While women play an important part in Hollywood activities, there is only one who has won a place among the ranks of movie directors.

Dorothy Arzneris a quiet-spoken person who goes about her job with little fanfare yet is credited with being one of the most capable directors on the lots, particularly with scenarios of emotionally dramatic nature. She started as a stenographer, advanced to the script department, and then progressed to the position of "cutter", a job which entails the film for final release. Rudolph Valentino's

"Blood and Sand", "Covered Wagon" and "Sorrell and Son", starring

Ruth Chatterton, are among the hits in which she has had a share.

Methodist Church Reports Are Good

District Superintendent Magin Is Winding Up Quarterly Meets

Dr. Louis Magin, district superintendent of Methodist chur-ches for the Salem district, will Sunday conduct his final first quarterly conference of the year, this to be held at McCabe chapel at McMinnville. Since September 1 the district superintendent has held 54 conferences for over 60 churches in the district.

He finds that financial conditions are better than a year ago, collection better and that interest in the million - unit fellowship movement of the church means that there will be a large increase in the world service in the Salem district churches this year.

Every church in the district now has a pastor, several appointments having been made since the annual conference, and in many places there is an increased interest in Sunday school and Epworth League work, Dr. Magin Aid Meetings Held During October, three Ladies' Aid sectional meetings were held in the district with a combined attendance of 450 persons. All pastors and their wives expect to attend the national preaching mission to be held in Portland, November 5 to 8.

Supplementing the national mission, one-day preaching missions will be held next month in five towns in the district, each of these meetings, at Toledo, Tillamook, Eugene, Albany and Corvallis, being held jointly with all the other churches in that town. Dr. Magin is directing the missions at Albany and Corvallis. Speakers will be Dr. J. Hudson
