But did not stay to graduate, returning to Salem for tutorship by private teachers. One of his instructors was Willis C. Hawley, then president of Willamette university and for many years Oregon's representative in congress. John McNary was appointed deputy Marion county recorder in 1889, was elected recorder the following year and served four years. He spent his evenings studying law, chiefly in the library of George H. Burnett, who was later to become chief justice of the state supreme court. He was admitted to the Oregon bar in 1894.

Bonds Guarantee Costly to Oregon

Irrigation, Drainage Help Results in 4 Millions Loss Says Martin

The state of Oregon, through its action 18 years ago guaranteeing interest payments on irrigation and drainage district bonds, has lost approximately $4,000,000, Governor Martin declared at a meeting of the state reclamation commission Monday.

Secretary of State Snell said this loss was only a trifle when compared with that of the bondholders.

"This was an expensive joride for the state," Governor Martin declared.

State Treasurer Holman said most of the irrigation and drainage districts which have been re-financed have paid their bondholders less than 30 cents on the dollar. Records showed that 39 of these districts defaulted.

"This experience on the part of the state might prove valuable to some half-baked groups who are now trying to put over wild financial schemes," Governor Martin continued.

New Request Made
Governor Martin's remarks were inspired by a request of Charles E. Stricklin, secretary of the state reclamation commission, that the state waive certain obligations, including interest, aggregating $4,000,000, in refinancing the Crook county municipal improvement district.

Stricklin said the refinancing program was outlined by the re-construction finance corporation and waiving of interest was a condition to the transaction. He predicted that the district would prosper under the refinancing program.

Bondholders of this district, under the refinancing proposal, will receive approximately 16 cents on the dollar.

Zero Hour Looms In Madrid Attack

into speedy surrender, fascist aviators today again bombed the suburbs of the capital.

Several small bombs were dropped on Barajas airport causing light damage.

Crews of government anti-aircraft batteries blasted away at the diving planes but did not bring any down.

The worried defenders of Madrid tonight fervently pleaded with their fighting forces to mass into a "human avalanche" against the invaders menacing the city.

Urgently they demanded swift counter attacks on the fascist advance units to prevent fratricidal blood from spilling into the gutters of smoky Madrid.

The capital was emptied of all able-bodied men and youths as the government defenders sought to force a battle on the outskirts of the city rather than wait until the attackers should gain the city's gates.

A communique issued by the fascist provisional government at Burgos exultantly declared rail communication from Madrid was severed at El Escorial, northwest of the capital, and at Aranjuez, to the southwest.

(Aranjuez, various reported captured and recaptured on several occasions by the opposing high commands, is a strategic rail center giving the capital vital access to eastern coastal cities such as Barcelona and Valencia.)

The insurgents said they took the area forming a junction between the Aranjuez highway and the Levante railroad below Sena and thus held an important bridge over which fascist troops must cross if they are to attack Madrid from the south.

New Deal Hits Little Fellow

ment, the republican candidate said:
"It is the little fellow who pays. It is the little fellow who suffers from government extravagance. It is the little fellow who needs the safeguards of the constitution—and particularly the safeguards against waste of the public funds."

Landon made these pledges to the country over the radio, "when I take office as chief executive."

To end the use of "relief funds" and "public funds" for "political purposes."

To end use of public funds for the "growing evil" of "a propaganda machine in Washington."

To restore the budget bureau which he said had become "a part of the White House spending machine," to "a position of independence with a competent director at its head."

To fill the office of comptroller general, a post he termed "the legal watchdog over expenditures," because "everyone knows what happens when the boss is gone."

"The day of reckoning always comes," Landon said, "Sometime the spendthrift must foot the bill. We need an administration that realizes even Uncle Sam can go broke."

Jay Bertelson Is Contest's Winner

of the prize money. They were: Bob D'Arcy, Mrs. Michael Glenn, George Lloyd, James H. Lucas, Joe Miller, Mike Miller, Mae Parsons, Lou J. Pilsner, George Salto, Jay C. Sell and Clarence V. Woolery.

Contest statistics showed a decided improvement in the prognosticating ability of the entrants. More than half of the entries scored no more than eight errors.

Williamette to take Linfield and U. L. A. to take Oregon State were the heaviest favorites with 93 per cent of the contestants calling these games correctly. As far as the contest was concerned Nevada's win over Idaho was the biggest upset with only 17 per cent of the contestants betting on Nevada.

Eight entrants correctly master-minded the tie game between Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech. They were: Maybell DuVal, Mrs. Glen H. Gregg, Sherman Hawk of Hubbard, G. C. Hinkle, Dorothy Hockett, E. Horstman, Bill Sutton and Virgo Visetti.

