Gold Football Is Given to Phillips

William L. Phillips, Salem business man, was presented with a gold football by Coach Roy "Spec" Koene in behalf of the members of the 1936 Willamette football squad yesterday during the chapel hour in recognition of his services to the university the past 11 years.

Mr. Phillips made a brief talk following the presentation and remarked that he had seen only the back of the university and this was the first time inside. He also said that he had received a lot more from the university than he had given.

Kester Is Named Senior President

With the semester coming to a close, Willamette university class elections are being held. Randall Kester, Portland, was elected president of the senior class.

Other officers are Charlotte Kallendar, Salem, vice-president; Julia Philip, Portland, secretary; and Louis Hershberger, Canby, treasurer.

Sophomore class nominations were held yesterday noon with Verne Rierson, Ralph Gustafson and Bob Buxton nominated for president. Others nominated were Barbara Crookham, vice-president; Helen Olds, Lorene Tompkins and Betty Taylor, secretary; Art Lampka and Inelle Chapin, treasurer.

Planning Board's Budget Defended

Appearing before the social security sub-committee of the ways and means committee yesterday morning, B. Stanbery, Jamieson Parker and P. A. Parsons sought to justify an increase appropriation for the state planning board. The appropriation as listed calls for the expenditure of $51,000 for the next two years.

Representative Barnes indicated that he was seeking a reduction in the figure, along with others in the legislature, in order to enable the legislature to lower the age limit from 70 to 65 for old age pensions. The increased cost of caring for the aged could be met if the budget is scrutinized carefully, he said.

George E. Allen Services Friday

Funeral services for George E. Allen, prominent Salem merchant who headed the hardware company bearing his name, will be held Friday at 1:30 p. m. from the chapel of the Clough-Barrick company, with interment in Belmont Memorial Park.

Mr. Allen died suddenly Wednesday morning after suffering a heart attack while at breakfast in the family home, 290 North 17th street. He passed away shortly after being rushed to a Salem hospital.

Born in Highland, Kansas, February 8, 1879, Mr. Allen became interested in a store and also in a bank there after completing his education. He came to Oregon in 1911 and operated a hardware and furniture store in Hillsboro.

The family came to Salem 14 years ago and Mr. Allen purchased the business of Lot L. Pearce & Son, which he has operated in the same location as the George E. Allen Hardware company since that time.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Marietta R. Allen; a son, Reynolds Allen, who has been associated with his father in conducting the business here, and a brother, William H. Allen of Tulsa, Okla.

Mr. Allen was a Mason, a Shriner and a member of the First Presbyterian church.

Edwin Minneman, junior at Willamette university, was chosen Rahe as the winner in the tryouts for the state peace oratorical contest which will be held February 12 at Pacific university. Minneman, a major in speech, won second place in the Keyes oratorical contest held this fall on the campus.

There were eight local contestants and the interest shown in the contest was the keenest it has been for the past eight years. Others who entered the tryouts were Warren Peters, Bill Clemes, George Self, Ty Gillespie, Leonard

Bradfield Chosen To Head Justices

The state association of justices of the peace which met here early this week elected Earl F. Bradfield of Clatsop, Klamath county, president for a second term. Bradfield is a son of E. A. Bradfield, Salem school director.

West Postoffice Entrance Closed

A hastily-written news item yesterday led Salem postoffice workers to twist Postmaster H. R. Crawford over his enthusiasm for the new federal building plans and the writer to receive an offer of a compass.

"They said they knew I was excited about the new building but they didn't think I was so excited I'd get my directions mixed up," Crawford said of his clerks in referring to the item, which related that two women had waded through mud to reach the old south—it should have said west—main entrance to the old building and that only the west—It should have said south—entrance was now open.

The reporter assured the clerks it had been he and not the postmaster who was direction-blind.

Guardsmen Voted Soldier's Medal

Corporal Loren R. Clevenger of Portland has the distinction of being the first soldier in the Oregon national guard to receive the coveted soldier's medal, Major General George A. White announced Tuesday.

The award was made by the war department in recognition of Clevenger's gallantry in saving a comrade from drowning last June.

On June 21, 1936, while the Oregon national guard was in training at Camp Clatsop, Clevenger went to the rescue of Private Wiseman of McKinville who was in distress out beyond the ocean breakers. Wiseman was dragged to shore.

