Text: "We used to sit closer but she slipped one time and landed in my husband's connoisseur."
Take a flip into the evening gown department for a happy landing with one or two of these impressive dance numbers. You're faced with the semblance of a royal baby's christening dress. Of white-net with a basque made entirely of filmy white lace of the Alencon type. Tiny cap sleeves of the net stand out confidently giving that approved broad shouldered look. Sweeping the floor a full net skirt thrice striped with wide bands of the lace. Puffed at the waist a sentimental little corsage of pink rosebuds, and forget-me-nots, lace ruffle and all. In juxtaposition, a black tissue taffeta shocked into life with nose-gays in giddy shades of red, white and green! Ruthlessly slit down the back as far as the enormous bow, swiped from a Japanese lady's kimono. Thrust out behind and whispering as she walks are generous folds forming a tiny train. MODERN CARDIOLOGY
By A. T. Woolpert

Woolpert & Legg, Drugs
Heart disease has increased during the past fifteen years due to fast living.
There are two kinds of heart disease. That which results from infection, sometimes traceable to scarlet fever, diphtheria, infected tonsils or bad teeth. The second is called "Coronary disease," the name meaning nothing to the average person, is a "plugging" of the nerve vessels that supply the heart with blood.
Happily there is always reason to hope for complete recovery. Attacks are intermittent and at times disappear.
See a doctor occasionally and follow his advice about emergency as a dietician and where to secure them.