Contestants are warned not to make more than one "prediction" on any one game in the space provided on the entry blank. Some entrants have written in the team they thought would win and here qualified the choice with the words "or tie." Hereafter such "or tie" predictions will be judged as errors.

If contestants believe there is a strong chance for a tie game they may designate their belief by writing "tie" in the space provided.

Details of this week's contest will be found on page eight.

Normal Buildings Dedicated Monday

Oregon normal was built on a solid foundation of Christian education which he held necessary in adequate teacher training.

The administration building was constructed at a cost of $93,000 and the gymnasium $62,000.

Budget adjustments to provide for increased enrollment were authorized.

An increase of $20,888 was approved to make way for the addition of full-time instructors and graduate assistants.

A report submitted by Chancellor Frederick M. Hunter said the number of students at the five institutions was 1103, an all-time peak.

Budget Adjustment
Matches Fee Increase
He said Oregon State college had a gain of 20.5 per cent and the University of Oregon 5.8 per cent. Decreases were recorded at the normal schools at La Grande, Monmouth and Ashland. This, the Chancellor stated, was due to a trend away from teaching as a profession. He said the movement was indicative of returning prosperity which opened new employment and permitted students to attend larger institutions.

The board sanctioned the establishment of a division of experimental medicine at the University medical school at Portland.

Although increases were made in the budget, the board said the emergency funds would not be touched. The adjustment was held to a corresponding rise in student body fees.

Labor Council to Reconsider Vote, Utility District

The Salem Trades and Labor Council will meet in special session at 7:30 o'clock tonight to reconsider its vote of last Tuesday endorsing the peoples utility district proposal which will face Marion county voters at the November 3 election, President H. E. Barker announced yesterday.

The required petition bearing the signatures of seven delegates from five unions calling for the meeting has been filed.

The council's action on the utility measure was unanimous and not opposed by debate, Barker said.

Declaring an intention of giving the petition a fair hearing, Barker said only regular council delegates would be recognized at tonight's meeting. Proponents of the utility measure were reported planning to charge that protest petitions were not circulated by a member of organized labor.

The utility bill endorsement also carried an approval of the candidates for the five district directorships, Douglas McKay, Ronald Jones, Harley W. Libby, Frank Hettwer and Sylvester Smith.

Manning School's Use Discontinued

construction of a new building. He said that while the district was raising funds for the building, school classes could be held in the Flourens church.

According to Harper, Ward Manning and A. L. Kostenborer, the other member of the board, favor making repairs on the old building immediately and continuing its use.

According to reports reaching the superintendent's office yesterday a man was already starting to make repairs on the building, in spite of the fact that the labor commissioner's report on the building had not yet been made.

The foundation of the old building are said to be rotted away making the building unsafe and the chimney is in a dangerous condition.

Require Deposit, New Water Users

A $5 deposit rule for new customers will go into effect at the Salem water department office November 1, Manager Cuyler Van Patten announced yesterday. The deposit was raised from $2.50 by the water commission to protect both the department and property owners. The latter are responsible for payment of water bills by tenants.

Realtors and property owners suggested the increase in deposit fee because the $2.50 minimum which has been in effect is not sufficient to protect against so little as an average two-months water bill, Van Patten explained. The $5 deposit, he said, is required by nearly all municipal water departments in the northwest and by other utilities.

Calvary Group to Note Anniversary

The Calvary Baptist church will honor Rev. and Mrs. Arno Q. Weniger and the 45 new members who have united with the church during Mr. Weniger's pastorate, with a reception tonight at 7:45 o'clock in the parlors of the church, Ferry and South High streets.

In his first anniversary message Sunday morning Rev. Weniger assured a congregation which filled the auditorium that the old gospel would be the burden of his message during the coming year. Members report that both membership and attendance of the church have been growing steadily under the ministry of the present pastor.

Woodmen to Hold Hallow'een Event

The Silverton Women of the World camp will meet with the Salem camp members, families and friends for an open follow-up night session at the Fraternal temple at 8:30 o'clock tonight, according to Leon DuBois, consul commander. The committee in charge consists of Mrs. Flossie Smalley, E. C. Crawford and Elmer Barkus.

The program will include a talk on "Value of Fraternity" by Gerald W. Mason, past consul commander, talking pictures presented by Mason, an outline of membership campaign plans by C. B. Matlock, deputy district manager, dancing and a Hallow'een luncheon.

How Long Can a Three-Quarter Wife Hold Her Husband?

You have to work at marriage to make a success of it. Men may be selfish, unappreciative, but that's the way they are and you might as well realize it. When your back aches and your nerves scream, don't take it out on your husband. He can't possibly know how you feel.

Building Permits Reach High Total

Nine building permits lacking $60 of totaling $10,000 were taken out at the city hall yesterday. Three were for houses and one for a warehouse.

