Wheat Gains; Corn Declines

Predict Severe Cold Will Endanger Domestic Winter Crop

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Rallying at the last, wheat scored fractional advances today for new crop deliveries after an abrupt tumble of 2 1/2 cents a bushel from earlier gains.

Predictions of severe cold weather caused late misgivings about safety of the domestic winter wheat crop, especially in areas where recently there has been much rain.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1/2 off to 3/4 up compared with yesterday's finish, May 130-130 1/2, July 113 1/2-114, Sept. 110-110 1/2; corn 1/4-1/2 down, May 110 1/2-110 3/4, July 105 1/2, Sept. 101 1/2-101 3/4; oats showing 1/2-1 1/2 decline, May 51 1/4-51 3/4, and rye 3/4 set back, May 103 1/2.

Oats Market Breaks A sharp break in the Chicago oats market formed an unsettling factor concerning wheat and other grains at this condition. Heavy selling of a stop loss character that developed plunged the May oats feature down 2 1/2 cents a bushel. The oats selling was largely a result of inadequate buying power.

Corn price declines were largely a result of sympathy with oats. Rye was adversely affected by downturns of the two chief feed grains, notwithstanding that weather conditions were about as bad as possible for corn movement.

Provisions declined; with packing interests conspicuous as sellers.

Prune Stocks Are Fairly Well Down

California Growers Held Under 35,000 Tons On January 1

California growers held something under 35,000 tons of dried prunes on January 1, according to Western Canner and Packer, magazine of the canning and fruit industry.

Relative to the dried prune deal the magazine continues: "This is a good cleanup, in view of the maritime strike, and general market conditions. In the northwest, also, growers' stocks are fairly well down. Northwest growers during December reported sales at the following prices per pound: 40-42's, 4 1/2 cents; 42-45's, 4 cents; 45-50's, 3 1/2 to 4 cents.

All of Dairies Rated Grade A

Come Well Within Limits Of Bacteria Count, Says Inspector

A list of 37 dairies, all of which meet the Grade A standards of the Salem milk ordinance, was released this week by John L. Geren, county food and dairy inspector.

The gradings include all dairies distributing milk in Salem for the period between July 15, 1935, and January 15, 1937.

Salem, one of many cities using a milk ordinance similar to the Standard milk ordinance developed by the U. S. Public health bureau, allows only Grade A raw and pasteurized milk to be sold in the city.

During the past six months samples of pasteurized milk have shown an average of 7000 bacteria per cubic centimeter and raw milk has averaged 9400 per c. c. The maximum allowable is an average of 30,000 per c. c. These averages are based on the results of 192 samples of bottled milk. In addition 453 samples were taken of milk as received at the plant prior to pasteurization. There are now 28 dairies licensed to deliver milk in Salem, 69 Grade B producers supplying milk to the pasteurizing plants, and 6 Grade A producers supply milk to the plants for sale raw.

Three Degraded During the period three producers were degraded for failure to meet bacterial requirements. No distributors were degraded, one conviction was obtained for adulterating milk and one for delivering milk without license or having a list inspected.

Campbell Elected By Guernsey Club

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Jan. 20.—J. A. Campbell, Perrydale dairyman, was elected president of the Oregon Unit of the American Guernsey Cattle club at a reorganization meeting here this week.

Officers elected were Fred Gilbert, Shaw, vice president; W. B. Steele, Corvallis, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. H. L. Clark, Hubbard; M. C. Fleming, Troutdale; and Cecil Hayden, Alsea, directors.

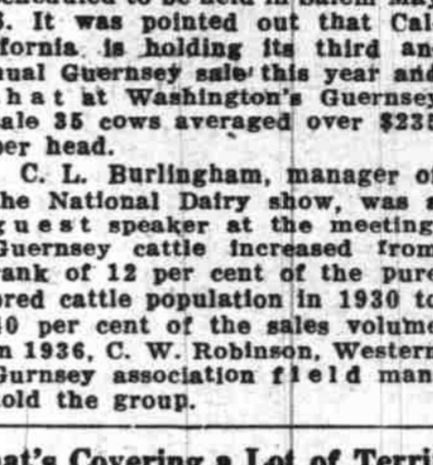

Gilbert, Fleming and Steele were appointed to select cattle for a state guernsey sale tentatively scheduled to be held in Salem May 6. It was pointed out that California is holding its third annual Guernsey sale this year and that at Washington's Guernsey sale 35 cows averaged over $235 per head.

C. L. Burlington, manager of the National Dairy show, was a guest speaker at the meeting. Guernsey cattle increased from rank of 12 per cent of the pure bred cattle population in 1935 to 40 per cent of the sales volume in 1936. C. W. Robinson, Western Guernsey association field man, told the group.