The medal can only be awarded to soldiers and then only under very unusual circumstances, where the feat of bravery is outstanding. Commissioned officers are not eligible for the award.

Formal presentation of the medal will be made at McMinnville in the near future.

'Breakout' Bandit Faces Grand Jury

Arthur Moore Gordon, the "breakout" burglar whom city police arrested Monday night for the theft of cigarettes, tobacco and a small sum of money from the Salem Malt shop Sunday night, pleaded guilty in justice court yesterday to a charge of burglary not in a dwelling. Judge Miller B. Hayden bound him over to the grand jury and committed him to jail when he failed to post $500 bail.

Legislative proposals adopted by the association were: Immunity from civil liability for all judicial officers of the state for official acts done by them.

Non-partisan nomination and election of all judicial officers. Clarifying and defining criminal jurisdiction of justices of the peace.

Changes of judges in justice court similar to circuit court on affidavits of prejudice.

Rites Held Here For Bend Woman

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the crematorium here for Mrs. R. S. Peoples, native of Monmouth but a resident of Bend since 1914. Pneumonia was the immediate cause of death although Mrs. Peoples had been ill for more than a year. In addition to the services here, requiem services were held at Bend Tuesday forenoon.

Mabel Lorence was born in Monmouth, Oregon, June 26, 1891. She attended the Oregon state normal school there and took a degree at the University of Oregon, following that by extension work at Columbia university, New York City. For seven years she was a member of the Bend high school faculty. In 1931 she was married to R. S. Peoples of Bend. In recent years Mrs. Peoples had been active in civic affairs, serving as a member of the Deschutes county library board.

Mrs. Peoples is survived by her husband and three sons, Sam, Philip and Leonard; by her mother, Mrs. C. Lorence of Monmouth; two brothers, Ed Lorence of Eugene and Bud Lorence of Monmouth; and three sisters, Mrs. Kate Hosmer of Bend and Miss Ruby Lorence, member of the faculty at Mills college. Her father died at Monmouth recently.

Council to Study Payroll Revision

City Treasurer Paul H. Hauser's decision to follow the charter specifically and refuse to make salary advances to city employees inspired Alderman Frank Marshall to ask the council Monday night to establish either a mid-month "draw day" or a twice-a-month pay day system.

As a result the ways and means committee agreed to introduce a resolution February 1 providing for the latter plan.

Declaring "most of us have no place to go and draw money," Alderman W. H. "Jack" Dancy asserted the "draw day" plan would not be of ultimate benefit to hard-pressed city workers and asserted "it's time to shut off the spigot." He reminded the council that at the first meeting of the year, a resolution had to be adopted charging of $40 which the city lost through making an advance to an employee who never reimbursed the treasurer.

Hauser's new policy was endorsed by Mayor V. E. Kuhn in his annual message to the council.

Vogt Is Marshal At Gervais Now

GERVAIS, Jan. 20—The city council met at the call of the mayor Monday night and replaced Roy Scollard as city marshal and night watchman, giving the position to Charles Vogt. Scollard was appointed in November, 1935, upon the resignation of William Bowler. Mr. Vogt was a candidate for the office at that time but Scollard was given the appointment.

Klamath Clerk Is Visitor in Salem

Salem by comparison is warm, said Mae K. Short, Klamath county clerk, upon her arrival here yesterday to keep an eye on legislative matters of interest to her county. She said she hadn't felt like complaining but the thermometer had been around three degrees above zero in Klamath Falls and there was a foot of snow on the ground.

Mrs. Short, during a visit with County Clerk U. G. Boyer at the courthouse here, said she would remain in Salem for about 10 days. She declined to say what her particular interests in the legislative session were.

Adult Classes to Hold Open House

An attendance Monday night of over 200 at the WPA adult education classes at Salem high school set a new record for the year. With the interest in the present classes and the desire for new ones, which are made possible through the cooperation of the city school system, reports Earl Litwiller, county supervisor, the prospects are encouraging for a successful season.

Open house will be held Tuesday night, January 26. The public is invited to be present to observe what these classes are accomplishing. Classes from various parts of the county will be represented.
