Doubravas Enjoy Long Trip But Find Valley Is Best

HUBBARD, Nov. 23.—One of the best cows in Marion county is owned by A. R. Huserie who lives west of Hubbard and is a member of the Marion County Dairy Herd association. His cow "Buttercup" produced 1345 pounds of milk and 78 pounds of butterfat in the last month.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Doubrava and children Wense and Anne returned recently from a six weeks tour in the southwest through Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, Arizona and California. While in Texas they visited the Dallas Exposition.

They report that the Willamette valley looks by far the best of any country they visited. They averaged 500 miles a day, and did not encounter any rain until they reached the valley.

Put Out Car Fire
The fire department was called out at 10 o'clock Saturday night to a fire in the car of a sedan driven by Burdett Farley, who works at the Carl Dairy, caught on fire. The fire destroyed the inside of the car and damaged the outside of the body. The wheels and tires were not damaged, the motor being only slightly damaged.

There will be a pie social and program at the White school Wednesday evening, November 25. The committee in charge is Mrs. Elmer Stauffer, Mrs. Earl Grimm, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Fobert.

Frank Flerchinger of Hubbard and Miss Mary Bisanaz of Aurora obtained a marriage license recently at Chehalis, Wash.

Two Lads Missing From County Jail

Although the sheriff's department had been warned that Perry and Smith were likely to escape if any chance offered, it was necessary to place them in the least protected cell in the jail due to the fact that the officers are not allowed to incarcerate minors with the regular jail prisoners.

Sheriff's deputies expressed the opinion that the car stolen from Desmond Dams at 11 o'clock Saturday night may have been taken by them as all three were in on charges of auto theft. The Dams car had not been recovered last night. Officers also expressed the belief that the two boys who have not been apprehended might have taken Perry to Eugene and then headed over the McKernan pass toward Hixon's home in Klamath Falls. Smith's home is in Portland.

Were Held Pending
Ferry and Smith are the two boys who were sentenced by Justice of the Peace Hiram Overton of Woodburn to serve a year in the state penitentiary for automobile theft, which they committed after escaping from the state training school for boys. The boys were being held in the county jail pending an opinion from the attorney general on the question whether a justice of the peace may impose penitentiary sentences.

The two boys had twice escaped from the state industrial school, each time stealing an auto.

State Asks PWA For Building Aid

The state of Oregon will file application with the Public Works Administration for the allocation of 45 per cent of $345,000 to be used in erecting new buildings and other improvements at the state institutions during the next biennium, it was decided at a meeting of the board of control Monday.

The state legislature will be asked to make an appropriation equivalent to 55 per cent of the amount involved in the building program.

The board authorized the employment of an architect to prepare plans and specifications for some of the projects. His compensation will be contingent upon completion of the program.

West Salem Gets Forum Attention

Water System Is Carrying Large Share of Public Costs There, Stated

West Salem's municipal water department has pulled that city out of a financial hole and brought about such changes that West Salem people now mention their place of residence with pride instead of apologetically as they did several years ago, Mayor Guy C. Newgent told members of the Salem chamber of commerce at Monday's luncheon. The meeting was in charge of John Friesen, mayor-elect and a director of the chamber.

In addition to placing West Salem on a sound financial basis, the water department has paid the city's costs upon the new $39,000 municipal building, the mayor mentioned. They predicted Salem's water system would some day "carry the load" here, and praised the men now in charge.

The boundary line between Salem and West Salem is only an imaginary line; 90 per cent of West Salem people's merchandise purchases are made in Salem, the mayor declared.

Proposes Large Park
Suggested that the west bank of the Willamette river the entire length of West Salem could be made into a beautiful park which would benefit Salem people as well as citizens of West Salem, was made by Ray J. Stumbo, another West Salem speaker. Mr. Stumbo, a West Salem councilman, discussed the need of obtaining federal aid to help save the river bank from erosion. Property just below the municipal building is city-owned and may be developed as a park to form the nucleus of the larger proposed project.

In backing up the mayor's statements as to West Salem's growth, Mr. Stumbo mentioned that 28 permits for new construction had been issued this year, and that 26 new water connections had been put in.

Lyle D. Thomas, Polk county state representative from West Salem, asserted that he was planning to introduce a bill which would turn over all road construction and maintenance in Oregon to the state, with the purpose of providing for adequate secondary and feeder roads. He contended this solution of a problem which is now attracting much attention in the various counties, would not endanger the match money necessary to obtain federal cooperation in the road program.

Tom Russell, chief engineer for the public utilities commission, pledged support of the Willamette Valley Project association for the two proposals made by Stumbo for a park and for the reclamation work needed on the west bank of the river.

Thanksgiving Day Background to Be Theme of Program

Historical background for the observance of Thanksgiving day will be presented in three scenes by the Salem high school English department before an assembly of sophomores and seniors at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. Stage settings will be prepared by the art department.

Vocal soloists on the program will include Jay Teed and Harriet Coons. Maxine Coe will be organist. Indian songs and dances in a forest setting and a gathering of Puritans will comprise the first and second scenes. The third scene will be of Pilgrims in church.

BETHEL, Nov. 23.—Fred DeVries showed his 11 a moving pictures, taken in many countries on his European trip last summer, before a large and interested audience at the open meeting of the Farmers Union Friday night. Frank Kuntzer, F. G. Landerbach and A. J. Klug will be in charge of the next program.

Trade School for Blind Is on Spot

Meeting There Today May Seal Fate; Officials Here Critical

A showdown on what is to be done about the Oregon trades school for the blind in Portland is in prospect at a meeting at the institution today at which the state board of control and all officials connected with the school are expected to be present. The meeting was called after discussion at the board of control session in Salem Monday, at which general satisfaction was expressed by the board members.

