

Bunce Divorce Void, Is Claim

Plaintiff Was Guardian of Defendant, Set Forth in Motion Filed

Motion to set aside a divorce decree granted to M. A. Bunce against C. E. Bunce January 6, 1936, was filed in circuit court yesterday by R. H. Bassett, guardian of C. E. Bunce. The motion was based on an affidavit by Bassett that the decree was null and void because the plaintiff, Mrs. Bunce, had been acting as guardian for the defendant, an insane patient, that he had not been served with papers either personally or through a guardian ad litem, that he had not been represented at the trial and that a guardian can not take a position adverse to ward without the appointment of a guardian ad litem.

The plaintiff in the divorce action died May 6, 1934. She willed all her estate to her daughter, Mrs. Ida Canos, according to the affidavit. Some of the property is alleged to belong to C. E. Bunce. Mrs. Canos and Bruce Fenwick are acting as joint executor of the estate which is estimated at $12,000 in real property and $3000 of personal property. Bunce's present guardian claims that by reason of the alleged void divorce property of the defendant is being diverted from its lawful descent and that the ward is being deprived of his rightful property.

The Bunces were married January 7, 1906. In November 10, 1923, C. E. Bunce was committed to the state hospital and Mrs. M. A. Bunce was named guardian. She held the position until her death in 1934. Notice was served on the executors of the M. A. Bunce estate that the motion to set aside the divorce decree would be made in Two resolutions were adopted at the Oregon Purebred Livestock association banquet last night. One suggests that exhibitors submit ideas for changes of policy and practices at the stock barns to department heads, who in turn will take the matters up with the fair management. The other extended sympathy to the family of W. O. Morrow, independence member of the association who died since the 1935 fair.

The woman believed the taxes had been paid on her property but when she found they had been sold to the county she entered into a contract with the county to buy the property back. It was then found that the lots had already been sold and that the county could not give her the agreement to repurchase the land. The present owner offers to give up the property for $50 over his cost, but the owner refuses to pay the extra cost.

The court yesterday instructed William Thielson to inform the woman that they could not give her the title to the land and to refund her money.

Such a suit to outlaw the method of tax sales would cause considerable confusion if sustained. The county has foreclosed 450 pieces of real property and under the management of Thielson has sold a large number of them to various purchasers. Court members indicated that they would welcome a test of the law by such a suit before additional sales are made.

Motorcade Missed

Salem residents interested in watching the field artillery motorcade which was scheduled to pass through this city Thursday, waited in vain. The lengthy caravan presumably took the west side highway, although an officer here Wednesday announced it would come through Salem.

was expected to stimulate and encourage greater use of power driven machinery on the farm, McColloch said.

McColloch said negotiations between the Mountain States Power company and his department had been in progress for the past 12 months.

"A substantial increase in income, particularly during 1936 has made it possible for the company to grant a larger reduction than originally anticipated," McColloch declared.

The rate reduction for lighting will affect 25,000 customers. Company officials said even lower rates probably would be granted when wholesale electric energy is available at the Bonneville plant.

One Stop Can Use 1/3 Mile of Gasoline

4 out of every 5 miles you drive are "STOP-and-Go"

IN today's driving, you stop over 30 times a day. Shifting gears after a stop can use up 1/3 "mile" of gasoline. For economy here, you need a gasoline that GIVES FAST PICKUP.

On the other hand, you start your engine 10 times a day. For economy here, you need a gasoline that STARTS QUICKLY.

All in all, if you're a typical motorist, you drive an average of 27.4 miles a day. So you also need a gasoline that's ECONOMICAL IN STEADY RUNNING!

Your gasoline needs 3 different kinds of power—just as your car needs 3 shifts of gears. First to recognize the need, Shell engineers have combined these 3 kinds of power in one fuel—Super-Shell, the first truly balanced gasoline.

Sold at over 30,000 neighborly Shell stations from coast to coast.
