Strikers Seeking Holiday Fixings

PORTLAND, Nov. 19.—(P)—Striking maritime employees apparently looked for part of their Thanksgiving dinner today to the same geographical source with which they engaged in controversy over the shipment of fruit.

"Mike" Lewis, member of the general strike committee, said farmers in the Hood River and Lower Columbia river areas loaded truckloads of cranberries and that "We'll have to get somebody to give us some cranberries."

Lewis also said four turkeys already had been promised but that 30 are needed.

The dock workers and truckers of the Hood River apple area clashed verbally when the maritime employees objected to non-union men hauling apples to the docks here.

Slot Machine Roundup For Portland Ordered

PORTLAND, Nov. 19.—(P)—The city council ordered a campaign against operators in the slot machine business today. The action followed complaints from store owners that slot machines had been delivered to their establishments.

The police were instructed to start a roundup of slot machine distributors.

Josephine Mining Industry Growing

GRANTS PASS, Nov. 19.—(P)—Reporting on the Oregon mining industry to the state planning board, gold producers in Josephine county revealed more than one million dollars had been invested.

The group pledged its support to Governor Martin's program to revive the mining industry and create a state bureau.

D. H. Ferry, dredge operator at Grave Creek, said his company had spent $1,400,000 in the last eight years. The company's physical plant was valued at $400,000.

Others reporting wide scale operations were Earl Nixon, who

Temperance Union Opens 63rd Year

Raising Million to Offer Educational Program Says World Chief

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(P)—Those ladies who wear the familiar knots of pure white ribbon—visitors in many a saloon but never as customers—are still strong of purpose, notwithstanding, the Women's Christian Temperance union began its 63rd year today with one of the biggest campaigns of its history.

"We are raising a million dollars to educate people to the harm of alcohol, so they will abstain voluntarily," said Buxom, gray-haired Ella A. Boole, world president of the F.C.T.U.

"It will be carried on through the radio, movies and literature until 1938—the 100th anniversary of our pioneer crusader, Frances W. Willard, former dean of women at Northwestern university, who died in 1898.

Peace Another Aim "But that isn't our only objective," said Mrs. Boole. "We stand for peace as well as total abstinence. Only today I received a letter from Buenos Aires telling how our Argentine women are getting ready for the Inter-American peace conference here."

The Legion of Decency was organized by the Episcopal committee on motion pictures of which Archbishop McNicholas is chairman. It quickly attracted the attention of the motion picture industry which sent representatives to a conference here with the archbishop and his co-workers in the move to clean up the movies.

Pioneer Newsman Of Oregon Called

J. M. Lawrence Formerly on Statesman; Was Early Bend Publisher

BEND, Nov. 19.—(P)—James M. Lawrence, veteran Oregon newspaperman, died at his home here today.

Lawrence's journalistic career began on the Green Bay, Wis., Gazette. He came to the State of Washington in 1886 but soon moved to Oregon to become editor of the Oregon City Enterprise.

He was employed for a year by the Statesman at Salem. After leaving the capital, he joined the staff of the Oregonian at Portland and attained the position of Northwest editor.

He first came to Bend as the Statesman at Salem, but re-entered the publishing business and purchased the Bend Bulletin from Max Lueddemann.

Lawrence was transferred to the land office at Roseburg in 1906. Shortly after his return to Bend he sold the Bulletin to George Palmer Putnam in 1911. Funeral services will be held at Portland tomorrow.

Decency Legion's Program Goes On

CINCINNATI, Nov. 19.—(P)—Approximately 2,000,000 members of the Legion of Decency will be asked on Sunday, December 13, to renew their pledge to remain away from motion pictures "dangerous to moral life" and to "stay away altogether from places of amusement which show them as a matter of policy."

The Most Rev. John T. McNicholas, archbishop of Cincinnati and founder in 1934 of the Legion of Decency, directed that the pledges be renewed in a letter sent to the heads of all the dioceses of the country.

The Legion of Decency was organized by the Episcopal committee on motion pictures of which Archbishop McNicholas is chairman. It quickly attracted the attention of the motion picture industry which sent representatives to a conference here with the archbishop and his co-workers in the move to clean up the movies.

Three Trapped in Studio Blaze Die

ATLANTA, Nov. 19.—(P)—Three persons trapped in a top floor music studio died and 18 were injured today in a $200,000 fire which quickly converted a five-story downtown building into a roaring inferno.

The dead were identified by friends as Mrs. J. Porter Smith, piano teacher and formerly a radio artist, known as Ruth Cathey; W. Terry Evans, 23, and Miss Elizabeth Martin, 20, music students.

The fire, variously reported as starting in the basement and on an upper floor, sped through the freight and passenger elevator shafts of the building, occupied by the Cable Piano company, the Atlanta Conservatory of Music, and a number of smaller studios.

