

Legion Opens Fall Season

Committees Are Named for Fall Activities At Dallas

DALLAS, Oct. 2.—Last night's meeting marked the opening of the year's activities for the Carl B. Panton Post of the American Legion. At 6:30 the legion and auxiliary gathered at the armory for a covered dish dinner after which the regular meetings took place.

The principal business of the meeting was the installation of officers by District Commander Roy Davenport. Local officers are, commander, H. Mather Smith; first vice commander, Albert Bennett; second vice commander, Ray Boynton; third vice commander, Walter Waite; adjutant, John Cerny; financial officer, Laird Woods; chaplain, Sidney Whitworth; and sergeant-at-arms, Ellis Miller.

Plan Halloween Parade
The special committee chairman for events which will take place in the near future were also appointed. They are: Halloween parade, Tracy Savery; turkey shoot, Earl Richardson; Armistice day, Walter Waite; legion-heirs, J. A. Ingalls. An executive meeting is to be held Monday night at the home of John Cerny at which time additional committees will be named.

Reports were given on the state legion convention at Roseburg by William Himes, John Cerny and H. Mather Smith, delegates from the local post.

Brief talks were given by Roy Davenport and by William Blackley, retiring commander.

bers which may desire to sponsor such appearances may do so, as they have frequently done in the past. At the same time, this being a state and federal supported institution, the administration always has the responsibility to see that all events conducted here are in keeping with trust reposed on the institution by the people.

"In carrying out policies, the administration has absolutely played no favorites. It has incurred criticism of the most conservative 'right wing group' as well as so-called radicals.

"I'm convinced the policy of holding the institution to its primary task, has the backing of the overwhelming majority of the people of the state."

Must Register by Tonight, Warning

Today is the last chance to register before election, U. G. Boyer, county clerk, warned last night. The lists for Marion county will close at 8 o'clock tonight and will not be reopened until after the general election, November 3.

It took most of the time of seven clerks in the clerk's office yesterday to care for the lines of voters swearing out their voter's tickets.

Boyer says that in his opinion the lists will set an all time high record. Taken as a whole, Boyer said, the registration is quite evenly divided between the two major parties.

Harian Judd, deputy clerk, spent two days at the state tuberculosis hospital registering patients at the institution. He stated that the majority of the voters at the hospital were registering as democrats. Although the registrations were taken by the Marion clerk they will be sent to the counties in which the patients reside. Absent voter applications were also filled in by Judd while he was making the registration.

Bandon School to Be Reopened Soon

Principal Gary Is Visitor Here; Insurance Will Aid in Program

Insurance and offers to help from outside will make it possible to resume grade school classes at Bandon next week, according to T. J. Gary, principal, who came to Salem yesterday in search of miscellaneous supplies and teaching "helps." The three-story frame grade building erected at Bandon in 1914 was destroyed in last Saturday night's fire.

Gary, a graduate of Oregon Normal school, Monmouth, remarked that he and his wife, after going through the Bandon holocaust, had difficulty in believing their eyes when they found "the rest of the state wasn't on fire." The heat was so intense during the Bandon fire that two-inch water pipes in his school building were melted, he said. All supplies, books and furnishings were lost.

Portland Veterans of Foreign Wars have offered to borrow student desks now lying unused there and ship them to Bandon. Insurance funds will pay for new books.

Classes will open Tuesday or Wednesday in the Bandon high school gymnasium, which is being partitioned off for the first to sixth grades. Gary said his school had 325 pupils.

Polk and Yamhill WPA Will Resume

Polk and Yamhill WPA workers who were discharged late in August will receive a call to return to their work relief jobs early next week if they are now unemployed, G. R. Boatwright, district projects supervisor, announced here yesterday. All Polk county projects will be resumed Monday and those in Yamhill county Tuesday.

Projects resumed in Marion county last month had yesterday sent the WPA payroll up to the thousand-worker point. The labor inventory division of the WPA estimated 800 men and 200 women were now working on projects in this county.
