Hundreds of alumni are expected on the Willamette university campus today as they return to take part in the 15th annual homecoming festivities today and Sat-

Homecoming will be officially opened tonight when Willamette and College of Puget Sound stage their gridiron battle on Sweetland field at 8:15 o'clock. Over 300 graduates are expected to be in the reserve section of the grandstand singing old fight songs and rooting for the Bearcats.

A special feature between will be the demonstration of the newly reorganized Salem drum and bugle corps directed by T. B. "Tom" Hill and the Willamette university band conducted by Ralph Nohlgren, There are over 45 pieces in the two bands combined. The annual freshmen-soph omore "bag rush" will also take place at the half.

Plans are being made to announce the winner of the sign contest sometime during the game. A silver trophy will be awarded to the living organization having the best sign.

Prizes Arranged for Best Carnival Booth

Directly following the game a carnival will be staged by the associated students of Willamette in the gymnasium. Various booths and sideshows will be exhibited by the organizations and clubs on the campus. Three prizes will be awarded for the best booths. Judges will be three faculty members, Prof. William C. Jones, Forrest Mills and Mrs. Gall Royer. Judging will be based on originality. popularity and appearance.

The highlight on Saturday's program will be the annual alumni ing reports as to whether Mack's banquet to be held at the Fraternal temple at 5:30 p. m. #### Fur Coat With Value of $350 Is Lifted Here

Going after a big prize, a shoplifted invaded the Du-Bain fur shop, on the second floor of the Miller building at noon yesterday and stole a coat valued at $350, Emil DuBain, proprietor, reported to city police. The garment was made of 150 Siberian squirrel skins, one of the best coats he had in the shop, DuBain said.

He believed the theft may have been committed by a fur stealing gang about which he received a warning circular from other furriers recently.

Pipeline Work at Island Completed

The $24,309 steel pipe laying contract for the Salem gravity ed to the one shop yesterday had early this week and filling of the trenches begun by water department crews, Water Manager Cuyler Van Patten reported yesterday. All of the wood pipe contracted to be laid on Stayton island at cost of $16,857 has been constructed in the trenches but the task of applying steel reinforcing bands as not been finished.

> Approximately a mile and half of pipe has been laid altogether between Stayton and the enter of Stayton island. Construction of a 14-foot square concrete structure to house control valves at the foot of the island is about one-half finished.

As soon as a small excavation job in the Masonic park at Stayton is done, the power shovel being rented by the water department will be moved back on to the island and development of the infiltration galleries from which the city's water supply will be obtained will be resumed. This part of the water program had to be stopped temporarily because so much water was being developed that it interfered with construction of the wood pipeline below.

McGrady Still Works to Bring Peace; Loss to Entire Coast Seen

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30-Friday)-(P)-A strike of 37,000 maritime workers, threatening for days to paralyze coast marine commerce, was ordered into effect early today.

The strike call, announced through Assistant Labor Secretary Edward F. McGrady, was issued by F. M. Kelly, secretary of the joint union negotiating committee, representing all the major marine unions. Kelly said the committee voted manimously to call the walkout after a meeting last night at which all angles of the labor situation were discussed. Randolph Meriwether, secretary of the marine engineers bencommittee had received "hundreds" of telegrams of support from unions all over the country. "The soup is on," he declared.