Auto Trailer Fee Income Is Slight

Automobile house trailers owned and licensed in Oregon will return to the state less than $4000 this year, Secretary of State Snell reported. During the 10 months ending November 18 this year 403 of these trailers had been licensed in Oregon. The average fee is $10. Out-of-state trailers which are numerous on the highways do not pay any fee here but operate on permits the same as other non-resident passenger cars for limited periods.

Boivin Espouses Townsend Cause

KLAMATH FALLS, Nov. 19.—(P)—Representative Harry Boivin, Klamath county democrat and candidate for the speakership of the lower house, today said he favored immediate disposition of the question of a Townsend Old Age Pension Memorial to congress.

He said: "Now that I am assured of more than enough votes to make my election as speaker of the house of representatives certain, I have been asked what my position as speaker will be with the Townsend memorial to congress.

"Because so many members of the incoming legislature have been elected with Townsend support, I feel that this highly controversial subject should be taken up and disposed of without delay upon convening the legislature and I will lend my influence as speaker to that end."

Bede to Head Printing Company in Portland

PORTLAND, Nov. 19.—(P)—Elbert Bede, editor of the Cottage Grove Sentinel for 25 years, was named president of the newly-organized printing firm of Bede-Habit, Inc.

Bede said the company formerly was known as the General Lithograph company.

Business Council Surveys Outlook

Wages, Work Conditions And Unemployment Are Subjects of Probe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(P)—Responding quickly to suggestions by President Roosevelt that is survey such national problems as wages, working conditions and unemployment, the business advisory council today ordered a "program of action" to comply.

The council, which advises the commerce department of relationships between government and business, instructed its executive committee to meet in New York December 16 to map plans for a study of the problems listed by the President.

Messaging the council a few hours earlier through Secretary Roper, Mr. Roosevelt had suggested it study absorbing workers into private industry, improving living conditions of low-income groups through low cost housing and slum clearance and bettering "wage and working conditions of employes in industry."

Replying for the council, George H. Mead, of Dayton, O., its chairman, wrote Secretary Roper that "all groups should cooperate fully to consolidate the recovery that we have thus far attained and lay a sounder foundation for future economic development and progress."

Mr. Roosevelt's suggestions to the council were accompanied with broad expression of hope for "a wise and more equitable balancing of the interlaced segments composing our economic and social life."

Some quarters voiced the opinion that Mr. Roosevelt's purpose was to lay major social and industrial problems before business and wait to see what business would do—or suggest—before formulating any governmental program.

This view was in line with a statement by Secretary Roper this week that he hoped the "fundamental principles" of NRA could be attained through voluntary cooperation by industry and labor, but, if they could not, legislation would be necessary.

As Roper and the council talked over the general industrial situation, committees of the chamber of commerce of the United States prepared finer drafts on reports of numerous governmental policies to be read at directors' meeting tomorrow.

The chamber has often opposed new deal policies in the past and interest in the meeting tomorrow centered on whether directors would make any expression of views toward governmental activities.

Will Check Eligibility Expected Subsequent Drastic Payroll Reductions Will Be Preceded by a Complete Recheck of the Relief Rolls to Ascertain Present Eligibility of WPA Workers.

Expected subsequent drastic payroll reductions will be preceded by a complete recheck of the relief rolls to ascertain present eligibility of WPA workers. Smith said $15,000 had been allotted the state relief committee for this resurvey.

Glenn C. Niles, county relief administrator, said he knew the recheck was coming but he had no specific information about it. He said it was impossible to state exactly how the elderly men to be denied further work relief would be cared for.

The local WPA district, comprised of Marion, Polk, Yamhill, Tillamook, Lincoln, Benton, Linn and Lane counties, was a 1 in 4 workers above its maximum quota of 2000 at the last report, Smith said.

Portland, Nov. 19.—(P)—Thick murky fog covered Portland for the third successive day. The sun broke through momentarily this afternoon but was soon hidden again by a new wave of fog. The airplane schedule out of Portland was resumed. Police continued to warn motorists to drive carefully.

Elsewhere in Oregon the almost unprecedented autumn drought continued. Bright sun shown in the eastern portion. Skies were overcast along the coast, but there was no rain.

Men Over 65 to Be Denied WPA Work But No Other Provision Is Made

Are the ages 65 to 69 to become those of "the forgotten man" in Marion county?

The question seemed the natural one at the local WPA and county relief offices as officials at the former said men over 65 years of age were to be put off work projects and at the latter others said they did not know what would be done in the way of care for these elderly, destitute men.

In order to keep within the district's reduced quota of 2000 employes, the WPA administrators here are preparing to cut off workmen not able to do a day's work and those over 65 although they "don't know what they will do," District Director J. E. Smith said.

Will Check Eligibility Expected subsequent drastic payroll reductions will be preceded by a complete recheck of the relief rolls to ascertain present eligibility of WPA workers. Smith said $15,000 had been al-
