national representative of the union, asserted:

"We are going to organize them all. We have organizers all over the country."

The C.I.O. is pressing concurrent drives in the huge steel and automotive industries; dickering for new contracts for 450,000 soft coal miners; girding for campaigns among the 2,225,000 on the payrolls of oil and textile firms.

Mass Demonstration Staged at Detroit

Detroit witnessed a mass scale demonstration by C.I.O. followers. Marching to the blare of a 12-piece hand, thousands of members of the United Automobile Workers union formed two endless chains and, moving in opposite directions, gyrated about the Wayne county. courthouse. Inside, Judge Allan Campbell deferred until tomorrow decision on the Chrysler Motor company's petition for an injunction to evict strikers holding eight of its plants. The union demands exclusive bargaining rights for 60,-000 Chrysler employes.

Simultaneously, some 200 delegates from U.A.W.A. locals considered ratification of an agreement composing strike differences with the General Motors corporation. The pact did not include walkouts.

While Michigan strikes kept nearly 70,000 idle in Chrysler, plies. Hudson and Reo automobile plants and left other thousands on the jobless sidelines in other industries, Gov. Frank Murphy took a long stride in the direction of peace.

He called representatives of the general public, employers and employes to a meeting next Wednesday to evolve a program for dealing with pending or threatened labor controversies.