"We might as well have a showdown now as any other time," Governor Martin declared. "I'm sick of the place and something should be done."

Secretary of State Spill said he agreed with the governor.

"It looks to me as though the school now has eight bosses instead of being administered by the board of control," State Treasurer Holman declared. Holman referred to the five members of the advisory board of the institution as being insistent upon giving orders.

Governor Martin suggested that the board of control meet at the institution today and have it out. All There "Have all the bosses there," Governor Martin continued. "Don't forget Orville Gamble, superintendent, and members of the advisory board. It also might be well to have MIT Miller in attendance."

"I would like to see the place closed," Governor Martin said, "and I have a notion to recommend the elimination of all advisory boards."

The five members of the blind trades school advisory board are Kenneth Martin, Theodore Hansen, Mrs. Lee Patterson, L. C. Cornwall and B. F. Irvine, all of Portland.

Discussion at the blind institution has been brewing for more than a year without any prospects of a settlement, officials said.

Further criticism resulted from a recent financial report prepared by Wallace S. Wharton, in charge of the state budget department. Wharton told members of the board of control that the trades school for the blind was the most costly institution in the state.

Foundation Report
Is Cited by Holman
A report prepared recently by the American foundation for the blind, dealing with a proposed state program for the blind in Oregon, was injected into the board meeting by Treasurer Holman.

It read in part: "A state program for the blind should serve as far as possible all the blind people of the state and should be sufficiently broad to give the type of service that he needs."

"The Oregon state blind trades school offers only part of the services and reaches only a comparatively small number of the thousands of more blind people in the state. It fails to reach those in isolated communities who usually need the service most."

"With the same amount of state money which is required to maintain the Oregon blind trades school, $60,000 for the current biennium, it would be possible to put on an adequate comprehensive service program which would reach all the blind people in the state."

Governor Martin, near the conclusion of the meeting, addressed the state treasurer: "You have been quoted in the press as referring to the trades school as a poorhouse for the blind."

Walter J. Cooley Funeral Is Held

JEFFERSON, Nov. 21.—Funeral services for Walter J. Cooley, 42, who died at the home of his brother-in-law, N. M. Simpson two miles northeast of Jefferson, Thursday evening, were held at the Christian church Saturday afternoon. Rev. Holly Jarvis conducting the services. Myron Willard was soloist, with Mrs. Gilbert Looney accompanist. The pallbearers were Forrest Miller, Harold Knight, Ray Lyne, Clarence Miller, Harry McKee and Pearl Beach. Vets of Foreign Wars Will Meet

"Big things" are in prospect at the regular meeting of Marion Post 661, Veterans of Foreign Wars, tomorrow night, according to Commander Lester Jones, who will preside at the initial meeting for the ensuing year. All new officers will likewise be in their respective stations and visitors are expected from neighboring posts in the Salem vicinity.

Commander Jones will announce the personnel of his standing committee; a large list of important business is due for consideration and action and a large attendance of the membership is desired. "Basis" will follow the business meeting, under the supervision of Chief Henry Fournier.

Masonic Building Being Refinished

Extensive modernization of lighting and refinishing of interiors is being carried on in the Masonic Building, according to Carl T. Pope, secretary of the temple association. Pope said yesterday more than 15 rooms had already been done over including installation of indirect lighting, and a considerable amount of work remained to be finished.

A fireproof type of structure, the Masonic temple was erected in 1912. The sixth floor is devoted to lodge purposes. The fifth floor, formerly a banquet room, now accommodates the world war veterans state aid commission.

Cats Have Keen Vision

---But You AREN'T A CAT!

Cats don't strain their eyes reading, or worry about working under poor light. A cat's eyes are naturally strong and keen—but your eyes are more subject to strain, more sensitive and likely to ill effects. Don't neglect them—wear glasses which will protect your eyes—glasses prescribed by accurate, skilled optometrists.

Thanksgiving Dinner

...and then the peaceful feeling that comes from good digestion and smoking Camels!

OFF TO A GOOD START—with hot, spiced tomato soup—delicious in itself and an exciting prelude to the delights to come!

DOUBLE PAUSE—First for the crisp refreshment of Waldorf Salad—then for the sheer pleasure of Camel's costlier tobaccos. This double pause clears the palate—sets the stage for dessert.

FOOD EDITOR—Miss Dorothy Malone says: "I'm interested in good digestion. Camels build up a sense of digestive well-being."

THE BEST MEAL I ever ate would be a disappointment if I couldn't enjoy Camels," says William H. Ferguson, salesman.

WHAT WILL YOU HAVE? Reading in a circle, there's a piping-hot Plum Pudding... luscious Pumpkin Pie... Mince Pie... and layer cake with inch-deep icing. Thanksgiving dinner just wouldn't be complete without one of the traditional desserts shown here to add their characteristic touch of holiday cheer.

SO TO A HAPPY ENDING—over coffee and after-dinner Camels. Enjoy Camels—every mealtime—between courses and after eating—and you can feel on top of the world.

Good food and good tobacco go together naturally!
CAMELS set you right! They help to ease tension. And to increase the flow of digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—so important to your digestive well-being. You enjoy food more and have a feeling of greater ease after eating when you smoke Camels between courses and after meals. Enjoy Camels all you wish—all through the day. Camels don't get on the nerves. And when you're tired, get a "lift" with a Camel.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS... Turkish and Domestic... than any other popular brand.