The new residential permits raised the year's total for this type of construction to $267,545 and 121 houses.

A one-story $1750 reinforced concrete warehouse with 20-foot frontage at 235 North Front street and 100 feet deep will be followed at some future date by an identical second unit. Together the two will form storage and lumber yard facilities for the Building Supply company.

Other permits yesterday: George Myers, $2000 house at 1855 North 20th street; Earl M. Johnson, $3000 house at 980 North 20th; Mr. and Mrs. J. Fox, $2630 house at 965 North 17th; A. J. Harnsberger, $200 garage at 1825 North Summer; Mrs. R. M. DeSart, house alterations at 1260 Center, $40; George C. DeSart, building re-roofing at 197 South Liberty, $250; O. B. Long, garage repairs at 231 North 24th, $25; E. M. Wright, house re-roofing at 1695 North Summer, $45.

Settlement Made In Apperson Case

Because a settlement has been reached out of court the $10,000 damage trial of Eunice Stam, administratrix of the estate of Pearl O. Fuller against Donald Apperson which was scheduled to be heard before Judge L. H. McMahon today has been cancelled. Details of the settlement have not been announced.

Wednesday, Circuit Judge L. G. Lewelling will hold motion day in department No. 1 for the law actions which have been transferred to him by Judge McMahon.

The Apperson case which was settled involved a claim for damages against the defendant for the death of Mrs. Fuller. She died March 28, 1936 from injuries received when she was struck by a car driven by Apperson at Ocean Lake.

Pipeline Contract May Be Signed Before Night

E. A. Dunkle, manager of the American Concrete and Steel Pipe company of Tacoma, Wash., is expected to arrive in Salem today to sign the contract for construction of the Salem-Stayton pipeline, Cuyler VanPatten, manager of the city water department, said yesterday. The $647,985 contract provides for completion of the gravity line in 200 working days.

Bandon Aid Gets WPA Okeh, Says Rilea on Return

Brigadier-General Thomas Rilea returned Monday from Washington, D. C. where he conferred with WPA officials relative to providing temporary housing facilities for the people made homeless by the recent Bandon fire.

Rilea said the reconstruction program was approved and actual building operations are now in progress.

A report of Rilea's activities in Washington is being prepared for consideration of Governor Martin.

District Will Go On Warrant Basis

The Salem school district will return to an interest-bearing warrant basis in its finances next week unless an unexpected large tax turnover is received this week, it was reported at School Clerk W. H. Burghard's office yesterday. End of the year tax payments, however, are believed likely to keep the district from accumulating a heavy warrant debt such as it carried a few years ago.

After having received $6681.07 in 1933 and 1935 taxes, the district treasury yesterday had $15,905.92 on hand. November 1 a payroll aggregating approximately $4000 will be issued and November 5 the teachers' payroll, exceeding $20,000 will be distributed.

Hamlet Action Draws Attack

Maritime Commission Act Calling Off Hearings Widely Criticized

cooks and stewards, and assurance the conditions will be retroactive.

The joint union negotiating committee, answering the commission's demand, charged Admiral Hamlet had said he was not here to handle the present crisis and that his duties are confined to full investigation of the merchant marine.

Subsides Figure in Tieup, Charged
The committee's statement, signed by F. M. Kelley, secretary, charged that a minority group "depending heavily on subsidies they hope to get from the commission," is forcing a tieup. They said those against any stoppage are non-subsidized operators.

"Admiral Hamlet notified the maritime unions his investigation will be national in scope and may consume from six months to one year, which would require unions to continue under present conditions," declared the union committee.

"Your representative here abruptly adjourned hearings this morning, denying either party the right to make statements.

Kelley, in notifying the commission of the strike vote, said "present returns indicate 95 per cent in favor, but unions will continue cooperating with department of labor officials to use every effort toward peaceful settlement by direct negotiations."

Navy Is Honored By Public Today

Salem citizens were asked last night to give thought today to the United States navy day. Making this request Colonel Carlo Abrams, as local chairman for Navy day observance, suggested the public consider "what the navy has accomplished both in defense and in spreading of good will with the rest of the world and of the need for maintaining it up to standard in the future."

The committee serving under Abrams consists of Mrs. C. C. Geer, Mrs. Elizabeth Green, Mrs. A. M. Johnson, Albert H. Dewey, Dr. Verden E. Hockett and Dr. Charles G. Robertson.

Steel For Tower Arrives on Scene

Steel columns which will support the new Fairmount hill water tower were being delivered on the site, Superior street half a block east of Johns, yesterday. The task of erecting the 100,000-gallon tank will get under way within a few days.

The new tower at full water level will be 70 feet above ground, or 40 feet higher than the present 50,000-gallon wooden tank.
