Cliff Jersey Cow Has World Record

DALLAS, Dec. 25.—Another Jersey cow has recently made a world's record.

Remus Lilac Marie, 1059503, a cow owned by Miss Nan Iliff, recently made the highest record ever completed by a junior two-year-old Jersey cow in a 365-day test on twice-a-day milking. She yielded 770.16 pounds of butterfat, 13,810 pounds of milk, averaging 5.58 percent fat. She was two years and five months of age when started on this test.

Robert M. Iliff, a brother of Nan, owns a cow which recently won both the gold and silver medals on twice-a-day milking with a 305-day yield of 674.55 pounds of butterfat, 10,915 pounds of milk, averaging 6.74 percent of fat. She is Remus' Lilac Ruby and was three years and nine months of age when this test started.

This is the same cow that as a yearling won the silver medal with a 305-day production of 569.55 pounds of butterfat. Lilac St. Mavis is the leading sire in the Jersey breed from a standpoint of production. Her daughters have the highest average fat yield of any other tested sire, according to W. C. Leth, county agent.

In the latest Jersey Bulletin is a story containing considerable information about the Iliff breed.
