Small Fruit Growers Will Gather on Campus For Conference

SILVERTON, Dec. 1-"Laburnum Grove," a fast-moving comedy will be presented at the Majestic theater in Corvallis Thursday and Friday nights of this week by the Mask and Dagger dramatics club of Oregon State college. Miss Elizabeth Barnes, associate professor, is directing the production, CORVALLIS, Dec. 1 — Small-fruit growers of Oregon will hold a conference on the Oregon State college campus December 2 to 4, under the leadership of Dr. W. S. Brown, head of the department of horticulture.

Problems including the use of fertilizers, irrigation methods and insect and disease control are scheduled for discussion during the three-day period. Special emphasis is to be placed on insects of strawberries and diseases of brambles, it was reported.

Fear For Crops
CORVALLIS, Dec. 1—W. S.
Averill, county agent for Benton county reported yesterday that the cold weather, reaching a new low of 20 degrees here Saturday morning, plus the lack of rainfall may seriously damage the fall sown crops. Seed in the southern part of the county is lying dermant in the soil just as it was planted, he added. A deficiency of approximately eight inches of rain makes it difficult to predict just what will happen to the planted areas,

Carroll Sentence Upheld in Opinion

Case Involving Scamen's Strike Is Decided in High State Court

The conviction of James Carroll, now serving a six months term in the Multnomah county jail for the crime of assault, was upheld by the Oregon supreme court Tuesday in an opinion written by Justice Kelly, upholding the decree of Judge Jacob Kanzler in the Multnomah county circuit court. Carroll was also fined

State's witnesses testified that Carroll and his companions, armed with wrenches, automobile cranks and other weapons, forced Kessler and his fellow seamen to leave the taxicab and enter Carroll's car. They were then driven to the seamen's hall and later taken to a hotel where they were questioned and their personel effects examined. It was proposed that Kessler and his companions return to the boat and endeavor to induce other seamen to leave. Evidence further showed that

It was explained to him that It was, "Let private business erect an office building under state supervision and charge rental on a small interest basis. It would not only relieve the housing, but would prove a good investment for the builders and the state could take an option to purchase at any time.' The state now is paying about $25,000 in rent. Within a short time, with more space needed and with present rate increases threat-

The official figured this was 5 per cent on a $600,000 investment. Such an office building would be insufficient. He then conjectured the state could, by legislative appropriation, take over the building at any time. This, at least, is another proposal which will be presented the legislature.
