Venison Dinners Aplenty Enjoyed

MONMOUTH, Oct. 6.—Frank McLaughlin, Monmouth, accompanied his cousin, Herman McLaughlin of Tillamook, on a trip to Roseburg last week, where they have business interests. They were guests of various relatives en route, and report that venison was served them at every stop.

A side trip was made to Steamboat, a little settlement 44 miles east of Roseburg on the north fork of the Umpqua river. Their cousin, U. F. McLaughlin, has charge of a triple C camp there, and is directing the work of widening the road in a territory where embankments are more than 100 feet high.

Lunch was eaten on Panther mountain; and the locale, generally, suggested a wild, remote region, but the unusual scenery repaid them well for the rough ride.

Two Acreages Offered to Silverton Council for City Playground; James Avenue Property Accepted by Dads

SILVERTON, Oct. 6. — For a short time Monday night it looked as if the city council of Silverton would have to accept two pieces of land as gifts from committees interested in securing a playground for Silverton.

Dr. P. A. Loar with M. G. Gunderson, Emil Loe, Arthur Peterson and Jay McCall appeared at the council with an offer of 22.7 acres of land off James avenue between the avenue and the railroad track if the city would accept such an offer and develop the land into a municipal sports field.

J. E. Hosmer, who for some time has been endeavoring to stir up interest in a local athletic field, was also present at the Monday night meeting of the council, suggesting that the Miller property up South Water street be used. Both expected to raise funds for the fields by popular subscription.

However, it was thought the South Water street property would not give sufficient room for parking space and Mr. Hosmer withdrew his suggestion and the council accepted the James avenue property.

In the absence of Mayor E. W. Garver, W. L. McGinnis was chosen to serve as chairman of the council Monday night.

Urges Disposal Plant

Dr. Loar also brought up the matter of the anti-polution movement in regard to "revamping" the present sewage system and building a dosposal plant. The matter had been brought before the voters and carried 3 to 1 three years ago, but because of some technical error in the issue, the matter could not be carried further at that time. Dr. Loar explained that as the law forbade dumping sewage into the creeks, cities were taking advantage of the government offer of assistance.

This offer, regardless of which way the election goes, cannot last long, said Dr. Loar, and he expressed the hope that Silverton would take advantage of the offer and thus save 45 per cent of a cost that was bound to come in the very near future.

Dr. Loar, who is city health officer, explained that polution in Silver creek which made the creek unfit for swimming in the municipal pool came from above Silverton. Silverton residents thought that something should be done about this, but Dr. Loar explained, he could hardly go ahead and force the issue when Silverton was doing the same thing. Residents below the city could bring suit for polution also.

Considerable favorable comment was expressed upon the matter by members of the council and the matter was left in the hands of the judiciary committee.

PORTLAND GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY
ELECTRIC BUILDING
PORTLAND, OREGON

FRANKLIN T. GRIFFITH
PRESIDENT

October 7, 1936.

To the Voters of Marion County:

The sponsors of the pending measures for State or District development, transmission and distribution of electric energy would lead you to believe that a substantial reduction in your bill for electric energy will result from the use of Bonneville energy distributed to you by the State or District.

The three principal factors of energy cost are generation, transmission and distribution. The cost of hydro generation is a minor cost and in residential use will be found to be approximately 14% of the total consumer cost.

Assuming that all may suffer the same tax burdens, the Portland General Electric Company can and will transmit and distribute energy as cheaply as any State or District agency. The saving to the consumer from operations of the State or District must result from the purchase of Bonneville power at a cost which is lower than the item now included in the consumer's bill to cover the cost of generation. It will be no saving to the consumer if his electric bill is decreased by any item of taxes which is added to his tax bill.

Your average daily bill from the Portland General Electric Company for average residential use is 9 cents per day, or $2.70 per month; the generation cost included in such items is 14% of the same, or 1¼ cents per day or 38 cents per month. Hence, if the State or District met the other costs of the Portland General Electric Company and obtained its power from the Government without any cost whatever, it would serve you as an average residential consumer at a cost which would be less than the existing bill of the Portland General Electric Company by only 1¼ cents per day, or 38 cents per month. Such a possible, but improbable, saving would be reduced by whatever charge the Government may make for Bonneville power.

The great advantage to the people of Oregon from the development of Bonneville will be in the bringing to Oregon of electrochemical and electrometallurgical industries using very large blocks of power at extremely high load factors which may be attracted by the low rates at which such industries may purchase Bonneville energy. Through the establishment of such industries the population, wealth and business activity in Oregon will be increased and each of you will receive a substantial benefit from the resulting prosperity throughout the State and from the increase of assessed valuations which will tend to lower your tax rate.

In my letter of next week I will discuss taxation as it may bear upon the problem of State or District development and distribution of electric energy.

Yours very truly,
Franklin T. Griffith
President
