Seen and Heard

By JERTHE UPSTON
WE'VE BEEN LOOKING and looking for a sign of spring... a golden crocus or a pale blue hyacinth trying to push its way through the ground... or a nod on our favorite Japanese quince... So far the pussy willows are all we can find but daffodils may be seen in the florist's window... On the streets now and then a new spring hat topping that fur coat... many are beginning to think and look for that new suit as Easter is but little over a month... So far the others are planning their gardens and the fun they will have when the first warmish day appears.

VALENTINE DAY... Miss Beth Stewart, daughter of the A. A. Stewarts, entertained at tea for a group of the sub-deb set... The tea was very informal with guests dropping in and chatting a while and then on to the dining room for a cup of tea or chocolate... Beth and her mother received their guests in the spacious drawing room... Both were an attractive turquoise silk frock and Mrs. Stewart wore black crepe with full net sleeves... The Valentine motif was used on the table and even carried out in the cakes, cookies and sandwiches... These high school girls acted very sophisticated and grown up as they sat holding their tea cups... especially Virginia Martin, who was pouring at the tea table... wearing a bright blue silk dress with jacket... Rowena Upjohn and Joan Simmons were talking in one corner about the anticipated leap night dance at the high school Friday... Mary Lee Fry was doing a fine job of serving, wearing a lovely black velvet dress with lace collars and cuffs... Jere and Jan Simmons, sisters and always together, wore all black and Mary Ellen Mills was also in black with touches of white.

HEARTS PREVAILED at the Lausanne hall open house last Saturday night... Hearts on the favors which one received at the door, hearts little and big arranged on the dining tables, huge ones on the doors with the girls' names... The girls were at home in honor of Mrs. Bruce Baxter, who has done much for the hall... She was charming in a gown of ice blue satin with dubonnet velvet trim... Dean Olive M. Dahl, who headed the receiving line, wore a sophisticated model of black crepe with cape of sequins... Many townspeople braved the elements of the wintry night and turned out for the affair... One of Salem's grand couples, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bishop, were seen in the reception room, always interested in the university doings... Carolyn Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. Woods of Portland, Mr. Wood, past president of the alumni association, was busy seeing that everyone signed her guest book.

RED AND WHITE hearts, characteristic of the Valentine season, predominated at the Saturday night... Being Valentine's eve and everyone in the right mood perhaps accounted for the enjoyable evening... We were reminded of spring when Mrs. Norval Edwards (Roberta Varley) appeared in a new blue and white party... Mrs. James Sehon, Jr., Daisy to most of us, was chic in a dinner gown of red velvet... Ruth Geer, first Junior club president, was picturesque in ivory taffeta with diagonal stripes of callophane even to her Juliet cap of rhinestones... Ida Jo Eaton and Lawrence Brown seemed to be having a fine time, dancing together as usual... The fireplace was a popular spot between dances and several times Charlotte LaDue and Ross (Veep) Gladden were seen there... Charlotte in a striking dark purple velvet dress... also Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Heater (Lucille Rolow).

Chemeketans Plans Mountain Trip

Chemeketans plan a big week-end at Mount Hood when an organized party leaves Salem at 8:30 on Sunday for a day in the snow. Despite a generous supply of snow, the Chemeketa party, annual affair will be well attended as the real ski enthusiasts prefer the snow of high altitudes for good skiing.

Cars will leave the Senator hotel at 8:30 next Sunday and those wishing to make arrangements for transportation should register early this week at the hotel to be assured of a ride to the mountain.

Skis and poles will be available for rental at the Red Devil Inn at special rates for those who are in the Chemeketa party, shelter has been provided for them, and coffee will be served by the Chemeketans.

Bob Kendall is in charge of arrangements for those who wish to go Saturday and take advantage of the special rate to Mt. Hood. Arrangements for the Saturday trip should be made with him.
