Northwest Potato Crop Estimated 3 Million Bushels Higher

Oregon Gets Bigger Yield

Acreage Production in This State Up 25 Over Last Year

By the Associated Press Under exceptionally favorable weather conditions, the Pacific northwest will harvest 3,000,000 more bushels of potatoes this year than in 1935, divisional headquarters of the department of agriculture forecast today.

The harvest was delayed, the agriculture department said, because of growers' reluctance to begin dealings until a general killing frost occurred.

Washington, Idaho and Oregon will produce 38,118,000 bushels, compared with 35,950,000 bushels a year ago. Falls Crop Large Yields in the important commercial potato producing section of Klamath Falls in Oregon were reported running below general expectations although the crop this year in total tonnage will be the largest ever produced in the

In Washington state the agriculture department reported the crop running above earlier forecasts. Heavy damage to the crop in the Yakima valley by wireworm was reported by the depart-

West of the Cascades the crop is poor because of pest damage and blight.

Idaho Crop Big As usual Idaho will produce about four times more potatoes than Oregon and Washington. Washington potato yields are running 178 bushels to the acre, compared with 165 a year ago; Idaho, 210 to the acre, compared with 215 a year ago, and Oregon yields 160 compared with 135 in 1935. The agriculture department made the following production forecasts with previous harvests: (in terms of bushels)

1935 1936 1928-32 7,920,000 9,078,000 8,047,000 5,670,000 6,880,000 5,084,000 22,360,000 22,260,000 21,723,000

CHICAGO, Nov. 18-(AP)-Big profit-taking sales rolled grain roots are easily removed. prices abruptly downhill late today after corn, wheat, rye and soy beans had climbed earlier to steep new top records.

Net losses for the day were general throughout the grain list, with corn off the most sharply at the last, 1% cents a bushel in some cases, although the corn market previously had led advances and at one stage was up 2 cents overnight to a peak unequalled since 1927. A bearish factor as to corn was word that in the past two days the United States has purchased 20,000 tons of Argentine corn.

Eye Feed Statement Notice also was taken of statements that pound for pound, No. 1 red wheat is less expensive than No. 2 yellow corn, and that the percentage of wheat used in feed mixtures has been increased, with corn use diminished.

Treatment Glad Bulbs Explained

Napthalene Flakes Used in Fumigating Against Thrips Pest

The commercial glad growers have completed harvesting their crops and are busy cleaning the bulbs and fumigating for thrips. The home gardener is not prepared for "cyano gas" fumigation for thrips and it is not advisable it him to attempt it as this gas is a deadly poison. He can, however, use napthalene flakes which is just as effective in ridding the bulbs of this pest, says C. A. Cole of the state department of agriculture.

The glad is one of the most satisfactory flowers for the home garden. There is a wide selection of beautiful colors, and it is an easy flower to grow. However, it is subject to thrips and if not taken care of there will be no blooms.

Giving Treatment
The U. S. department of agriculture recommends the naptthalene flake treatment. The following procedure should be followed: (1) Dig and remove the tops.

(2) Place bulbs in shallow boxes and dry sufficiently so that (3) Clean and place in paper bags or cardboard boxes and add one ounce of napthalene flakes for each 100 average size bulbs or a pound for each 2,000 bulbs. (4) Fold over the tops of the bags and clip or tle so as to retain the fumes. If boxes are used tie the cover down. (5) Pack packages in a cardboard carton, close lid and store in a moderately cool basement or garage. Leave the flakes in the bulbs until about one month before planting. Shake out the flakes and allow the bulbs to air out until planting time.

(6) Burn all tops, cull bulb and trash. The thrip may winter over Do not use tin containers as the bulbs may sweat and sprout.

Do not plant napthalene flakes day.

Share casualties up to more with the bulbs.
