materially during the past week influenced by light new crop yields, small offerings from growers and improvement in domestic demand. New high prices for the season were registered with the contracting of 300 bales of 1936 hops which netted Sonoma county growers 40 cents per pound. At the close of the period 40 cents was being freely bid in the coastal counties and dealers were endeavoring to obtain options at this price in the Sacramento valley.

Growers however, were generally unwilling to offer further amounts until after completion of harvest and the filling of contracts made earlier in the season. With the 1936 crop estimated by the trade as around 21,500 bales, only around 4,500 bales remained in strictly growers' hands.

219 Warships Are Scrapped by U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—American warships which cost more than $500,000,000 have been scrapped or otherwise disposed of under the Washington and London naval treaties. Before the pact expires at midnight December 31 the United States—as well as Great Britain and Japan—must scrap additional destroyers and submarines to bring their fighting weight in such craft down to the maximum permitted each sea power. Navy officials said today that 219 warships already had been scrapped or disposed of by this country under the two treaties. The Washington treaty went into effect August 17, 1923, and the London pact December 1, 1930. The navy officers declined to designate the number of American craft which must be scrapped during the next four months, and figures on warships already junked by Great Britain and Japan also were not revealed. Under the Washington treaty the navy has scrapped or sunk 28 battleships which cost $197,418,000 to build. Two ships, the Virginia and the New Jersey, were used as targets by army aviators in bombing tests. The other 26 brought $1,410,000 when they were broken up and sold for scrap. Construction halted Seven battleships and four cruisers, destined to cost $428,800,000 were under construction when the treaty was signed. Work on the ships was stopped after the expenditure of $153,314,000, and scrapping, including settlement of construction contracts, cost approximately $28,000,000. Under the London treaty, the navy demilitarized the battleship Wyoming, recently on duty in Spanish waters, as a training ship, and scrapped the battleships Utah, Florida and North Dakota. Counting nine destroyers which will be sold for scrap on September 17, the United States also has scrapped 10 cruisers, 114 destroyers and 43 submarines. Great Britain's recent invocation of an escalator clause in the London treaty, enabling her to build 40,000 tons of destroyers in addition to 150,000 tons allowed by the treaty next January 1, has raised the tonnage of such ships which the United States will retain to 190,000. This will reduce the number of destroyers still to be scrapped by the country by 30 or 35 ships.

Morrison, and Businessmen W. W. Schunk, E. D. Myers, Merle Cyrus and W. Z. Sims.

Import of Cattle Near Quota Limit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The customs commissioner announced today 91.5 per cent of the quota of heavy cattle permitted to enter the United States under the Canadian trade agreement had been received in this country between January 1 and August 22. The quota of calves was filled late in July but the quota of dairy cows weighing 700 pounds or more has been filled to the extent of only 18.8 per cent on August 22. The reciprocal trade treaty established a quota of 155,740 head of heavy cattle for shipment into the United States during the year. Of that quota, Canada accounted for 123,303 head and Mexico 29,201, the total representing 91.5 per cent of the quota. The importations into the United States of 18.8 per cent of the quota of dairy cows totalled 3,763 head, all from Canada.

Moss Bears Gold; Industry Started

SANDPOINT, Idaho, Sept. 5.—(AP)—A small lake near here which L. S. Bradley purchased for raising fish and milk turned out to be a veritable gold-bearing moss mine. Bradley told how he sent samples of a moss which abounded around the lake shores to the University of Idaho for analysis and found it to be a rare species seldom found west of the Mississippi. There was a big market for moss for it is a moisture-holding packing substance on nurseries and produce packing plants. Bradley said he shipped $27,362 worth to California alone last year, in addition to supplying the Spokane market. The moss, from 30 to 50 feet deep, is cut out in squares. The squares are resawed into thin slices. Bradley has built his find into an industry employing nine men in cutting, packing and shipping.

September 17 marks the 149th anniversary of the adoption of the federal constitution.
